Vote Today on Move to Protect Press.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—More than 500 members of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, meeting in the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria today, applauded a report of its committee on freedom of the press, recommending that all citizens whose private papers were seized by the Black committee of the United States senate demand criminal prosecutions of and civil damages from "all involved in the odious affair."

The resolution, which was read by Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and chairman of the committee, will be acted upon tomorrow at another meeting of the fiftieth annual convention of the association.

The committee headed by Col. McCormick also offered a resolution calling on the press of the nation to use publicity to resist the attempts of "politico-criminal alliances in Minnesota or any other place to abridge the freedom of the press."

Liggett Murder Is Cited.

It asserted that the recent murder of Walter Liggett, a newspaper editor in Minneapolis, was the result of action by such an alliance, and constituted a terroristic attack on the freedom of the press to criticize official conduct.

Two other resolutions commended the Louisiana newspapers and the Philadelphia Inquirer for waging legal battles which recently vindicated the principle of freedom of the press in the courts. All the resolutions will be voted upon tomorrow.

Addresses on different aspects of the question of freedom of the press were made today by Jerome D. Barnum, publisher of the Syracuse, N. Y., Post-Standard and president of the association; Howard Davis, business manager of the New York Herald Tribune; Dr. John Stewart Bryan, publisher of the Richmond, Va., News Leader and president of William and Mary college; and Arthur Hays Sulzberger, president and publisher of the New York Times.

Safeguards for Public.

The keynote of these speeches was that the principle of freedom of the press was incorporated in the constitution through the bill of rights, not for the protection of the newspapers as such, but for the safeguarding of the rights of the people to enjoy the fruits of liberty and freedom under a democratic form of government.

Elisha Hanson, Washington attorney for the A. N. P. A., who also represented W. R. Hearst in his legal fight against the Black committee, following the seizure of private telegrams to an editorial writer in Hearst's employ, also spoke.

Mr. Hanson's speech was not made public beyond the announcement that he reviewed the facts in the recent controversies over freedom of the press. Meetings of the A. N. P. A. are held in executive session.

Urges All Citizens to Act.

Col. McCormick, in presenting his committee report, said it was the duty of all citizens to resist any acts in violation of their constitutional rights.

"If you let them take your private correspondence," he added, "they'll come back later and take your watch, and then come back later and take your daughter. History shows such was the common practice of those in authority before passage of the bill of rights."

Over the rostrum as the report was read and as the speeches were made hung a large sign bearing the quotation:

"A free press stands as one of the great interpreters between the government and the people."

The words were from the Supreme court decision in the recent newspaper tax case.

Following is the text of the committee's resolution on "the Black inquisition," as the report called it:

Text of Resolution.

The resolution on the Black lobby committee follows:

"Whereas a committee of the United States senate, under the specious pretext of investigating a lobby, has undertaken a campaign of prosecution and harassment against individuals, organizations, and newspapers which have in any manner criticized

ELECT JOHNSON SCHOOL HEAD IN LIVELY SESSION

Board Is Accused of Secret Vote.

Dr. William H. Johnson, assistant superintendent of the Chicago public school system, was elected superintendent yesterday at a spirited session of the board of education. The board named him superintendent by a vote of 9 to 1. Dr. Johnson succeeds the late William J. Bogan, who died March 24.

There are eleven school trustees, and six votes are necessary to elect a superintendent. Trustee Harry W. Solomon was absent from the meeting. Mrs. William S. Hefferan cast the only negative vote.

Takes Over Post at Once.

As superintendent of all public schools in the city, Dr. Johnson will receive a salary of $15,000. His salary as assistant superintendent in charge of high schools was $10,000. The resolution adopted by the board put Dr. Johnson immediately into his new office. President James B. McCahey said there would be no formal inauguration ceremony.

The election of Dr. Johnson followed a protest by Mrs. Hefferan, who said the board apparently had taken "a straw vote" without her knowledge, and that she knew nothing of the intention to name a successor to Mr. Bogan at the meeting.

Her remarks were cheered and applauded by a crowd, composed mostly of teachers, which filled the board room. A majority of them appeared to be members of the citizens' school committee, successor to the old "save our schools committee," which often disagreed with actions of the board in past years.

Proposed by McJunkin.

Dr. Johnson's name was proposed by Trustee William D. McJunkin. He reviewed at length the problem facing the school board, and the record made by Dr. Johnson. Mr. McJunkin then offered Dr. Johnson as the new superintendent.

"I have not been advised that a superintendent was to be elected at today's meeting," declared Mrs. Hefferan. "All I know is what I read in the newspapers. I have not been invited to any conference to consider the qualifications of the new superintendent, which is a momentous occasion.

"I noticed in a newspaper this morning that Dr. Johnson will probably be elected by at least ten votes. That means, if I have any sense, that you have been taking a straw vote. I ask you, Mr. President, that you delay this election one week so that I may have a chance to tell something of the qualifications of other persons in the school system and that civic organizations interested in this question may be heard."

Trustee Bernard Majewski, who

ECKENER AVENUE IN BERLIN TO BE RENAMED ADOLF HITLER STREET

BERLIN, April 22.—(AP)—The name of Dr. Hugo Eckener, veteran Zeppelin commander, is to be eradicated from among Berlin's street names as an aftermath of his election argument with Nazi party officials.

Local Nazi officials in the Zehlendorf borough, on the western outskirts, have been informed by the borough burgomaster's office Eckener avenue is to be renamed Adolf Hitler street soon.

[Eckener declined to issue an appeal for support of Adolf Hitler during the recent reichstag elections. The controversy was recently the subject of a conference between Eckener and his chief, Hermann Wilhelm Goering, air minister. The commander said the dispute would not affect his position as Zeppelin commander and president of the Zeppelin company.]

N. Y. PLEADS FOR SAFETY IN VERSE AND WITH AXIOMS

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Admonitions to motorists and pedestrians alike were in evidence on posters along 5th avenue today in the form of axioms and verse from the pen of Borough President Samuel Levy in the interest of safety.

One of the more prominent posters addressed to drivers reads:

USE LESS HORSE POWER;
USE MORE HORSE SENSE.

The signs directed at pedestrians are to the general effect that hurry is the greatest danger. At the corner of 42d street one read:

HONESTLY, NOW! WHAT'S YOUR HURRY?

On the next corner, 43d street, the poster warns:

TO ENJOY TOMORROW
PLAY SAFE TODAY.

WHEN THE LIGHT TURNS RED,
DON'T RUSH AHEAD,
BUT STAND SERENE,
TILL THE LIGHT TURNS GREEN.

Lazar, taken to an Augusta hospital, was found to have a lacerated scalp, a broken right arm, and a punctured right lung. His entire body was severely clawed and his scalp was nearly torn off.

Johnny Torrio Seized on U. S. Liquor Charge

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Johnny Torrio, who abdicated from the rank of Public Enemy No. 1 in Chicago to make way for Al Capone 11 years ago, was arrested by federal agents in White Plains today on a warant charging violation of internal revenue laws. He had been a fugitive since last October.

Federal officials charged Torrio with being one of the principals in a bootleg syndicate that has cheated the government of several hundred thousand dollars by fixing internal revenue stamps to a mixture of taxed liquor and illicit booze.

Torrio was arrested, it was revealed, just as he was about to flee from the United States.

Seized at Postoffice.

The agents made the arrest in the White Plains postoffice. They had learned from the passport division of the state department that Torrio, long hunted by them, would call at the general delivery window for a passport friends obtained for him in Washington. As he stepped to the window they seized him.

Torrio was locked in a police cell for the night, pending arraignment tomorrow before United States Commissioner Isaac Platt. An extra guard was stationed, as befitted Public Enemy No. 2, the rating bestowed on Torrio by Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine last November.

Federal agents said that Torrio had planned to flee to Quebec, sail on the 26th and possibly stop off at one of several South American ports at which the liner was scheduled to stop.

Fled Chicago in 1925.

The agents were reluctant to discuss details of the charges against Torrio but it is understod that, under the name of J. J. McCarthy, he was one of the principal backers of a bootleg concern selling a mixture of taxed liquor and illicit distillate, dressed up with spurious stamps.

When he was booked, Torrio gave his address as 1 Coolidge avenue, White Plains.

Torrio went to Chicago in 1916 to work under Big Jim Colosimo, then the kingpin in vice and gambling. After Colosimo was slain, Torrio stepped in and knit together the world's greatest alcohol combine.

Legend had it that the group cleaned up more than $10,000,000. Torrio fled from Chicago in 1925, after reputed friends of the late Dion O'Bannion had pumped five shot into him near his south side home.

RESCUER TELLS HOW HE FOUND TWO MINE VICTIMS LAUGHING

[The following eyewitness story of the rescue of Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding from the Moose River gold mine was written by a Nova Scotian Draegerman. Draegermen are mine rescue workers, who take their name from the type of equipment they use. Their masks and oxygen tanks, permitting them to work for hours in chambers filled with gas, were designed by the German scientist, Draeger.]

MOOSE RIVER, Nova Scotia, April 23 [Thursday].—There were two men in ahead of me—Jack Simpson and George Morrell.

When I wriggled through, the two men—Dr. Robertson and Scadding—were sitting up laughing. I noticed one of them had a tooth out in front.

They sure were tickled to death. One of our men asked them jokingly if they wanted to walk up. The little man—Scadding—replied, "Now, boys, take it easy."

The diamond drill hole just barely missed not entering the stope [tunnel]—it struck on the edge.

When I returned to the surface I met Charles Alfred Scadding's brother, Fred, and told him his brother looked great.

I said he looked "a little bit thin, maybe, but he appeared to be in good condition and he sure is happy."

"That's the best news I've ever heard," Fred Scadding answered.

3 ALASKAN GIRLS STEAL 175 MILE RIDE IN AIRPLANE

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 22.—(AP)—Noel Wien, Alaskan aviator, had his hands full of girl airplane stowaways today. Attired in mukluks and parkas, Alice Tobok, 10, full-blooded Eskimo; Mary Ulen, 10, and her sister, Florence, 8, hid themselves in the storage compartment of Wien's plane yesterday and rode to Fairbanks from Wiseman, 175 miles away.

Now they don't want to go home—not even by airplane.

"Like pretty houses, talking pictures," chorused the trio while seeing the sights in tow of Wien. "Like pretty sights of city."

Alice, however, couldn't get enthusiastic over ice cream.

The three will return with Wien to Wiseman tomorrow.

DOCTOR WAVES 'THANKS'; RUSH PAIR TO HOSPITAL

Robertson in Good Condition; His Mate, 'Fair.'

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

MOOSE RIVER, Nova Scotia, April 23 (Thursday).—Ten days and nights of black imprisonment in the old Moose River gold mine—part of the time with the corpse of a companion lying nearby—ended with the rescue early today of Dr. D. E. Robertson and Charles Alfred Scadding.

The two survivors of an Easter Sunday rock slide were brought to the surface at 12:44 a. m., Atlantic standard time (11:44 p. m. Wednesday, Chicago time), and rushed across a meadow to an improvised hospital.

Rescuers Sing Hymn.

As Dr. Robertson passed through the crowd on a stretcher he waved and said, "Thank you, boys."

A great cheer went up from the spectators, miners, and mining officials who crowded around the entrance to the mine as Scadding, who had shown indications of breaking under the strain of the long entombment, was carried above ground.

Under the direction of Salvation Army workers the grim, weary miners, successful in their fight to save the two men from death, sang "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

Asks for Beefsteak.

In the hospital Dr. Robertson exhibited amazing endurance and recuperative powers. The 62 year old Toronto surgeon and part owner of the mining property, startled his rescuers by asking for a beefsteak.

Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Scadding, who had slept in the little mine office building and made their headquarters there while waiting and praying for the rescue, went to their husbands' sides as they were removed to the emergency hospital.

The three physicians in charge of the medical unit, Dr. H. K. MacDonald, Dr. N. D. Rankin and Dr. Ian MacDonald, announced at 2:10 a. m.:

"Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding arrived at the improvised hospital at 1:10 a. m. today. Dr. Robertson's physical and mental condition is excellent. It is much better than anticipated. We feel he will have a rapid recovery.

Anticipate No Trouble.

"Alfred Scadding's condition is surprisingly good. His feet were cold and swollen and somewhat blistered, but we do not anticipate further trouble.

"The patients will be left in Moose River a few days, then transferred to Halifax.

"In the meantime they will receive medical and hospital supervision at the emergency hospital here."

The more than 100 rescuers, assembled from all eastern Canada for the emergency task, were advised at 12:15 a. m. that the last crew had broken through remaining barriers and Dr. Robertson, making part of the trip unaided, emerged 29 minutes later.

Rescuers carried Scadding out immediately afterward.

Scadding, timekeeper of the ill fated mine, is 44 years of age.

The body of the third man in the party that made what was intended as a routine inspection of the 141 foot level of the mine on April 12, was removed later.

The third man was Herman Magill, 30, part owner with Dr. Robertson of the mine. Magill was a prominent attorney of Toronto.

Magill died early Monday morning, a day after communications were established with the living tomb through a small hole bored from the surface.

MINERS' DRIVE WRITES AN EPIC OF HEROISM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MOOSE RIVER, N. S., April 22.—The ten day tale of supreme effort which ended in the rescue of two victims of the cave-in at the old Moose River gold mine, will be recorded as one of the worlds greatest examples of what men will do for others.

The train of thrilling events which have commanded the attention of the entire world began late on Easter Sunday afternoon, April 12, when Dr. D. E. Robertson, Charles Alfred Scadding, and Herman Magill, all of Toronto, prepared to ascend from the 141 foot level in the long abandoned mine which Robertson and Magill had purchased as an investment, hoping to make it pay in view of the big increase in gold prices. The trio had completed an inspection and were signaling for the cage to pull them to the surface when tons of rock and dirt gave way in the main shaft, breaking the cable and cutting off the only means of escape.

At first it was feared the men had been crushed to death, but next day puffs of smoke were seen coming from the shaft, which brought hope and fresh energy to the rescue parties which had set to work under the mine foreman, F. D. Henderson, and the provincial inspector of mines, J. P. Messervey.

At first dynamite and air drills were used as the workers attempted to force a way through the débris that clogged the main shaft. Only a few of the 100 volunteers could dig at one time in the narrow passage, but it would be, so the workers believed, only a matter of 24 hours or so until they would get through. But next day, Tuesday, April 14, the first of a series of heart breaking setbacks occurred when a new slide of dirt and rocks sent workers hurrying for their lives.

Two electric mining compressors then were set to tearing away the earth in an unsuccessful attempt to drive an entirely new shaft. Heavy mining equipment, including a 28 ton crane, was brought by train from Toronto to Musquidoboit, and thence to the mine over almost impassable muddy roads.

Work continued feverishly on Wednesday, a week ago, although the reassuring puffs of smoke ceased and rescuers feared they would be too late when, if ever, they reached the imprisoned men.

Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Magill arrived that day from Toronto.

On Thursday it was decided to attempt direct communication with the prisoners and a five inch vertical opening was started with a diamond drill. Meanwhile experienced gold miners from Ontario were speeding to the scene by plane and train with 800 pounds of special drilling equipment.

Hopes faded again Saturday when sounds from the drill were interpreted as indicating the mine was filling with water, and Minister of Mines Michael Dwyer said the trio might be drowned if they were not rescued soon.

But Sunday the drill broke through, and the joyous sound of the imprisoned men's voices came faintly to the surface. Food, stimulants, and a microphone to set up one-way telephonic communications were lowered.

Monday, however, it was learned Magill had died of hunger and exposure.

Horrified, the doughty rescuers went slowly on to save the lives of two men whom many of them had never seen.

rell, the first of the rescue crew to reach the underground prison, found Magill's body lying about 20 feet away as they enterd. They said Dr. Robertson and Scadding had kept their faces turned away from the spot since Magill died.

Simpson said the survivors were on the north side of the 141 foot level beside the skip, or trolley, which operated from the depths to the surface of the mine.

This was apparently the same spot to which all thre men had jumped when the old mine collapsed.

Describing the scene of the entombment, Simpson said:

"It was about 7 feet wide and 12 feet high, but I don't know how long. It was very wet and damp."

Joke with Victims.

Both Dr. Robertson and Scadding were bright and cheerful when three draegermen, experienced in mine rescues and emergency work, succeeded at last in breaking from the main operating shaft into the 141 foot level that was their prison.

Besides Simpson and Morell, H. Hirschfield pased into the tomb.

Trembling with excitement, Dr. Robertson and Scadding thanked the men, asked and answered a few commonplace questions.

"Do you fellows wanto to walk up?" one of the rescue crew asked, jokingly.

"Now boys, take it easy," Scadding replied.

"I think I can undertake it myself," Dr. Robertson said with a quiet smile.

Morrell took off his shirt and shirt and placed it about Scadding's shoulders.

Show Signs of Ordeal.

The drawn faces of Dr. Robertson and Scadding were covered with heavy growths of beard. They had lost pounds.

Since 2 a. m. Sunday morning they had had no food. The only nourishment they had during their long imprisonment was on Sunday.

The diamond drill hole went through that day at a spot where water was dripping swiftly from above and the two men had to climb ladders to reach its mouth. They were unwilling to get wet and risk pneumonia, and were too exhausted to climb the ladders to get food after their first effort.

Shortly before the rescue officials had made great preparations for the final act in the drama. A sturdy miner who had risked his life with companions to save Robertson and Scadding was again called upon to aid the safe removal of the two—by acting as dummy in experiments carried out at the surface for lifting the two clear of the barrier of crib work.

Minister of Health Davis, who had descended the Reynolds shaft to a point where he could see the barrier between the men and the tunnel up which they would be carried, had the man bandaged and strapped to a stretcher as Dr. Robertson and Scadding were to be.

Explaining the difficulties to his assistants, Dr. Davis was seeking the most advantageous method of easing the two men through the winding rescue tunnel before the long climb up the abandoned shaft.

Experts Head Crews.

The three Draegermen who first entered the tomb formed the spearhead of the underground attack which finally reached the noted Toronto surgeon and his friend. The Draegermen are named for the inventor of the oxygen equipment and gas masks they use.

It was those three who first opened the Reynolds' shaft, through which the approach was begun, and it was they who tore out the last rock from the rescue tunnel.

They were the "face workers" who tore material blocking their progress from its place with bare hands or picks. In an unpropped tunnel theirs was one of the most dangerous jobs imaginable.

They had worked steadily since 9 a. m., in the last push to reach the men.

Work in Crowded Quarters.

Only two men could work at one time against the face of the barrier in the three foot wide operating shaft, passing the earth and rock back to a long chain of miners.

Delayed by Rotten Timber.

Progress was delayed for a time by rotten timbers of cribwork. Carpenters went into the pit and set new braces.

Through the night frequently replaced rescue crews swung their picks against the stubborn débris, passing the material back along a human chain.

Many false rumors circulated around the mine yesterday.

A digging crew coming up at 10:58 a. m. reported workers expected to "break through any minute now."

The diggers sent up some of their tools. Then hack saws and extra blades were sent down to attack the twisted rails and pipes.

In expectancy the crowd around the pit mouth had grown to hundreds and on the miners' cry sent up a cheer. The excitement was so intense Canadian mounted police cleared a space and warned the crowd to stay back from the mine head.

The inquest into Magill's death will be held here late today, attended by Royal Canadian Mounted police, Sherif R. A. Brenton of Halifax county, and County Coroner Adam Burriss of Middle Musquodobit.

A hearse was sent out from Halifax, 75 miles away, by Donald G. Grant, legal representative of the Magill family in Nova Scotia, and waited to take the body back to Halifax, after the inquest, to be forwarded to Toronto.

RECOVER $10,000 LOAD OF STOLEN GOODS; ARREST 7

Lieut. James Kerr of the police cartage detail announced last night the arrest of seven men suspected of stealing a truckload of merchandise consigned to the Pittsburgh area during the March flood. The merchandise, valued at $10,000, was recovered at the rear of 3307 Fisk street.

Those held are Steve Kowal, 3225 Wall street, alleged driver of the truck; Richard Buchholtz, his helper; Rudolph, Sharkey and Le Roy Radloff, all three of 2429 Fletcher street; Edward J. Talaczynski, 2616 Homer street; Henry Harms, 3602 South Halsted street, and Robert Chillison, 1735 Winona street.

Lieut. Kerr said the truck, privately owned, was driven to Pittsburgh and employed there by the Universal Carloading company to carry supplies to flood sufferers. After picking up a load in Baltimore, Lieut. Kerr declared, the men drove the truck to Chicago instead of Pittsburgh.

Judge Fails to Reconcile Couple; Increases Alimony

Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court tried and failed yesterday to reconcile Anthony Michon, 2335 Charleston street, and his wife, Elizabeth, 2047 Webster avenue, when she sought an increase in her $6.50 a week separate maintenance because a third child has been born since she left her husband. At the request of Attorney Norman Becker, for Mrs. Michon, the judge increased Michon's weekly payments to $8.50.

TAX EVADER WINS PROBATION.

Leslie Hasenheyer, owner of a filling station at 5246 Archer avenue, charged with withholding $250 in sales taxes from the state, was placed on six months' probation by Judge Gorman in the South State street court yesterday. He promised to pay the tax.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES BUILDING 54 NAVAL VESSELS

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—The construction of 54 new naval auxiliary vessels in the next ten years at an estimated cost of 175 million dollars, was approved today by the house naval affairs committee.

Its action on a program designed to raise auxiliary ship strength to needs of a treaty navy came on the heels of a proposal by Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, that two new battleships be built.

Admiral Standley's request for authorization to proceed with laying the keels of the battleships is now under consideration by President Roosevelt. It has not been submitted to congress.

The 54 auxiliary vessels will have a total displacement of 221,000 tons. The navy department, which has indorsed the program, favored a blanket tonnage authorization rather than authorization for specific ships on the ground that changing conditions might require revision of plans.

Chairman Vinson [Dem., Ga.], assured members of the navy high command his committee would give prompt attention to any changes needed. He contended, however, the bill could be pushed through congress more readily if authorization for specific vessels was carried in the bill.

OKLAHOMA 'RUN' CELEBRATED IN FIRST CAPITAL

Guthrie, Okla., April 22.—(AP)—Bearded men, women in crinoline and gay-shirted cowboys celebrated the historic run of '89 in Oklahoma's first capital today with Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas an honor guest.

While thousands lined Guthrie's bunting-draped streets, Gov. E. W. Marland and Landon rode in a two-mile parade, their heads bared to a bright sun. In Landon's lap was a "ten gallon" frontier day hat, presented by Fred W. Green of Guthrie on behalf of Kansans now living in Oklahoma.

Long-haired Indian fighters, some with red and purple plush shirts, Indians with bright beadwork vests, bearded prospectors and little girls in bright calico frocks mingled in the parade. Many sought to shake Landon's hand as the ancient coach rumbled down the street.

PEACE BELLS RING IN CELEBRATION OF MINE RESCUE

Ottawa Joyful; Mother of Scadding Weeps.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 22.—(AP)—Bells of the carillon in the peace tower on Parliament hill today sounded out a hymn of thanksgiving over an exultant city when news arrived that rescuers had reached Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding, Toronto men entombed at Moose River, Nova Scotia.

A friend recalled today that Dr. Robertson emerged safely from the first battle of Ypres, when poison gas was used in the world war for the first time.

The friend is Dr. E. L. Stone, medical director of the department of Indian affairs, who served overseas with Dr. Robertson as a member of the First Infantry battalion.

Mother Weeps with Joy.

TORONTO, Ont., April 22.—(AP)—The aged mother of Alfred Scadding, her eyes filled with tears of joy, sat up smilingly in her bed at her home here today when news of the imminent rescue of her son and Dr. D. E. Robertson reached her.

"It's wonderful—but I am just all in," she said.

Although ordered to bed because of heart trouble, Mrs. Scadding had remained awake until 6 a. m., when she was persuaded to take a sleeping draught prescribed by her physician.

"I was heartsick and discouraged," she said, "but I still didn't give up all hope. And now they are safe, it seems. O, but the time has been so long and the waiting so awful."

Scadding's sisters, Mrs. W. H. Kirk and Mrs. W. J. Stewart, who were with their mother, broke down and wept. Scadding's wife is at the scene of the rescue efforts.

Daughter "Very Glad."

Waukesha, Wis., April 22.—(AP)—Fifteen year old Ethel Scadding was "very glad" to hear tonight that her father had been removed from the mine at Moose River.

The freckle faced schoolgirl said she had heard the news over the radio just as she was about to end another of the nightly vigils she began when Alfred Scadding's imprisonment became known.

"I've been up all night awaiting word," she said. "There isn't much more to say except that I'm very glad to hear my father is alive and safe."

She said she had sent a night letter to him expressing her happiness and gratitude to the miners who helped dig him out.

The girl last saw her father six years ago when she visited Canada. She came here to live with her grandmother after her mother and father were divorced a dozen years ago. Her mother married Fred C. Eckert, agent for the Soo Line here, two years ago, and Ethel now lives with them.

Dr. Dafoe an Old Friend.

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 22.—(AP)—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the country doctor who rose to medical fame by his care of the Dionne quintuplets, expressed happiness and relief today when told rescuers had reached his one time college classmate, Dr. D. E. Robertson. Dr. Dafoe and Dr. Robertson were graduated from the school of medicine of the University of Toronto in 1907.

Dr. Robertson has paid frequent visits to Dr. Dafoe since the birth of the quintuplets to offer specialized knoweldge in the care of the quintuplets.

"THANK GOD, TRUE AT LAST," SON OF DOCTOR WHISPERS

TORONTO, Ont., April 13 [Thursday.]—(AP)—"Thank God, it's true at last," whispered Donald Robertson, son of Dr. D. E. Robertson, when the news of the rescue of the prominent surgeon and his companion, Alfred Scadding, was received here tonight.

"It is wonderful," said Dr. Duncan Robertson, a brother of the surgeon, who came from Chicago to stay with his nephews. "Charles Ivey [a brother-in-law] telephoned to say they were through and that the two men were being taken to the surface."

"Wonderful, wonderful," exclaimed Mrs. W. J. Stewart, sister of Scadding.

She and other members of the Scadding family were assembled at the home of their mother when Fred Scadding, Alfred's brother, telephoned the news from Moose River.

Assured that rescue was a fact after long deferred hope, Toronto and most of Ontario gave no thought tonight to going to bed, and when word of the rescue reached here lights were on in thousands of homes.

Lieut.-Gov. Herbert A. Bruce and Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn led in expressing official gratification at the rescue.

"It is safe to say that no man in this whole area was more beloved than Dr. Robertson, who never hesitated to use his outstanding skill as a surgeon on cases where he knew full well there would be no remuneration except the satisfaction of having done a kindly act," said Premier Hepburn.

FLOGGING TRIAL JUDGE RULES OUT QUIZ ABOUT TOUR

Bartow, Fla., April 22.—(AP)—Questions about a purported northern speaking tour of Sam Rogers and Eugene F. Poulnot after the flogging, tarring, and feathering they and Joseph Shoemaker received were ruled out by Judge Robert T. Dewell today in the trial of seven former Tampa policemen accused of beating the men.

Questions regarding the trip came from Pat Whitaker, defense attorney, as Rogers was on the stand.

Whitaker also sought to bring out in cross-examination that Roger and Poulnot delayed several hours in obtaining aid for Shoemaker, who subsequently died of his beating.

Minutes of the Modern Democrats—political organization to which Shoemaker, Rogers, and Poulnot belonged—were introduced in the trial today for the first time. They proved dull beside the cross-examination of Rogers.

$10,000 Fund Raised for Moose River Rescuers

TORONTO, Ont., April 22.—(AP)—The sum of $10,000 has been raised for volunteers who served in the rescue work at the Moose River gold mine cave-in, a fund committee announced today. "There will be no canvassing," said the committee. "It is a general, popular voluntary subscription by the public."

SENTENCED FOR ABUSING MOTHER.

Henry Kieals, 23 years old, 1718 North Ashland avenue, was sentenced to 100 days in the Bridewell by Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller yesterday for disorderly conduct. He had chased his mother, Antoinette, from their home during a drinking spree.

HIGH PRESSURE BY BANK TOLD IN REND TRIAL

Witness Says She Wasn't Allowed to Sell Stock.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Miss MaBelle Van Arsdale of Park Ridge, former business manager for John Blocki, Inc., testified in Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward's court yesterday that on Nov. 1, 1929, she tried to sell 70 shares of the stock of the National City bank of New York which she owned, but that a Chicago salesman for the National City company with whom she talked would not let her.

She was a witness for the plaintiff in the $1,500,000 fraud suit brought by Mrs. Agnes E. Rend as executrix of the estate of her late husband, Joseph P. Rend, Chicago coal merchant. Previous testimony had placed Mr. Rend in the Chicago office of the National City company on this same day, with salesmen pressing around him and leading him to buy 1,000 shares of the stock at $450 a share.

Rend Pointed Out to Her.

Miss Van Arsdale said that Mr. Rend was pointed out to her that day and identified as "Charlie Mitchell's brother-in-law." Charles E. Mitchell at that time was chairman of the bank and of its security affiliate, the National City company, which is now the City company of New York, defendant in this suit.

"I went to the company offices," said Miss Van Arsdale, "and told Lawrence Crump, a salesman, that I must sell.

"'O, no,' he said, 'you mustn't.'

"'But the stock is going down,' I told him.

"'We are holding it up at $450,' he told me. He showed me a telegram from New York about this. I told him I had to sell, that I needed the money to meet notes and mortgages, but he said that in 30 days the stock would go to $600 and I would make $14,000. He said to hold on to my stock and beg, borrow, do anything, to get money to buy more."

Miss Van Arsdale said that she also started a suit against the company a few months ago.

Former Salesman Testifies.

Charles M. Flannagan, former Chicago salesman for the company, testified regarding the sale of 1,000 shares to Mr. Rend on this day.

When the stock market began to fall, and the bank stock went down more than 100 points, special meetings of salesmen were held in the Chicago office, he said. The sales manager told them that the bank stock was still the greatest investment he knew of and urged its distribution among customers.

"On Oct. 31," Flannagan said, "Joe Lynch, assistant sales manager, said we would have a block of this stock to sell and the price of $450 would be confirmed by the company until the following Monday. He said the stock was a great opportunity for all. A sales contest prize was announced in the office. The prize was a trip to New York.

"A flash came in from New York saying that buying orders for the stock were coming in from all parts of the country. It was recommended as one of the greatest investment bargains."

Rend Suggested as Prospect.

"How about selling some of this stock to Rend?" one of the salesmen asked, according to Flannagan.

Rend was called on the telephone on Oct. 31, the witness said, and promised to come into the office the next afternoon. When he arrived he was surrounded by four or five salesmen.

He was an old customer and he was told that he ought to buy, that he would never get the stock any cheaper. He hesitated, offering to take 500 shares and then yielded to sales talk and ordered the 1,000 shares. The week following the stock went down to $230. Nothing had happened, the New York office insisted, to impair the value of the stock.

The great bonuses which executives of the National City company received during the boom days of 1928 and 1929 were the subject of debate in court yesterday. These bonuses in 1928 amounted to $750,000 for Mr. Mitchell and $270,000 for Hugh Baker, president of the company. Seventy executives in all participated.

In 1929, according to Attorney Preston Boyden's statement to the jury, Mitchell received a bonus of $666,000 and Baker $220,000. These were paid in addition to nominal salaries of $25,000.

Mr. Boyden offered evidence of these payments in the form of a deposition and in this connection argued that the expenditure by the company of $30,000,000 to buy the stock of its own bank amounted to control of the market price by the bank and was a serious impairment of the bank's assets. This expenditure, it was stated, was never made known to Rend until 1933.

Attorney Max D. Steuer of New York, representing the defendant, objected to the evidence of the bonus payments.

"These are merely offered as a parade before the jury," he said. "This is a sinister method of influencing a jury, particularly in these days."

Judge Woodward ruled that the objection regarding the bonus disbursements would be sustained, but said that evidence regarding the purchase of $30,000,000 worth of bank stock by the company probably would be admitted later.

MICHIGAN BLOSSOM FESTIVAL WINNERS

Left to right, Beatrice Sanford, second place winner in annual blossom festival at Benton Harbor, Mich.; Bettemae Wagner, who was crowned queen, and Lydia Bahm, awarded third place honors. Miss Wagner entered the finals as Miss Grand Rapids, Miss Sanford is Miss Muskegon and Miss Bahm is Miss Watervliet.

20 Contestants

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 22.—[Special.]—Miss Bettemae Wagner, competing as Miss Grand Rapids, was chosen tonight as queen of the annual Blossom Festival, to be held here from May 3 to 10. She won the title from 19 other representatives of Michigan cities who had been selected in preliminary contests.

Second place went to Beatrice Sanford, Miss Muskegon, and third to Lydia Bahm, Miss Watervliet.

Miss Wagner, who is 18, is a blonde, 5 feet 6 inches tall. Miss Sanford, 19, is a brunette, and Miss Bahm, 20, is a blonde. Nine ballots were taken before the judges reached their decision on the placing.

During the festival Margaret Dougherty, Miss Benton Harbor, and Mary J. Anderson, Miss St. Joseph, will be maids of honor to the queen. They were chosen in local contests, but were not eligible for the queen's place.

CourtUpholds $137 Verdict Favoring Court Slayer

The Appellate court yesterday affirmed a $137 Municipal court judgment in favor of John W. Keogh, 72 years old, realty dealer, committed to the hospital for the insane at Menard for fatally shooting Attorney Christopher G. Kinney in Judge John Prystalski's court on Jan. 13. Keogh obtained the judgment against E. J. Millspaugh of Fifield, Wis., for damages caused to Keogh's building at 547 North Michigan avenue by Millspaugh's automobile, which coasted down hill from its parking place and crashed through a plate glass window.

Find Missing Boy Dead of Exposure Mile from Home

Sawamanca, N. Y., April 22.—(AP)—Two year old Thomas Woodworth, object of an organized search, was found dead late today less than a mile from his home. Floyd L. Perkins, an engineer, discovered the body as his Erie railroad train moved toward Elkdale. Coroner Philip Bourne said indications pointed to death from exposure after the child fell asleep.

INDIAN WISE MEN END CEREMONIES TO RESTORE LIFE

Houck, Ariz., April 22.—(AP)—Two Navajo medicine men ceased weird incantations over Todia Soci, 23 year old brave, today and admitted their tribal brother was dead—not in a deep sleep caused by a bolt of lightning.

Mrs. H. O'Malley, wife of an Indian trader, told the strange story of the tribal wise men's futile two day attempt to bring the youthful brave back to life.

The youth was tending his flock when death flashed from the cloud darkened skies.

Guards were posted near the medicine hut to repel any "paleface" interference. The chanters, wearing grotesque masks, called on their store of supernatural knowledge handed down through the generations by word of mouth. Sacred offerings were made and weird incantations voiced.

WINS A DIVORCE, PAYS HUSBAND $500 TO QUIT U. S.

Mrs. Elisabeth Jarchow, 36 years old, 2431 North Western avenue, was granted a divorce from her husband, Wilhelm, 48 years old, on the ground of cruelty yesterday. Jarchow agreed to accept $500 from his wife, surrender all claim to their daughter, Annaliese, 15 years old, and return to Germany. The decree was granted by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Superior court.

Mrs. Jarchow testified that she married Wilhelm in Germany in 1919, divorced him in Chicago in 1932, and then remarried him last June 5.

"He was a gigolo," Mrs. Jarchow said under questioning by her attorney, Harry X. Cole. "He married me the second time because he heard that I had made money in real estate. After we were married again he refused to work and he struck me when I remonstrated with him."

Moving? JudgeAdvisesNew Locks to Foil Burglars

Judge J. M. Braude in the Boys' court yesterday advised householders who are changing to new residences during the nex two weeks to change locks on their doors. "It is a simple thing to have passkeys made," he declared, "and the changing of old locks will prevent many burglaries." The judge issued his warning after three youths in separate cases had appeared before him on charges of entering homes with passkeys.

SUGGEST CUTTING OFF WATER GIVEN ELMWOOD PARK

A recommendation that Chicago cut off the water supply of the village of Elmwood Park was contained yesterday in an opinion given to Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, by Joseph F. Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel. The village owes the city $80,417 for water and recently submitted an offer to settle for 50 cents on the dollar. Grossman suggested to Hewitt that it was his duty, "in view of the defense that is offered, to shut off the water supply to the village after the shortest notice possible under the contract with the village."

H. L. Meites, superintendent of the water department, sent letters yesterday to the heads of six suburbs, including Elmwood Park, which owe Chicago sums aggregating more than $425,000 for water, asking them to pay up. The other suburbs and the amounts owed are: Cicero, $295,748; Summit, $20,900; Stickney, $17,733; Burnham, $8,749, and Calumet Park, $4,713.

CLUB WOMEN FED UP WITH FLIRTS, ONE TELLS JUDGE

Mrs. William P. Knochi, 43 years old, 6345 South Wood street, wife of a south side druggist, appeared yesterday in the South State street Municipal court to "prosecute mashers who make life miserable for women by trying to flirt with them in movie theaters." She was the complaining witness against John Biernacki, 35 years old, 1052 North Rockwell street.

"At our club meetings," Mrs. Knochi told Judge Gibson E. Gorman, "we women have often discussed this annoyance. So I came here to do my bit in putting a stop to this nuisance. This man tried to hold my hand in a loop theater Tuesday evening."

"I drink a lot of coffee and it makes my hands nervous," explained Biernacki. Judge Gorman fined him $100, which Biernacki will work out in the Bridewell.

First Class Held in New City School for Watchmen

The first class of Chicago's training school for watchmen was held yesterday in the fire department's school at 720 Sebor street. Forty-one watchmen attended. Classes will be held daily except Saturday and Sunday until a five weeks' course is completed.

'GLOOMY' MURAL IN BURIAL CHAPEL DRAWS CRITICISM

Graceland Trustees Hint They'll Make Changes.

Opinions, particularly by clergymen and undertakers, that a mural in the new $100,000 chapel of Graceland cemetery is too gloomy in treatment and subject, have reached the cemetery trustees. It was indicated yesterday that the criticisms would be considered carefully and that a solution satisfactory to the critics would be reached.

Alfred Hamill, one of the trustees, said that the chapel, after it had been used for two funerals, was closed for the time being, but only because it is not finished. Its use, he said, had been permitted in the two cases for special reasons.

Alterations Under Consideration.

"There has been some discussion," Hamill continued, "about the possible excessive solemnity of the mural when viewed in times of great emotional stress. The trustees are considering alterations in the interior of the chapel which will remove any possible objections. This matter has not been brought up, however, at a meeting of the trustees as yet."

Hamill defended the artistic qualities of the painting, which is by Nicholas Remisoff.

"It is solemn and powerful," he said, "and I do not see how it could offend. It portrays the philosophical and intellectual view of death.

Defends Artist and His Work.

"The thought is that while human beings are mortal, their characters and accomplishments live on in the hearts of others. The work may be too solemn. It is not morbid and the artist, one of our most distinguished, had no propagandistic ideas in mind."

The mural shows several figures about a bier, all somberly clad, while other portions of the painting are intended to depict the thoughts that course through the minds of those surrounding the bier.

GIRL IN HEWITT SLAYING FOUND IN DETROIT JAIL

Jewel [Jerry] Cortez or Corley, barroom butterfly, who had been sought since the body of Arthur Hewitt, engineer, was found early Saturday morning in a passageway at 3612 South Park way, is under arrest at Detroit. Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan made this announcement last night.

Lieut. Otto Erlanson of the homicide bureau discovered that the young woman was seized in Detroit on a charge of disorderly conduct on Friday and was sentenced Saturday to 90 days in the house of correction there. She used the name Jean Scott when the arrest was made.

She asserted to the lieutenant that she and Hewitt had been drinking together last Thursday evening and that he was fatally injured when he fell down several steps leading to the passageway.

"His head struck on the paving," the girl said, "and it killed him. I was scared and I ran to his car and drove away in it. I did not rob Mr. Hewitt."

Miss Corley agreed to waive extradition and Lieut. Erlanson was making arrangements to return with her, possibly today. After the death of Hewitt the girl and three companions drove to Detroit in his car. The others returned Friday, leaving her there alone.

REPORT ITALIANS WITHIN 70 MILES OF ADDIS ABABA

Duce Allots 115 Millions More to War.

ROME, April 22.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini opened his nation's war coffers again tonight as Fascist columns in Ethiopia were reliably reported to have penetrated to Debra Birhan, holy city of Shoa province. Less than 70 miles from Addis Ababa, the holy city is the first settlement in the path of the Black Shirt troops on the high plateau leading to the Ethiopian capital.

Military sources in Rome expressed the belief Emperor Haile Selassie's warriors might make a final stand at the Ciaccia river beyond Debra Birhan where the stream is crossed by an iron bridge erected by former Emperor Menelik.

For the last few days, the Italians in a column of 1,000 trucks, carrying 20,000 men, have been climbing steadily until now they are near the edge of the high plateau.

Heavy Rains in South.

Heavy rains were flooding the route of the southern army, the Stefani [Italian] news agency reported, with hundreds of bodies being carried down by the swollen rivers.

The new war appropriations announced by Il Duce sent a flow of approximately $115,000,000 to the credit of his fighting machine. The total was divided as follows:

War department, $48,000,000; ministry of colonies, $28,000,000; navy department, $16,000,000; aviation, $16,000,000; ministry of the interior for relief of soldiers and their families, $7,200,000; for repatriation of Italians previously living in Ethiopia, $40,000.

Total Chest 800 Millions.

The new financial additions to the war chest brought the total appropriations to $800,000,000.

The Fascist premier, despite an estimate by league of nations' experts that Italy's foreign assets fell 105,000,000 old dollars between Oct. 20, 1935, and March 31, 1936, apparently based his action on the annual report of Vincenzo Azzolini, governor of the Bank of Italy.

Azzolini declared that on Dec. 31, 1935, the gold reserve in the bank was $240,000,000, with foreign credits of $29,360,000, total of $269,360,000.

Banking sources reported later the reserves were still around $240,000,000 despite foreign purchases during the first three months of the current year.

Bomb Ethiopians in Ogaden.

ITALIAN GENERAL HEADQUARTERS ON THE SOUTHERN FRONT IN ETHIOPIA, April 22.—(AP)—Intense aerial activity marked military operations today in the Ogaden sector of the southern front as Italian aviators made hourly flights dropping bombs where Ethiopian concentrations were most active.

Italian aviators reported the movement centered about Sasa Baneh near which Wehis Pasha, former general in the imperial Turkish army, is entrenched behind a network of machine gun nests and anti-aircraft gun emplacements.

Military circles have stated one of the most amazing marches of the recent campaign is that of three days and nights just completed by Blackshirt legions recruited largely from the United States and South America.

Pushing forward with 110 motor vehicles donated by Italians in the United States, they marched from the coast to Ogaden plain with only 10 hours of rest. [The distance covered was approximately 250 miles.]

Crown Prince in Addis Ababa.

ADDIS ABABA, April 22.—(AP)—A serious insurrection among the northern Ethiopian armies was reported unofficially in Addis Ababa today as the youthful crown prince, Asfa Wosan, returned to the ramshackle old palace to resume his place as his father's deputy in the capital.

Refugees from the north brought varied reports of disaffection, but it was uncertain whether this is handicapping Emperor Haile Selassie, who is organizing a last stand in defense of Addis Ababa.

The crown prince returned after four months in Dessye, where he had a taste of fighting in recent days. He resumed control of the government here on orders from his father. All other members of the imperial family except the emperor are still here and have made daily appearances in the streets in their American limousine to reassure the population.

Plan to Crush Ras Nasibu.

Ethiopian leaders said they believed the Italians are now concentrating on an attempt to crush Ras Nasibu, leader of a southeastern army, before proceeding further against the capital.

Nasibu, called the "savior of Ogaden" after halting an Italian advance in November, is trained in modern fighting methods and, because of his own absence in the north, the emperor provided Nasibu only with the most loyal generals.

Haile Selassie was said to have reorganized his army on a 9,000 foot pass and to have held up an Italian advance at Warra Hailu, 70 miles south of Dessye.

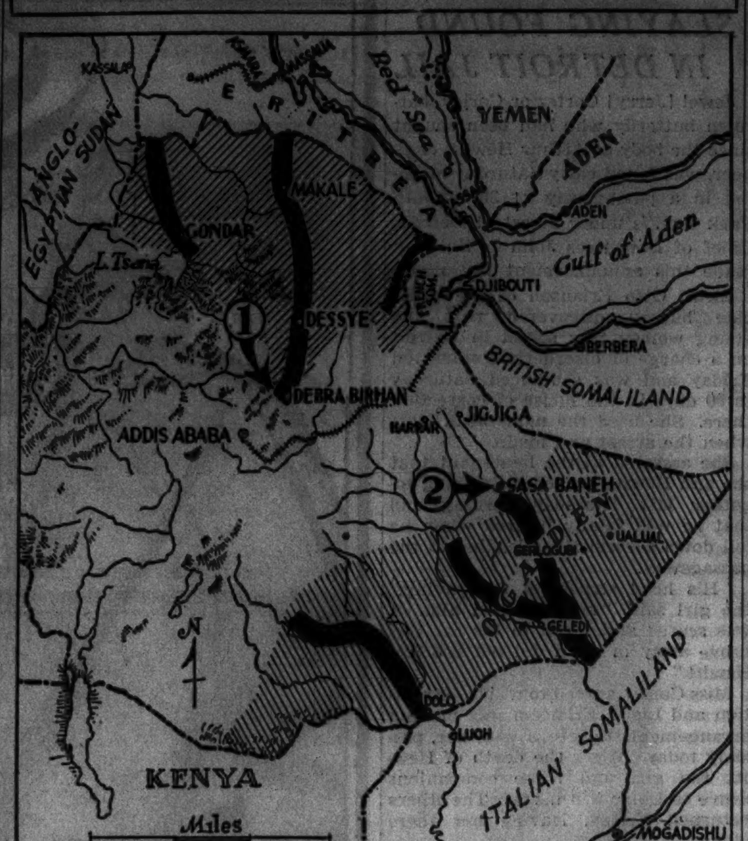
Run on Bank Ends.

Because of this fears have subsided here. A run on the Bank of Ethiopia ended and British officials announced they had abandoned a plan to close the bank April 24.

Another trainload of white refugees from Addis Ababa slept tonight in the French hotel at Hawash, one of the malaria danger zones of Ethiopia, as they paused in a flight to the coast. No more 24 hour train trips are scheduled to Djibouti, French Somaliland, until autumn because of the dangers of washouts through rains. The trains now run only in the daylight, taking three days for the trip.

There still, however, has been no appreciable decrease in the large foreign population here, but more are expected to leave over the week-end. Only a few American missionaries erected tents on the fortified British legation grounds during the recent panic.

ITALIAN DRIVE NEARS ADDIS ABABA



Map shows penetration of Ethiopia from north and south by Italian armies. Fascist troops were reported by Rome yesterday to have taken (1) Debra Birhan, within 70 miles of Addis Ababa. On the southern front Black Shirt aviators bombed Ethiopian positions at (2) Sasa Baneh in preparation for a renewed offensive toward Harrar in that sector.

Irvin Cobb's Daughter and Husband Separated

Hollywood, Cal., April 22.—(AP)—Elizabeth Cobb Brody, daughter of Irvin S. Cobb, said today she and her husband, Alton A. Brody, New York real estate operator, have separated but there are no plans for a divorce. "While it is true that Mr. Brody and I have been separated for several months, there still is a possibility of a reconciliation," she added. Mrs. Brody formerly was married to Frank Chapman, a singer, now the husband of Gladys Swarthout, opera and screen star.

11,000 Paris Taxi Drivers Strike in Rate Cut Protest

PARIS, April 22.—(AP)—More than 11,000 taxi drivers went on strike today in a mass protest against rate cutting. Trafic in Paris streets, particularly near the railroad stations, was curtailed by the strike.

HOUSE CHEERS COLORED MAN'S G. O. P. ATTACK

Washington, D. C., March 22.—The Democratic side of the house stood for several minutes today and cheered Representative A. W. Mitchell of Illinois, only colored man ever to sit in congress as a Democrat.

Mitchell had just concluded an attack upon the Republican party for its promises to "do something" for the colored race, whereas, he charged, it had instead led them, "dumb and hopeless," down another road.

He pledged support of colored voters to the Democratic party, and he told the house that in 23 states where colored persons vote there will be 2,400,000 votes cast next fall for President Roosevelt and the Democratic party.

As he spoke, the Republican side sat amazed and silent, while from across the aisle Democratic applause frequently interrupted the speaker.

Charging that Republican claims that Lincoln was elected for the sole purpose of liberating slaves were nothing but political propaganda to obtain votes, Mr. Mitchell read from Lincoln's inaugural address, in which he said:

"I have no purpose, directly or indirectly, to interfere with the institution of slavery in the states where it exists. I believe I have no lawful right to do so, and I have no inclination to do so."

HELD AS LIQUOR LAW VIOLATOR.

Onefrio Cimino, 30 years old, 1028 West Harrison street, was held yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker in bonds of $3,000 on charges of violation of the liquor law.

BRITAIN ORDERS 8 WARSHIPS TO QUIT MEDITERRANEAN

New Anglo-Italian Accord Is Hinted.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 22.—Extensive warship withdrawals from the Mediterranean were reported at Gibraltar tonight and gave rise to speculation as to whether Great Britain and Italy had reached some kind of preliminary understanding as a result of the recent victories of the Italians in Ethiopia and last week's admission of failure to stop the war by the league of nations.

Ostensibly with the admiralty's permission, it was reported that eight warships are leaving, or have left, the Mediterranean, and that the battle cruiser Hood and the entire third cruiser squadron are to make a short cruise from Gibraltar next week.

The Gibraltar reports said the submarine depot ship, Lucia, and the submarines L-23 and L-27 would leave Aden for England tomorrow.

The destroyers Vanquisher, Wolfhound and Walpole left tonight. The sloops Selkirk and Tiverton will sail for home Friday. It was pointed out that these are small units except for the Hood and the third cruiser squadron, and that the bulk of the fighting fleet is still off Alexandria.

The admiralty announced here that Vice Admiral G. C. Dickens, commanding the reserve fleet, will sail from Portsmouth Saturday to inspect the reserve fleet units stationed on the western coasts of England and Scotland.

In the house of commons Capt. Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, told questioners that despite Italy's breaking of treaties and use of poison gas, the British would not even consider withdrawing their ambassador from Rome or proposing the expulsion of the Italians from the league of nations.

The government's evident unwillingness to push matters against the Italians contrasted with the drastic suggestions made by opposition members.

Demand Action on U. S. Debt.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 22.—Great Britain's war debt to the United States was injected into tonight's budget debate in the house of commons when members demanded to know whether the government was doing anything to reach a settlement.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, liberal leader, complained that not the slightest mention of the American debt was made by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in his budget speech yesterday.

"This is the first time he has not made some reference to it," said Sinclair, "yet every one has had the same experience as I have had in talking to Americans about coöperation between the United States and Britain. They always come back to the debt problem which they say is one thing that is making it difficult for them to coöperate with us. I ask whether there is any prospect of coming to a settlement."

Sees Trouble Ahead.

Later William Mabane, one of the government's Liberal supporters, asserted:

"Unless we can effectively settle this problem, we are likely to find difficulties discussing political questions with Americans. That is one reason why this matter best be faced. I am anxious it should be wiped out by agreement instead of being left as a hidden sore between the two nations."

William Morrison, financial secretary of the treasury, was silent on the question.

U. S. AND BRITISH OIL FIRMS PROTEST JAP SMUGGLING IN CHINA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 22.—American and British oil interests protested today through their respective embassies at Peiping against Japanese oil smuggling activities. They charged that Japanese oil from Dairen, Manchukuo, is entering North China without the payment of Chinese customs duties. They also charged the illicit trade is reaching large proportions, undermining legitimate commerce.

The protests charged that the smuggling is operated by Japanese outlaws and is centered at Changli and Chinwangtao, ports within the demilitarized zone now embraced in the so-called East Hopei autonomous government controled by the renegade Yin Ju-keng. It is alleged that 10,000 cases of kerosene and gasoline were smuggled in recent days on which Yin Ju-keng levied a tarif of only one-fourth the Chinese customs.

The Chinese finance ministry in Nanking estimated that $63,000,000 worth of sugar, rayon, flour and cotton goods and other commodities was smuggled into Tientsin in the last year and $30,000,000 in the first three months of this year.

Wife Who Slew Husband Will Go on Trial May 18

Trial of Mrs. Betty Forbert Martin, 33 years old, for the murder of her estranged husband, Andrew, whom she shot and killed April 9 in a south side tavern, was set for May 18 by Judge Cornelius Harrington in the Criminal court yesterday. The trial date was agreed upon when Mrs. Martin was arraigned before Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle and entered a not guilty plea. Her attorneys, James M. Burke and George Crane, announced the defense would be one of "temporary insanity."

DIES IN BRIDEWELL.

Patrick Griffin, 60 years old, 510 West 42d street, died yesterday of a heart ailment in the bridewell, where he had been committed on April 16 for failure to pay a $100 fine for disorderly conduct.

POLICEMAN SHOT AS HE BATTLES 3 HOLDUP MEN

Policeman John Fried, 48 years old, of the Maxwell street station, was shot in the right hip last night in a battle with three stickup men who attempted to rob him as he was putting his car in the garage behind his home at 1256 Independence boulevard.

The men fled as Fried fired back at them. They abandoned an automobile they had taken a few hours earlier from Morton Groner, 1811 South Millard avenue, at 5th and Sacramento avenues. In the interim they had held up two gasoline stations. Fried, who was taken to the Mount Sinai hospital, said he believed he wounded one of the trio.

ITALY OPPOSES TURK REARMING OF DARDANELLES

Fears It Foreshadows an Attempt at Revenge.

ROME, April 22.—(AP)—Turkey's rearming of the Dardanelles has aroused the opposition of Italy, perhaps the most interested of all countries in keeping the straits free and open, informed sources disclosed tonight.

Italy, however, may eventually give her consent in principle, being forced to by similar consents granted by other big powers, but her fundamental opposition will, nevertheless, continue.

So far as Italy is concerned, the rearming of the narrow link between the Aegean and Black seas is a vital element in the complex situation involving not only the two countries but also the major states in Europe.

Italy's Opposition Explained.

Italy's opposition is based on the diplomatic basis that the treaty of Lausanne providing for the disarmament of the straits was freely negotiated and signed by Turkey in 1923, and therefore cannot be unilaterally abrogated. However, there are these more concrete reasons:

1. Between Italy and Turkey there has been much suspicion for many years. Twenty-five years ago began the Italo-Turkish war which ended in Italian victory and the taking of Libya and the Dodecanese Islands.

The Dodecanese Islands gave Italy a strategic position commanding the southern end of the Aegean sea, only a few miles from the Turkish coast of Asia Minor. From the air base on the Island of Leros, Italian bombing planes could easily reach Constantinople and Ankara.

Opposed Balkan Entent.

2. Turkey, under President Ataturk, was a leading spirit in the formation of the Balkan entente, including all the Balkan states but Bulgaria and Albania. The entente was opposed by Italy, who saw in it an effort to wrest away her friends, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, and Albania.

3. Turkey has agreed with Great Britain to help her in the Mediterranean if Italy attacks Britain in consequence of sanctions. Should such an event come about, a rearmed straits would prevent Italy from reaching the Black sea. Turkey's assistance to London, otherwise negative owing to her obsolete fleet, would then become effective.

4. Under sanctions Italy must buy and sell wherever it is possible to do so, and the Black sea is an important market center for her. Economically, therefore, Italy has every reason for objecting to the straits rearmament.

Last year, it is recalled, when it was decided to call a Danubian conference in Rome, Turkey was not invited on the grounds she was not a Danubian country. She had intimated that, since Austria and Hungary intended to raise the question of their rearmament, she wanted to be present to raise a similar question in her own regard.

France to Consent.

PARIS, April 22.—(AP)—Officials said tonight France would reply favorably to a Turkish request for permission to fortify the Dardanelles.

Infidelity Charged

LONDON, April 22.—(AP)—The countess of Carnarvon was granted a decree nisi today in a suit for divorce against the earl of Carnarvon which was undefended. The countess alleged her husband was guilty of adultery.

[A divorce decree nisi is a decree of divorce granted but not to be made absolute until such time, not less than three months thereafter, as the court may direct.]

Suit was filed April 1 by the countess, the former Catherine Wendell, an American. They were married July 17, 1922. Custody of two children was awarded the countess.

Naming one Jean Cooper as co-respondent, the countess testified in court she had left the earl in May, last year, after complaining to him about his association with other women. Later, she said, the earl wrote her a letter, admitting he had been unfaithful.

Body of Well Dressed Woman Taken from Lake

The body of a well dressed gray-haired woman about 50 years old, was taken from Lake Michigan off Miller beach near Gary yesterday. The woman wore an expensive fur coat with a matched fur hat, bearing the label of L. Gamson, furriers, Chicago. A white gold wedding ring bore the inscription "J.E.B. to D.D." Gary police said the body had been in the lake apparently for two months. Both legs were broken below the knees, probably by ice jams.

8 ARABS SLAIN, 58 WOUNDED IN PALESTINE RIOTS

Police Take 120 Jews to Jerusalem for Safety.

JERUSALEM, April 22.—(AP)—Fearful of new rioting, police decided tonight to transfer 120 Jews living in Hebron to Jerusalem.

Reports received by telegraph agencies said eight Arabs were killed during the day and 58 others wounded in scattered outbreaks as the racial rioting stormed into its third week.

An official communique on the Arab general strike in the vicinity reported that in most of the towns the majority of shops, except for cafés, were shut.

The Jewish telegraphic agency asserted the situation of 6,000 Jewish refugees at Tel Aviv caused concern as money and food became scarce. Tel Aviv police have been instructed, the agency added, to deal vigorously with crowds in the streets, use force in dispersing them and fire if necessary.

The principal Arab attack was staged at the Hatikvah settlement where police raided the Moslems with gunfire. The Arabs also attacked Shechunath Aryeh.

The Jewish agency declared an investigation today disclosed that one of two men slain at Neged last Friday, previously reported as Arabs, was an Egyptian Jewish immigrant named Mordechai Almani. He was buried in the Jaffa Moslem cemetery.

The killing of the two men, supposed to have been Arabs, was considered by Moslems as a reprisal by Jews for a previous attack and led to extensive rioting Sunday on the Tel Aviv-Jaffa border.

VON SEECKT NAMED REGIMENT COMMANDER BY HITLER ON BIRTHDAY

BERLIN, April 22.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today appointed Maj. Gen. Hans von Seeckt to the command of an infantry regiment on the occasion of the warrior's seventieth birthday.

In a letter to the former commander of the reichswehr Hitler eulogized Von Seeckt's merits as creator of the German army whose chief he was from 1920 to 1926. It was recalled that Von Seeckt once described war as "man's highest achievement."

Von Seeckt dispelled chances for a successful revolution following Hitler's celebrated "beer cellar" putsch of 1923. Yet in 1930, when Hitler's power was proved by the September election, Von Seeckt was quick to welcome the national socialists to a place in the government.

Thousands of Communists Sent to Prison by Poland

WARSAW, Poland, April 22.—(AP)—Wholesale arrests of communists have occurred throughout Poland as an aftermath of last week's rioting at Lwow, where the arrests alone since April 16 total more than 2,000.

GIMBEL FAILS TO PAY NOTES, WOMAN AVERS

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Miss Mario Ruiz de Rivera, formerly of Baton Rouge, La., testified today in her $32,000 suit against Frederic Adam Gimbel that during her erstwhile friendship with the former department store executive she had loaned him $26,000 to carry on his stock market transactions.

In repayment, she said, he gave her two notes totaling $32,000 which included $6,000 for her expenses and services while they were in Europe. Her suit, being heard before Supreme Court Justice Aron Steuer and a jury, charges that the notes were unpaid.

Today's was the second damage suit brought by women against Gimbel within the past two months. A Supreme court jury on April 1 awarded Miss Lillian Mendal $250,000 damages in her $2,000,000 heart balm suit against Gimbel which named Miss De Rivera as co-defendant.

Gimbel's defense to Miss De Rivera's suit was in the form of a deposition taken in Rangoon, Burma, where he was said to be resting on doctor's orders. He contended that the notes, made out to Miss De Rivera's mother, had been given only after Miss De Rivera had told him she could cause unpleasantness unless he provided for her mother in the event of his death.

He further contended that he had set up Miss De Rivera, her mother, and her sculptor brother, José, in a $22,000 Central Park apartment, and had given Miss De Rivera approximately $100,000 since their introduction at a tea in May, 1930 and the termination of their friendship March, 1934.

ALL NAZI BRIDES, CROOMS TO GET HITLER'S BOOK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 22.—"My struggle," Reichfuehrer Hitler's book, must be presented as a marriage gift to every couple in Germany by the registrar at the marriage ceremony.

This latest ukase of Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, will help the Fuehrer's book, the Bible of Nazilsm, become the best seller of them all, since an average of 700,000 couples marry in Germany annually.

The measure also will increase the income of the bachelor Fuehrer, who receives royalties on the book. "My Struggle" will not be presented if the bridegroom is a foreigner or one of the marriage partners is Jewish.

NEW TAX BOOST PLAN ADMITTED BY DEMOCRATS

Another Bill Is Predicted for Next Session.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Congress was startled today by a confession from the Democratic majority of the house ways and means committee, which had just completed drafting an 803 million dollar tax measure, that another huge tax bill must be passed next year.

The 17 Democrats on the committee, in a report advocating approval by the house of the new taxes demanded by President Roosevelt, used the following amazing language in referring to certain provisions of the bill:

"This will take care of the President's request until the next session of congress, which can then act more intelligently in the light of the conditions then existing."

Republicans Amused.

The phrase "more intelligently," set the Republicans, who have scored the measure as "a vicious threat to the stability of business and employment," to chuckling and appalled the Democratic leaders. It was immediately adopted by opponents of the bill as their battle slogan in the wordy battle over the measure which begins tomorrow.

Meanwhile, bewildered representatives attempted to decipher the 249 page document which is officially known as "the revenue bill of 1936, to provide revenue, equalize taxation and for other purposes."

It was a Chinese puzzle to most of them and the committee's attempted explanation shed little light on the measure's provisions.

The mystery of the yield of the new taxes remained unsolved despite the committee's assertion that they will produce 803 million in added revenue. This estimate carried the qualifying phrase "when it [the bill] comes into full operation."

Committee Avoids Answer.

Thus, the committee avoided an answer to the criticism that the tax on corporate income, the backbone of the bill, will not yield the anticipated revenue this year because corporations will not start paying dividends until 1937. The corporation tax rate is fixed in accordance with the portion of net income undistributed.

The committee officially estimated that an average annual yield of 620 million should result from the corporation tax alone. Another 100 million will flow into the treasury as the result of a special levy of 80 per cent upon impounded processing taxes, according to the report. And an added $83,000,000 will come from a continuance of the capital stock tax for 1 year at one-half the rate provided in the revenue act of 1935.

Yield Mere Guesswork.

But the satisfying total of 803 million thus achieved was mere guesswork, committee members admitted privately. And it was this realization which prompted the expressed hope that the next congress may act "more intelligently" in striving to enact taxes which will produce more millions to meet the growing cost of government.

"Some simplification of administration should ultimately result from the new corporation tax plan," the committee report stated.

The majority report quoted in full President Roosevelt's March 3 message, which dismayed congress by its insistence upon the enactment of new taxes to pay for the administration's substitute for the invalidated AAA and the veterans' bonus.

Responsibility Shifted.

After thus shifting all responsibility to the White House for the imposition of new taxes in an election year, a move considered politically dangerous, the Democratic members remarked:

"The President requests the congress to raise 620 million dollars of additional revenue annually by some form of permanent taxation. He suggests some form of undistributed profits tax. . . . Therefore, your committee proposes a plan of taxation which taxes a corporation on the net income, but which fixes the rate in accordance with the proportion of net income undistributed."

WILL BE BRIDE

HOSTESS GRACE L. HALL.

Stewardess Grace L. Hall of American Air Lines and Co-Pilot Weldon [Dusty] Rhoades of United Air Lines will be married at Thorndyke Hilton chapel on the University of Chicago campus at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow. Miss Hall, who lives at 1363 Hyde Park boulevard, has been a stewardess for more than two years and has flown more than 200,000 miles. Rhoades is co-pilot on the San Francisco-Salt Lake division of United's transcontinental route. His base is at Oakland, and following the marriage the couple will live there.

MISS TUGWELL OPENS UP A DOG LAUNDRY; QUITS

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—Marcia Tugwell, 12 year old daughter of Rexford G. Tugwell, resettlement administrator, was ordered into complete seclusion today a few hours after attempting to set up a public dog washing shop in the basement of the Tugwell home.

The child's instructions, a maid said, were to see no one about anything, "not even to receive dog clients."

Miss Tugwell's "retirement" resulted from this neatly written circular which she and two friends distributed through their neighborhood:

"Dog laundry—by Joyce Helmick, Marcia Tugwell, and Mary Frances Cottrell.

"Small dogs—30 cents.

"Middle sized dogs—35 cents.

"Groomed and washed.

"Notice—These dogs must be good-natured, but if you are not sure of your dog's nature please furnish a muzzle. We cannot wash large dogs."

SNELL CHOSEN FOR CHAIRMAN BY REPUBLICANS

Cleveland, O., April 22.—(AP)—Republican party leaders in session here recommended Congressman Bertrand H. Snell of New York for permanent chairman of the Republican national convention.

Party Chairman Henry P. Fletcher announced the selection at the close of the meeting of the committee on arrangements for the convention, which will open here June 9.

Snell is minority leader in the house and was permanent chairman of the 1932 Republican convention. He will take the chair at the close of the keynote speech by Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, temporary chairman.

DEVISE TAX PLAN THROWING RELIEF LOAD ON COUNTY

Disguised Property Levy Approved by Horner.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—[Special.]—An entirely new plan for raising relief funds in Illinois, which calls for the creation of separate taxing bodies in each of the 102 counties of the state, was proposed to legislative leaders today with the approval of Gov. Henry Horner.

Designed to raise the 36 million dollars annually which it is estimated will be needed from sources other than the sales tax, the scheme would toss the problem back to the counties and authorize them to levy taxes and issue bonds, with the county boards administering the funds to those on relief.

IERC Would Continue to Function.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which bosses relief at present, would be retained only to allocate about 2 million dollars monthly of state funds to counties and to receive and distribute surplus commodities donated by the federal government.

The new scheme is called the Billman plan, because it is being drafted by Dewitt C. Billman, secretary of the legislative reference bureau, the nonpolitical unit of the state government which prepares bills legislators wish to introduce. However, it is thought to have been inspired by the administration.

Billman said the bills would provide a tax limitation, probably 30 cents upon each $100 of assessed valuation on all property.

Property Tax Brought to Life.

Thus, with the governor placing his approval upon the Billman plan, the much vaunted elimination of the state property tax by the Horner administration is in danger of becoming, in the words of one waggish member, "a tinkling cymbal and a sounding brass."

"The sales tax," this legislator continued, "which was imposed in place of the property tax, will continue, and now we see the property tax returning, although under another name."

The plan will be embodied in a series of bills which will be introduced in both house and senate next Monday night, and probably advanced, by agreement, to second reading. This would not mean, however, that the chances of passage are good.

Members Doubt Political Wisdom.

Many a downstater and Cook county member alike was shaking his head dubiously as he emerged from the conference today. Imposition of new taxes between a primary and an election is not calculated to help a candidate, they apparently reasoned.

Chicago members appeared highly skeptical. One said: "We have more than 400 taxing bodies in Cook county now. And what the people will say about a proposed new tax will not, I am afraid, be pleasant."

But the governor apparently saw no political danger in the plan. When he began his remarks to the conference, he declared that "relief is more important than any election," and added, a little later, "I don't believe that a tax for relief purposes only will be met with opposition. The larger counties should set the example."

Fight in Courts Feared.

Majority Floor Leader Adamowski [Dem., Chicago] raised the question of whether the bonds which it is proposed to issue under the plan might be tied up by a court test of constitutionality and delay the raising of money.

"But who would do that?" the governor asked.

"I can't predict, governor," Adamowski replied, "but it was done with the sales tax each time it was passed."

"Well, I think the Supreme court would give us a decision within ten days," Mr. Horner stated.

Horner Sees Danger Ahead.

One remark considered highly significant was made by the governor regarding the Hickman bill, pending in the senate, which would force all counties to levy a relief tax by Oct. 1, on pain of being denied sales tax relief funds.

"I believe," Mr. Horner said, "you would be running into danger in making such a mandatory provision."

But after the conference, Senator Wilber H. Hickman [Dem., Paris] declared he would push his bill next week. It is on third reading and Hickman believes it will be passed, although Cook county members plan to fight it.

Green Predicts Rising Burden.

House Minority Leader L. M. Green [Rep., Rockford] made a gloomy prediction that relief needs would increase. He declared that local communities seemed destined to bear "a terrific burden."

Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, the senate Republican leader, said the issue seemed to be whether to pass the so-called Billman plan "or go into state expenditures and cut, right and left, with a meat cleaver."

None of the Democrats present offered a second to the latter proposal.

HORNER COMING HERE SATURDAY FOR SERIES OF PARLEYS ON PEACE

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner will be in Chicago next Saturday for a series of conferences preceding the Cook county Democratic convention, at which his supporters hope he will be indorsed without difficulty.

Harmony moves are understood to be in the making, seeking to bring the powerful county machine, which supported Dr. Herman N. Bundesen against the governor, behind him once more. United States Attorney Michael Igoe will go to Washington to discuss the matter with Postmaster General James A. Farley, while Martin J. O'Brien, Horner ward committeeman, will seek an audience with County Chairman Pat A. Nash.

It is reported here that the governor will not attend the county convention unless it appears the harmony moves will be successful.

Springfield observers feel the peace moves will bear fruit and that Horner delegates will go to the national convention prepared to vote for reelection of Nash as national committeeman.

HELD TO GRAND JURY.

MICHIGAN G. O. P. PICKS GLENN TO SOUND KEYNOTE

Speaks at Convention in Detroit Tomorrow.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Otis F. Glenn, who won the Republican nomination for senator in the recent Illinois primaries, is to be G. O. P. keynoter for Michigan. He leaves tonight for Detroit where tomorrow he is to deliver the chief address at the Republican state convention. Glenn was asked to sound the keynote by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, who is listed among the candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, and Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald.

Republican candidates for state office who were nominated in the primaries last week will meet at the La Salle hotel at noon today to discuss plans for the state convention at Peoria. John H. Searing of Carbondale, state chairman, is to be present. Announcement has been made that the state conclave, which is set for May 1 by the primary act, will adjourn, without transacting business, until May 22. The postponement is due to the delay in official returns on state committeemen who will make the convention arrangements.

May Have Two Keynoters.

One proposal which seems to be favored is that of a double keynote. It has been suggested that Wayland Brooks, nominee for governor, make an address on state issues and Mr. Glenn expound the national issues. These addresses possibly will be separate from any election as temporary and permanent chairmen. These two offices may go to others, in recognition of various factional groups.

A contest is looming over the election of a state chairman. Chairman Searing, who succeeded Justus L. Johnson of Aurora last year, has Perry B. McCullough of Lawrenceville as a possible opponent.

One suggestion put forth by the gossips is that the run made by Senator William E. Borah in downstate Illinois, where he piled up a larger vote than Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, and carried a majority of the downstate congressional districts, might be given recognition by placing a Borah supporter on the slate of delegates at large. These are to be chosen by the state convention. One proposal yesterday was to pick as one of the eight Mrs. Mattie Rinard of Fairfield, Ill., a sister of the Idaho senator.

Contest for Committee Posts.

Another contest appears likely over the election of new officers of the Republican Cook county committee Monday at the La Salle hotel. Chief contenders are Edward F. Moore, present secretary; Patrick Sheridan Smith [Sixth ward], and Eden T. Brekke [Thirty-sixth]. Chairman William H. Weber, who is not seeking reelection, is supporting Moore.

Robert C. Rohn [Nineteenth] and William Finucane [Eleventh] are candidates for the post of secretary in case Mr. Moore is made county chairman.

Patrolman Halts Woman in Attempt at Suicide

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—An attractive young woman, about 26 years old, was retrained from jumping from the George Washington bridge this afternoon when a port authority patrolman reached her just as she had climbed over a railing to the edge of the structure. The woman refused to identify herself. She wore a wedding ring.

ORDERS STUDENT AUTO SPEEDERS TO VISIT MORGUE

Two 20 Year Old Youths Before Judge.

Two students at the University of Chicago arrested for speeding were ordered to visit the fracture wards of the County hospital and to view victims of trafic deaths at the county morgue when they appeared yesterday before Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the Trafic court.

Graham Fairbank, 20 years old, 3620 Pine Grove avenue, charged with speeding 54 miles an hour on April 16 in the Outer drive near 48th street, appeared with his mother, Mrs. Lucy Fairbank, a widow.

"Why does your son need an automobile?" Judge Gorman asked her after she said he owned the car.

"He needs it to drive to school," she answered.

"You never had a car when you were his age, did you?" the judge asked. "I don't see why he has to have a car."

Goes 62 M. P. H. to Dinner.

The other student is James Loeb, 20 years old, 1005 East 60th street, charged with driving 62 miles an hour in the Outer drive near Garfield street. He said he was hurrying to keep a dinner engagement.

Judge Gorman asked Fairbank to give $6 and Loeb $7 to automobile victimes in the hospital.

Miss Gertrude Hayden, 31 years old, 617 Gary place, a model, was fined $7 for speeding 50 miles an hour on April 18 in Lake Shore drive, and Miss Marguerite Moody, 41 years old, 6945 North Ashland avenue, was fined the same amount for speeding 56 miles an hour in Lake Shore drive.

Eric Kullberger, 7317 Crandon avenue, an automobile dealer at 6830 Stony Island avenue, was acquitted yesterday by Judge Eugene L. McGarry in the Automobile court on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Evidence at the hearing indicated Kullberger went voluntarily to a police station after his automobile had struck and fatally injured a delivery messenger on the Outer drive.

Driver Held to Grand Jury.

Casimer Maguga, 24 years old, 960 Milwaukee avenue, was ordered held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of, Walter Gratzer, 60 years old, 1230 Huron street, a junk peddler. Maguga admitted he had been drinking and was intoxicated when his automobile struck the peddler, who was pushing his cart.

The motorist killed early yesterday when his automobile crashed at high speed into a trolley pole at 2504 Belmont avenue, was identified later as Walter L. Armbruster, 6441 St. Anthony court, manager of a National Tea company branch store.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 295 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. During the same period 4,613 were injured and 239 killed in Chicago.

MRS. BORG WINS TWO DECISIONS IN SUPPORT SUIT

Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court ruled yesterday that George Marshall Borg is a resident of Cook county and that the courts here have jurisdiction over the separate maintenance suit of Borg's wife, Juanita, 19 years old. The judge also ruled that Borg's father, George W. Borg, chairman of the board of the Borg-Warner corporation, must remain as a co-defendant in Mrs. Borg's suit.

Young Borg had asked dismissal of the suit on the ground that he is a resident of Delavan, Wis., where his father has an estate. The elder Borg asked that he be dismissed as a codefendant in Mrs. Borg's petition for an injunction to restrain him from interfering in the Borgs' marital affairs and the rearing of their child, George Marshall Borg Jr., 16 months old. Last month Judge Michael Feinberg in the Circuit court denied the elder Borg custody of the child.

Judge Sabath ruled that he would have jurisdiction even if young Borg were a resident of Wisconsin, and that he has the power to grant an injunction against interference with a minor child in a separate maintenance action.

Mr. Cushman, who is chairman of the club's committee on the Lenten serivces, said the fund was set up in honor of Courtenay Barber, 120 South La Salle street, who directed the services for twenty-five of the forty years of their existence.

CALL TOWNSEND MAY 5 TO TELL OF HIS PROGRAM

House Committee to Hear Pension Advocate.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend, retired elderly California physician, today was ordered to appear before a house investigating committee May 5 and describe his vision of prosperity for everybody by payment of $200 monthly pensions to the aged.

The head of the Townsend plan was served with the committee subpena at his Washington hotel. His personal counsel, Sheridan Downey, told newsmen he would be on hand ready for questioning and denied reports that the doctor was preparing to retire to a sanitarium.

Meanwhile, the committee again questioned Robert E. Clements, cofounder of the Townsend old age pension movement and heard Dr. Robert R. Doane, New York economist, reiterate his prediction of economic chaos if the Townsend plan should be adopted.

Bares Conference with Long.

Clements disclosed he had a conference with Senator Huey P. Long, shortly before the Louisiana senator's death, but denied intimations of Representative Lucas [Dem., Ill.] there was any discussion regarding a union of the Townsend and Long forces.

"Senator Long did not seem to agree on the Townsend plan any more than I did on his share-the-wealth movement," said Clements.

Clements said, however, that Senator Long's secretary, Earl J. Christianberry, was employed by the Townsend organization at $150 a week after the senator's death. He resigned, Clements said, when Mrs. Huey P. Long was appointed to the senate as successor to her late husband.

Clements, who resigned as national secretary April 1, testified under questioning that the Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd., corporate name of the Townsend organization, is the sole property of Dr. Townsend and eight other members of the board of directors, named after Clements' resignation.

Members Have No Control.

The witness said, under questioning, that no individual Townsendite or Townsend club member has any voice or interest, unless it be a sentimental one, in the disposition of the assets of the organization.

Chairman Bell [Dem., Mo.] and Representative Lucas [Dem., Ill.] brought out that under the California law under which the organization was incorporated, it can be dissolved at any time and the assets divided among the directors.

Discussing his relations with Dr. Townsend, he said Townsend felt that "I exercised autocratic control over the personnel and knew more about the inner workings of the organization than he did since he was traveling a good deal furthering the cause."

Clements sat through the entire testimony of Doane, who asserted he had been misrepresented in Townsend literature, the Townsend Weekly, and on Townsend radio programs, as an advocate of the plan.

Doane testified that the spending of $200 a month by all persons over 60 would speed up production to a point where natural resources would be devastated and their depletion hastened.

$10,000 Auto Death Suit Is Remanded for New Trial

A directed Superior court verdict in favor of Rush C. Butler Jr., 25 years old, 40 Locust road, Winnetka, son of an attorney, in the $10,000 damage suit brought against him by Mrs. Julia Cobb, 22 years old, 5440 Kenwood avenue, was overruled yesterday by the Appellate court. The court remanded the suit for a new trial. Mrs. Cobb sought damages for the death of her husband, Louis, who was struck and killed by Butler's automobile at Chestnut street and Michigan avenue in 1934.

You Don't Need a BEAUTIFUL FACE

Beautiful features are not necessary. Real beauty comes from the inside, a healthy body, a lovely complexion and lots of pep. That is what men admire.

Body poisons that are not eliminated properly are the cause of most unattractive, sallow, pimply complexions. If your blood is poisoned by wastes from constipated bowels, your skin often breaks out or looks dull and muddy.

Adlerika quickly and pleasantly removes these wastes from both bowels. Adlerika brings out foul matter that may have poisoned you for months, ruining your complexion and upsetting your system.

Miss E. S., Converse, Tex., says: "I have used Adlerika for just two weeks and I am amazed at how it has cleared up my complexion."

Mrs. W. T. M., Louisville, Ky., "My eyes were dull and my complexion poor. After trying Adlerika almost every one commented on my complexion. It has lost its sallowness and my eyes have a new sparkle."

Let Adlerika help you to clear up your complexion and make it smooth, clear and admirably lovely. Try Adlerika for just one week and see what an amazing difference it makes in how you look and feel. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

FALSE TEETH

"Stay Put" Says Druggist

"With my gums gradually shrinking I had difficulty keeping my plate in position with various denture powders. Most of them lasted only a few hours. Now I use FASTEETH and what a difference! I now wear my plate for 24 hours with absolute security and comfort. Fasteeth does not wash away or become thinned out, but "STAYS PUT" until I am ready to remove plate. FASTEETH is tasteless. Does not sour or cause foul breath. Holds false teeth all day long."

Accept only FASTEETH to enjoy false teeth comfort like you've never had before. Ask for FASTEETH at Walgreen's or any good drug store.

ELECT JOHNSON SCHOOL HEAD IN LIVELY SESSION

Mrs. Hefferan Charges Secret "Straw Vote."

took office a few weeks ago, then rose to remark that while his vote would be for Dr. Johnson, it was done of his own volition, and not after conference with any other board member.

"I am rather disappointed in Mrs. Hefferan," remarked Charles W. Fry, another member of the board. "She says she knows nothing of this election. Why, this subject has been kicked all around the country. I even heard it 1,500 miles away," [when he was vacationing in Florida.]

"The teachers discussed it, other organizations have discussed it, everyone knew what was coming. Mrs. Hefferan, if you will pardon my saying so, is much more familiar with this than the rest of us."

Reads Mystery Letter.

As proof of this point, Mr. Fry said he would read a letter from Mary J. Herrick, president of the Federation of Women High School Teachers, addressed to "Dear delegate." The letter closed with a warning that the reader must be sure to burn it, and "not just throw it in a waste basket in the classroom." The letter read in part:

"Things are popping. Just what the situation will be Monday it is not easy to predict. The newspaper articles have had some effect, we have reason to know, and several other articles as fiery have already been written. One is to come out Monday unless there is a definite understanding on 'what not' in the superintendency.

"There should be a good crowd at the board meeting. Get out the teachers, but in particular get PTA's and other nonteachers. Several hundred telegrams have been sent to the mayor from nonteacher groups, and a flood of others will continue.

The Board "Firing Squad."

"We need money to get out 30,000 copies of the April 'Chicago Schools' dealing with the superintendency situation. The first sentence in the lead article reads: 'Chicago keeps a firing squad, otherwise the board of education, for its supervision of superintendents, with orders to shoot when commanded.'"

In a formal statement, Dr. Johnson expressed his pleasure at being selected. His aim, he said, "will be to seek the coöperation of every member of the teaching staf, to place and maintain the Chicago public school system on the highest educational plane."

Since the death of Supt. Bogan, the school system was administered by a committee composed of the four assistant superintendents. In addition to Dr. Johnson, these men were James E. McDade, chairman of the committee; Frank L. Beals, and Charles J. Lunak. The vacancy as assistant superintendent left by Mr. Johnson's elevation has not been filled.

Dr. Johnson is 40 years old and a native Chicagoan. He is married and lives at 914 Lafayette parkway.

In addition to electing the superintendent yesterday, the board changed the name of the South Side Junior college, at 6800 Stewart avenue, to the Woodrow Wilson Junior college. It also appointed Attorney Joseph B. Fleming to represent it in tax suits.

Infant Weighing 37 Oz. at Birth Dies in Mishawaka

CITY HONOR STUDENTS TO GET SCHOLARSHIPS AND MEDALS TODAY

Eleven university scholarships and 83 gold achievement medals will be presented to high school and junior college honor students today as a feature of the city-wide observance of Youth week.

The presentations will be made at a civic assembly at the Union League club. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, will make the awards. Henry P. Chandler, honorary president of Youth week, will be principal speaker.

The Salvation Army will observe Youth week with a music festival at 8 p. m. tomorrow at 1634 North Kedzie avenue. Choral and instrumental groups from all parts of the city will participate.

Today has been designated "health and athletics" day and tomorrow "school and citizenship" day for Chicago's youth.

Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Big Ten conference, spoke yesterday before a Youth week luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Avery Brundage, president of the Amateur Athletic union and of the American Olympic association, also addressed the luncheon.

The Kiwanis club of Chicago will hold a miniature circus at its weekly luncheon meeting at the Hotel Sherman today in observance of Youth week.

ASSAIL COLLEGES FOR 'RECRUITING' NEW STUDENTS

Charge Invasion of Rival Campuses.

Present methods of colleges in recruiting students present far greater dangers than the practice of recruiting athletes, it was declared in a report adopted yesterday by the executive committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The forty-first annual meeting of the association will get under way today at the Stevens hotel with an expected attendance of 2,000 delegates and visitors.

The committee which submitted the report refrained from naming schools where undesirable recruiting methods are employed, but one educator said that recruiters even invaded the campuses of rival institutions at the beginning of each semester and attempted to induce students to change colleges. This and other problems were brought up a year ago at the association's convention by Bland L. Stradley of Ohio State university.

On High School Inspections.

On the subject of high school inspection, it was declared that "in many instances political influences of one sort and another have operated to make noneffective the whole purpose of inspection."

The educators also said that the increase in scholarship contests "has become so extensive as to lead to a wrong emphasis upon various activities and functions of our schools and programs." Further investigation was recommended.

Ask to Make Study.

Freedom to undertake an experimental study program in ten Chicago high schools as the basis for general curriculum revision in all city secondary schools was sought of the association in a formal request signed by Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of Chicago schools, and several others.

It was learned that tomorrow the committee on secondary schools will warn the McKinley and Waller High schools that in order to maintain their accredited status in the association they must improve their educational equipment.

SCHOOL SALARIES INCREASED.

Beloit, Wis., April 22.—[Special.]—Two hundred and fifteen public school employés here have been voted a $27,300 annual salary increase by the board of education.

RETIRED U. OF C. PROFESSORS ARE STILL STUDYING

18 Are Over 70, but Lead Active Lives.

A survey of the forty-eight retired University of Chicago professors—eighteen of whom are over 70 years of age—disclosed yesterday that the majority of the pensioned teachers are spending their leisure time in writing, lecturing, and further study.

The oldest living professor emeritus is Charles Chandler, now 86, of the Latin department. He lives in Alton. Mary McDowell, former head resident of the university settlement, is 81.

Four of the most active professors are 73 years old. One of them, Amos Alonzo Stagg, became athletic director at the College of the Pacific after forty-three years as athletic director and head football coach at the Midway. James Hayden Tufts, former chairman of the philosophy department and one time acting president of the university, is living now in Santa Barbara, Cal. Last year he published a volume on American social morality and this year has contributed to a number of journals.

New Book on Botany.

Dr. Shailer Mathews, emeritus dean of the divinity school, who will be 73 next month, is active in writing and lecturing, and Prof. Charles J. Chamberlain, emeritus in botany, recently published a volume on gymnosperms and is now busy writing one on cyads.

Dr. Ira M. Price, authority on the Old Testament, who will be 80 years old on April 29, works daily in his office in Swift hall on the campus. A member of the first Chicago faculty in 1892, he is professor emeritus of Semitic languages and literatures and author of 11 books.

Miss Marion Talbot, now 77, who was dean of women in the university's first year, will publish a volume entitled "More Than Lore" through the University Press this June. Prof. Andrew C. McLaughlin, emeritus member of the history faculty, now 75, last year published his work, "A Constitutional History of the United States." He is still active in writing and lecturing.

Woman Travels Extensively.

Prof. Elizabeth Wallace, 69, emeritus in French, has traveled extensively since her retirement and is reported to be considering flying to the Orient on the China Clipper.

Others who have passed the university's retirement age of 65 include: Dr. William E. Dodd, emeritus chairman of the history department, who is United States ambassador to Germany; Dr. Frank R. Lillie, 65, emeritus dean of the biological sciences, who divides his time between Washington where he is president of the National Research council, and his laboratory on the campus where he works out problems of embryology, and Gordon J. Laing, 66, emeritus dean of the human humanities, who serves as general editor of the University Press.

A number of other retired professors spend their time in research work on the campus.

SENATOR TOLD ABOUT 'FAULTY' RADIO BEAM IN AIR LINER'S CRASH

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], said tonight he had received information indicating the recent crash of an air liner near Uniontown, Pa., which killed 12 persons, had been caused by "something phoney" about the radio directional beam.

The senator made this statement after receiving a verbal report on the tragedy from Col. Harold E. Hartney, special aviation investigator for the senate commerce committee, of which Copeland is chairman.

Hartney had just returned to Washington after attending a series of hearings at Uniontown and Pittsburgh in connection with the accident.

"We're not certain, of course," Copeland said, "but we are pretty well satisfied there was something wrong with the beam. That poor pilot was miles off his course."

GROW NEW HAIR

HERE

Get rid of that old-fashioned idea that hair cannot be regrown. Science has found that the hair-growing structure (papilla) remains alive and ready to respond to proper stimulative treatment even long after hair has disappeared from the scalp.

Thomas has found a way to stimulate this dormant hair-growing structure to normal activity. First, Thomas treatment removes the causes of inactivity (usually one or more of 14 local scalp disorders) and then skillfully supplies the necessary stimulation and thus makes it possible for the hair to gain sufficient strength to push through the follicle and become visible again on the scalp.

Come in person to the nearest Thomas office TODAY and learn more about this precise, reliable method of growing hair, stopping hair-fall, and ending dandruff. No charge will be made for consultation or scalp examination. You will not be accepted for treatment unless your case comes within the scope of Thomas methods.

HOLT WOULD 'SIC' FEDERAL MEN ON WPA GRAFT TRAIL

Hopkins Foe Airs Effort to Shut Him Up.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Senator Rush Holt [Dem., W. Va.], renewing his attack upon Harry L. Hopkins and the WPA, today suggested the employment of department of justice agents to learn what became of a resolution introduced seven weeks ago to investigate charges of corruption and political favoritism in the relief administration.

Holt referred to the resolution of Senator James J. Davis [Rep., Pa.], which was reported favorably by the committee on expenditures in the executive departments, then pigeonholed by the committee on audit and control. Holt charged that Democrats had told him he should know better than to "bring this matter up in an election year."

"Harry Hopkins is doing more to destroy President Roosevelt than any other man in this country, Republican or Democrat," the 30 year old rabid New Dealer shouted.

"He is doing so because he is destroying the confidence of the people in the relief administration. The protests against the most corrupt extravagance and waste in the history of this country are not coming from Republicans; they are coming from honest Democrats who do not want their party destroyed by Hopkinsism and boondoggling."

Holt read excerpts from scores of letters from all parts of the country, charging, as he put it, "theft, forgery, misapplication, nepotism, political favoritism, extravagance, and waste." Samples included: Teaching children tap dancing when they had no food; planting shrubs around school houses when they needed repairs to keep out the rain; tearing up streets and leaving them that way when funds were dissipated by supervisory costs; forcing relief workers to sign affidavits saying they would support Senator Matthew M. Neely, Holt's Democratic colleague.

Anti-Bundesen Voter Is Fired.

A worker on WPA project 2210, Chicago, said he was dropped from the pay roll because he refused to vote for Dr. Herman N. Bundesen for governor.

"By actual count," Holt said, "64 per cent of the officials of the state of West Virginia have protested to me and of that number 70 per cent are Democrats."

Holt again denounced the Hopkins report "whitewashing" the relief administration in West Virginia. If Hopkins were put under oath, Holt said, "he could be brought up for perjury any time. He knows that report is nothing but a fraud and a sham."

Believes People Want Truth.

The senator insisted that it was the duty of Democrats to investigate the charges against the WPA administration and prove them true or untrue.

"We have spent millions trying to eliminate bugs, insects, and parasites in plant life," he declared. "Why can't we spend a few dollars to eliminate the termites from the WPA? We may shut our eyes to these charges, but 120 million American people will not shut their eyes."

Burglars Break Into Vault of Commiskey, Ind., Bank

North Vernon, Ind., April 22.—[Special.]—Jennings county authorities this afternoon reported that the vault of the Citizens bank at Commiskey had been robbed, with a loss, including damage to the vault, of about $2,000.

Bare Forgery Ring Defrauding County on Jury Pay Warants

A widespread racket to defraud the county treasury by forging jury pay vouchers through collusion of court clerks and bailifs has been under secret investigation for several days by Sherif John Toman, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, Chief Justice Walter J. LaBuy of the Circuit court, and the jury commissioners, it was learned last night.

A clerk in the jury commissioners' office and a Circuit court bailif, suspected of complicity in the fraud, were questioned at length yesterday. The personal bailif of a Circuit court judge is also under suspicion, according to Sherif Toman, who refused to reveal any names.

Plan Search of Records.

"We don't yet know how large the profits were in this graft," Sherif Toman declared, "but they may be extensive. Our examination of the partial records of one court for the last three months is only a prelude to a complete investigation of records for all the courts over a period of several years."

Sherif Toman revealed that the investigation has already caused apprehension in various official circles. Two judges of the Circuit court visited him yesterday fearful that their personal bailifs may be involved, the sherif said.

The fraud was first suspected several days ago when a man called on William H. Cruden, one of the jury commissioners, who acts as secretary for the commission, and wanted to learn how he could be selected for jury service.

Records Reveal Payments.

A search of the records disclosed he supposedly served a month ago in the Circuit court and drew $50 for his services. A pay voucher check bore his alleged indorsement, while a jury card stated he had been excused from serving.

"That's strange," said the applicant, "I have been sick in bed for nine months."

Commissioner Cruden took the matter up with Chief Justice La Buy, who called in Sherif Toman. The sherif at once put a special force of five detectives under Lieut. John Howe at work examining the jury list of the Circuit court since Jan. 1.

Lieut. Howe selected the names of sixty-two men excused from jury duty. He discovered that pay vouchers had been issued to thirty-four of them. Sixteen pay checks were cashed in one day by a loop finance company.

These facts were reported to State's Attorney Courtney. He assigned his first assistant, Wilbert F. Crowley, and another assistant, Mal Coghlan, to the investigation.

Signatures Are Forged.

In each of the 34 cases they found that the signature of the man excused from jury service had been forged on the pay voucher. This was learned through comparison with the card each prospective juror signs when he is placed on the jury roll.

Each year the county treasury pays a total of about $300,000 to jurors at the rate of $5 a day. On an average a juror earns between $30 and $50 in a court term of one month. Investigators in a similar jury scandal in 1930 estimated defalcations at that time totaled $150,000. The indictment of seven men followed. All were later freed except one, Ronald Fahy, who was fined $500.

O'BRIEN FREED; POLITICS BLAMED IN TAVERN FIGHT

A charge of interfering with a police officer against Lawrence C. O'Brien, former state representative from the Twenty-ninth district, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Eugene L. McGarry in the Municipal Jury court. The charge grew out of a brawl in a tavern at 820 North Clark street, in which O'Brien is said to have a part interest.

"This occurred during the recent political campaign, didn't it?" Judge McGarry asked Lieut. Walter McGloon, the complaining witness.

"Yes, but I don't know anything about it being politics," McGloon answered.

"During a campaign a lot of things are said and done which are forgotten after the heat of the campaign is over," Judge McGarry said. "I'm not going to take up the time of the court and waste the taxpayers' money in hearing this case."

During the day O'Brien was named in a $10,000 damage suit filed in Superior court by Charles Bowman, 119 North Mozart street, and his wife, Neta, who charged they were injured during the brawl in the tavern.

Two Children Owe Lives to Brother's QuickThinking

Marion and Kenneth Hansen, 11 and 3 years old, owed their lives yesterday to the clear thinking of their brother, Charles, 12 years old. The three had been left in their home at 3421 North Claremont avenue, while their father Ethan Hansen, a WPA worker, went to escort his wife from church. During their absence the home caught fire. After vainly attempting to extinguish the flames, Charles picked up his younger brother and carried him outside while his sister held to him and was guided to safety.

WOMAN DIES FROM SCRATCH.

Mrs. Mae Henning, 28 years old, 5343 South Union avenue, died last night in Billings hospital from an infection which developed apparently from a scratch.

EDITH M'CORMICK ESTATE SETTLES U. S. TAX CLAIM

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—The estate of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick of Chicago agreed today it owed the government additional income taxes of $15,000 for 1932. The estate was charged by the treasury department with a tax deficiency of $50,000.

The executor contended the government placed too high a value on the remaining assets of the Edith Rockefeller McCormick trust, an association formed by Mrs. McCormick to acquire and sell Chicago real estate.

The petition stated the trust lost several millions of dollars prior to Mrs. McCormick's death in 1932 and that the sums she had advanced to it were chargeable as bad debts, for which the estate sought deductions on its income tax report.

The agreement as to the amount of tax was entered in a stipulation before the board of tax appeals.

Magazine Editor Gets Reno Divorce and New License

Reno, Nev., April 22.—(AP)—John H. Shuttleworth, 48 years old, editor of True Detective magazine, was granted a divorce today from Mrs. Lutie C. Shuttleworth of New York City, and shortly afterward obtained a license to marry Mrs. Svea Liljeberg, 35, of Reno.

PLAN WPA MOVIE TO PROVE IT'S A SWELL PROGRAM

Another New Deal Stunt for Mr. Public.

Dramatization of WPA activities in motion pictures will be the next step in efforts of Illinois Works Progress administration officials to win public approval of the program in this election year, it was learned yesterday.

Within the last few weeks the regular state publicity staf of the WPA has been doubled, and one member is on a month's tour of the state to fill space in downstate newspapers.

Plans for the movie making began here last week with the private showing of a film produced for the Indiana WPA.

Getting the Public Enthused.

So impressed were Washington officials who viewed the picture that they ordered it circulated among all state WPA administrations to show them how they, too, could stimulate public enthusiasm for the works program.

With clever camera work, appropriate musical background, and an eloquent commentator, the movie dramatizes WPA activities. In one scene an automobile is wrecked by a locomotive to show the value of a project to improve railroad crossings.

A faked cross-country bandit chase, with lots of shooting, is shown to demonstrate the importance of WPA aid in building five Indiana police radio stations.

It Seemed Like a Good Idea.

The Illinois officials generally agreed this was effective propaganda, and that to emulate the Indiana idea would do no harm. Charles E. Miner, administrative assistant, said, however, that he thought the thing could be done cheaper.

The movie, which would run about fifteen minutes, would be shown at all theaters willing to include it on their programs, free of charge.

Frederick Stock, director of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will be the guest conductor of a WPA symphony concert at Orchestra hall on May 7.

Parke Brown, Political Writer for Tribune, Weds

Mrs. May Fletcher Van Wormer and Parke Brown were married yesterday afternoon at the Drake hotel. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fred Eastman of the Chicago Theological seminary. Mr. Brown is a CHICAGO TRIBUNE political reporter. Mr. and Mrs. Brown left after the ceremony on a motor trip to Asheville and the Great Smoky mountains.

Boy Who Fled a Foodless Home Is Found in Suburb

Walter Brown, 11 years old, 4342 South Pauline street, who left his home Monday when food supplies ran out, was found in Naperville yesterday with a companion, Edward Shaputis, also 11, of 4434 South Hermitage avenue. The boys had hitch hiked that far on their runaway trip. They were returned to their homes by Ald. John E. Egan [13th], who drove to Naperville to get them when he was informed that their families could not pay for their transportation to Chicago. Walter's father, Edward Brown, left his wife and five children a week ago. Mrs. Brown said her family was on relief, but that its last check was exhausted.

'LOOP FARMERS' TOLD NEED FOR MILK PRICE CUT

Prentice Points to Sales Decline as Proof.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

One hundred Chicago business men whose common interest lies in their ownership of farms met at the Union League club last night to hear E. Parmalee Prentice, author, noted authority on dairy cattle, and son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller Sr., talk on "Chicago and the Milk Industry."

E. PARMALEE PRENTICE.

The occasion was a meeting of the newly organized Chicago Farmers' club, a not for profit association of Chicagoans for whom the ownership of a farm represents an investment and, incidentally, a hedge against the possible effects of inflation.

Price Scale Too High.

The big trouble with the milk industry, Mr. Prentice told these loop dairymen, is too high a price scale. Milk, he said, has been slipping in competition with other foods. He predicted further decline in the sales volume of fluid milk by producers in Chicagoland and still greater inroads of powdered milk produced in distant part of the country unless the price of fluid milk to the consumer is reduced.

"If we can't sell milk at the price we want we will have to sell it at the price the consumer is willing to pay," said the speaker, whose Mount Hope farm at Williamstown, Mass., is one of the finest dairies in the country.

Attacks Tugwell Theory.

He was applauded when he made a veiled attack on the Tugwellian theory of attempting to bolster farm income by maintaining prices at artificially high levels and restricting production.

"We could fix the price by law," he said, "but what good would that do? If the consumer won't buy at a certain price he's not going to buy because that price is fixed by statute. We could limit production, but that would be merely an invitation to the milk industry to move to some other territory. Sales of fluid milk would decrease still further and sales of powdered milk, which have already gone up 800 to 900 per cent, would mount still further. And when powdered milk supersedes fluid milk it will be produced in places where pasture lasts longer and is cheaper—not in Illinois, Wisconsin, or Minnesota.

"At our farm we have found that when we raise the price of eggs one cent per dozen we have 'overproduction' and 8 or 10 cases left over. When we reduce egg prices one cent we can't fill the demand.

Looks at Delivery Costs.

"We should also look into the costs of distribution and examine the distributing companies' expenses. If we find that delivery and tax costs are too high we may encounter political difficulties, but we've got to face the facts."

The city farmers were told that the salvation of the milk producers lay also in improving the output of herds through modern scientific methods.

"It has been said," he continued, "that the advantage of an educated man lies in the ignorance of his neighbors. We American dairymen have the opportunity of raising our income through better breeding method."

Urges American Breed.

Mr. Prentice scoffed at the British idea that British breeds of cattle are superior. He urged the development of an American breed by building up herds of cattle with high production records ignoring British lines of demarcation, which, he added, were of comparatively recent origin. He made a plea for the plebeian unregistered animals with high records of performance.

"Use the highest index bull with the best producing cow," was his simple formula.

Among the Chicago "farmers" present were George W. Rossetter, former president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Edison Dick, Federal Judge John P. Barnes, J. Rockefeller Prentice, George Fairweather, treasurer of the University of Chicago; John F. Gilchrist, vice president of Commonwealth Edison; Emil C. Wetten, Clarence Buck, Republican nominee for state treasurer; William P. Sidley, William S. Monroe, Newton Farr, Leeds Mitchell, Lauren J. Drake, president of Union Tank Car company; W. H. Schendorf, and former United States Senator Charles S. Deneen.

Investment Becomes Hobby.

Chicago Farmers club, according to J. Rockefeller Prentice, secretary of the association, was the outgrowth of a spontaneous desire on the part of Chicagoans who had newly acquired farms to foregather and talk about their cows and chickens. Having bought farms largely as an investment these business men suddenly discovered that they had acquired an absorbing hobby. Meetings are held monthly and are attended by a large percentage of the members.

NAVIGATION WEST OF MONTREAL OPEN; FIRST SHIPS OFF FOR CHICAGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., April 22.—Navigation west of Montreal was declared open today with the Lachine canal, connecting the port of Montreal with the higher levels of the St. Lawrence river, being officially ready for business.

Among the first vessels proceeding through the canal were freighters loaded with newsprint, destined for Chicago and Detroit. Navigation to Montreal from the sea opened over a week ago, a record early date. The Soulanges canal, further westward than Montreal, will be open tomorrow night or Friday, so that vessels leaving Montreal today will not be delayed much.

Simultaneously, local shipping men issued statements expressing the belief that Canadian companies will be enabled this season to meet more effectively the competition given by United States boats on the Great Lakes. Under the new shipping act, which becomes effective Aug. 1, Canadian vessels must be used in transporting commodities from one Canadian port to another.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

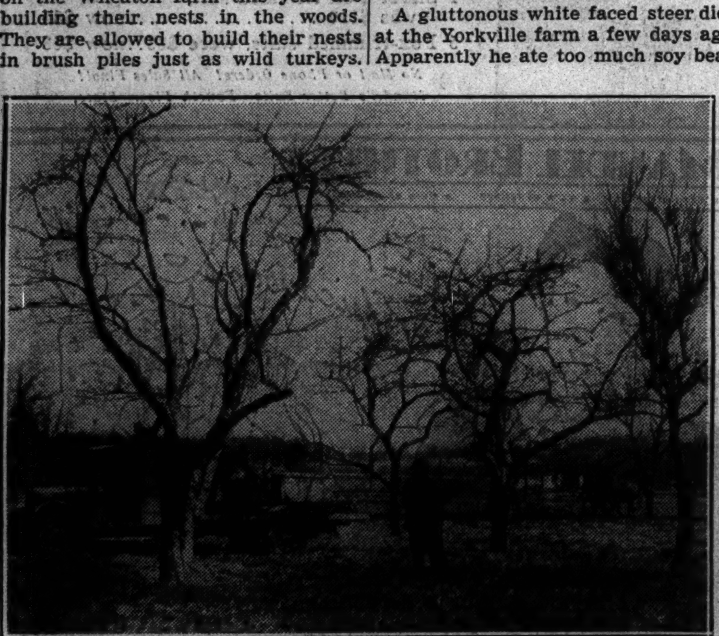
By Frank Ridgway

Incubator Turkeys.

April 22, 1936.

SEVERAL dozen turkey eggs will be hatched by artificial incubation this year for the Tribune Wheaton experimental farm. The farm's poultry keeper turned over eighty turkey eggs to a commercial hatchery at West Chicago last week. These eggs were collected from nests around the sheep barn where the hens would not be able to incubate their own eggs. The eggs will hatch in about four weeks.

Several of the 17 turkey hens kept on the Wheaton farm this year are building their nests in the woods. They are allowed to build their nests in brush piles just as wild turkeys. The hens and their poults will be given free run of the woods until next fall.



Workers are shown spraying apple trees with lime-sulphur. Apple, pear, and cherry orchards were all sprayed at the farm last week to protect the fruit against pests. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Fruit Trees Are Sprayed.

It's spraying time on the Tribune farms. Last week the apple, cherry, and pear trees were given their first lime-sulphur spray in the Wheaton farm orchards. The spraying was done when there was little wind stirring in the orchards.

Lambs Sup on Cow's Milk.

Winkin, Blinkin, Nod, and Gog, the quadruplet lambs at the Wheaton farm, seem to be thriving on a combination of sheep and cow milk. In addition to the milk they get by nursing the ewe, the flockmaster feeds the lambs Guernsey milk with a bottle every four hours, night and day. The four lambs get one pint each of milk every twenty-four hours. Since the Guernsey milk is rich, testing about 5½ per cent butterfat, it is diluted by adding three tablespoonsful of water to each pint of cow's milk.

Visitors and sheep men consider the quadruplets at the Wheaton farm quite unusual. The flockmaster, who is a veteran sheep man, says this is the second set of quadruplets he has ever seen. The other four lambs were born on his father's farm in Ontario, Canada, many years ago. They were produced by a Cotswold ewe.

Up to yesterday there were 182 lambs born in the Wheaton farm flock. So far none of them are triplets and only a fair percentage of this spring's lambs are twins.

Two of the ewes in the sulphur water experiment at the Yorkville farm have produced twins.

Eats Self to Death.

A gluttonous white faced steer died at the Yorkville farm a few days ago. Apparently he ate too much soy bean hay and shelled corn after being taken off silage. The farm manager had used every precaution in gradually taking a lot of steers off silage. The exact cause of the steer's death is not known, but it is supposed that he ate some wet soy bean hay and perhaps a small amount of shelled corn that might have been fermenting. The workers have found it necessary to shell only small quantities of corn at a time this spring, because of the high moisture content of the kernels which causes the corn to heat readily when several hundred bushels are piled into one bin.

Repair Pipe Line Leaks.

The hydraulic ram that has been forcing a continuous supply of spring water up from the Fox river valley to a high hill for 200 steers all winter had to be shut off the other day when the frost left the ground and two leaks appeared in the pipe line.

The leaks were soon repaired and the old ram was put back at its task of pumping water up a high hill, a job it has successfully handled for many years.

Commend Rights' Defenders.

"Resolved: That the association commends those persons who by their appeals to the court to enforce their rights under the constitution have helped to curb the illegal conduct of the committee and the commission, and it further recommends that they and all other victims of illegal acts of the senate investigating committee and the federal communications commission seek civil damages from the agents of the committee and the members and employés of the commission for the trespasses against them and demand the prosecution of all involved in the odious affair under the criminal statutes of the United States."

Law "Ignored and Defied."

The report read by Col. McCormick said that "the direct harassment of the press by the notorious Black committee" was a recent development of the "inquisition" it had carried on since it was organized last July.

"Its hearings," according to the report, "have been conducted in a manner which is a combination of a police court pettifogger with the blundering arrogance of a Jeffreys. Its agents have consistently ignored and defied the law and the bill of rights. Its members have as consistently disclosed by their words and actions that, regardless of any lofty directions in the resolutions under which they act, their real and sole purpose is to harass and punish any who presume to exercise their rights of citizenship. Thus the earlier operations of the committee teach us the tactics we may expect in its current attack on the freedom of the press."

The report then sketched the history of the Black committee and outlined the steps by which court decisions in the past have restricted the interference which such committees may exercise upon the private affairs of citizens.

Halted "for the Present."

Denouncing "the whole odious business" of the seizure of telegraph messages of citizens, including publishers, by the Black committee in conjunction with the federal communications commission, Mr. Barnum declared that action taken by the association, in aid of members whose rights were invaded, "has served to put an end to these illegal efforts to obtain the private papers of citizens of the United States, at least for the present."

"I think it is safe to say," he added, "that there will be no more of it by the federal communications commission. This association owes a debt of gratitude to the publishers who had courage enough to institute proceedings in the court which for all time should settle the question."

He said that the right of freedom of press was not inserted in the constitution for the benefit of publishers as a class, but for the benefit of the people as a whole.

Trustees of Public Rights.

"Publishers," he continued, "are merely the trustees of the right of the people to have information on which to base their opinions. Whether that information may be in the nature of news, editorial comment, or advertising, it is imperative in this day and age, if that valuable heritage is to be preserved, that all publishers should be vigilant not only in its defense, but alert to prevent any insidious attacks from whatever source they may come."

Mr. Davis said that early in the NRA newspaper negotiations he became convinced that "certain influential groups in Washington desired to have the press overhung with threats that at least would temper criticism of the more courageous newspapers and possibly silence entirely all criticism from those not so courageous."

"Smacks of Dictatorship."

The recent actions of the Black committee, he went on, constituted a "shocking attempt to impair or abridge the freedom of the press and the rights of the individual." He charged the situation "smacks pretty much of European methods under dictatorship."

Mr. Davis attributed to the proponents of certain legislation the motive of seeking to hold "these threats over newspaper editors" to "intimidate them and thus prevent frank and pointed criticism of their acts."

"The freedom of the press, granted in the first amendment to the constitution," he went on, "was not placed there for the benefit of publishers, but solely for the protection of the people. Therefore you, as publishers, are the trustees of this priceless privilege, and it is your duty to defend and preserve it for the welfare of the people."

"Same Old Struggle."

"The attacks we have on freedom of the press are not new," said Dr. Bryan. "Civilization isn't new. Our struggle isn't new. The world isn't new. Everything has come back here again in the same old circle. We find ourselves today under electric lights, in air conditioned buildings, meeting the same kind of problem under a different guise that mankind has met all the way up in its struggle from the beginning. If there was no struggle there would be no life."

He said that freedom of the press meant freedom for all.

"Whether we like it or not," he went on, "we are responsible for the press, because we have got to be wise enough and courageous enough and patriotic enough and generous enough to admit freedom for people that we do not like. We have got to know that if we are doing this thing, we are pursuing a course that is infinitely difficult."

"Rights in Serious Jeopardy."

Mr. Sulzberger, a member of the original code committee of the association, said he was not convinced that the Roosevelt administration had designs upon the freedom of the press or any fundamental rights of citizens, but that he believed those rights had been "placed in serious jeopardy."

He emphasized that the constitutional guaranty against abridging the freedom of the press was "the statement of an essential liberty of a free people, and not a grant of immunity extended to a particular trade or profession."

"We have called insistently and justly," he added, "for the full maintenance of the freedom of the press. The people, in supporting this call, have emphasized the mutuality involved therein. It is their right, this freedom of the press; their right to have accurate news, fairly presented—to have the news [in the words of a great man to whose memory I owe far more than I can ever repay]—their right to have the news 'without fear or favor, without regard to any party, sect, or interest involved.' That is the other, and equally important, aspect of freedom of the press."

DOCTOR, 82, DESTROYS HIS LEDGER TO ESCAPE APOLOGIES OF FRIENDS

Altoona, Pa., April 22.—(AP)—Dr. J. L. Brubaker, 82 year old physician, burned his ledgers today, wiping out thousands of dollars owed him by patients.

"When my friends, who have no money, meet me on the street they apologize for not meeting their bills," he explained. "Some are afraid I'm going to prosecute them. It makes us both embarrassed."

The doctor said he hadn't the slightest idea how much is owed him, but added: "I don't care."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS.

DIZZY SPELLS

Headaches—Nervousness

When you keep intestines free from excess acid, waste and poisons—keep bowels moving regularly and blissfully—keep kidneys working naturally—

THEN there isn't much chance of having dizzy spells—Get Kruschen.

Try just one jar and let the "little daily pinch" of Kruschen Salts show you how to keep internally clean—help keep free from headaches—nervousness—restlessness.

Take one third of a teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—6 precious salts in one.

Let it show you the way to help feel younger—more active and ambitious.

Millions the world over take Kruschen—a blend of 6 precious salts—to keep feeling fit and fine all the time.

No drastic cathartics—no constipation—but blissful daily bowel action when you take your little daily dose of Kruschen—Get That Kruschen Feeling.

SEVEN INDICTED AT ST. PAUL FOR HAMM KIDNAPING

Karpis Included; U.S. Puts $5,000 on His Head.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(AP)—Seven persons were indicted by a federal grand jury today, four days after the department of justice announced solution of the June, 1933, abduction of William Hamm Jr., brewing company head.

Only one of the seven—Alvin Karpis, America's public enemy No. 1—is still at large. The department of justice in Washington, D. C., today offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to his apprehension.

Among those indicted were three men whose arrest last week preceded the department of justice's "solution" announcement, which also disclosed Hamm was kidnaped by the same gang which six months later seized Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, and held him twenty-one days for $200,000 ransom.

Hamm was held four days and paid $100,000 for his release.

One to Be Arraigned Today.

District Attorney George F. Sullivan said John Peifer, St. Paul night club proprietor, would be arraigned tomorrow, but that he was uncertain when three others held here would be arraigned.

Those indicted in addition to Karpis and Peifer were:

Charles [Big Fitz] Fitzgerald, 60, former convict, accused of shaking Hamm's hand as he was forced into an automobile a block from his brewery.

Edmund C. Bartholmey, former postmaster at Bensenville, Ill., whose home was identified by Hamm as the "hideout" where he was held prisoner.

Byron Bolton, who pleaded guilty and is awaiting sentence as one of the kidnapers of Bremer.

"Doc" Barker Already in Prison.

Arthur [Doc] Barker, serving a life term in Alcatraz prison as one of the ringleaders in the Bremer abduction.

Elmer Farmer, one-time tavernkeeper at Bensenville, Ill., serving 20 years in Leavenworth prison for arranging the place where Bremer was held 21 days.

While the grand jury was considering the Hamm case, Harold E. Stassem, South St. Paul, Dakota county attorney, named Fitzgerald as the "signal man" in the South St. Paul pay roll robbery Aug. 30, 1933, in which a police patrolman was killed. Stassem named members of the Barker-Karpis mob as companions of Fitzgerald in the $30,000 robbery.

The Principal Witnesses.

Principal witnesses before the grand jury were Bolton, who was the government's star witness in trials which resulted in conviction of Barker and a number of others in the Bremer abduction; Bartholmey, who waived immunity; William W. Dunn, who delivered the ransom money, and the kidnap victim himself.

On motion of George Heisey, assistant United States district attorney, bail for Fitzgerald, Pfeifer, and Bartholomey was set at $100,000 each.

Two indictments were voted against the seven men—one charging conspiracy to kidnap and the other transportation of a kidnaped person in interstate commerce.

No date was set for the trial.

In announcing the offer of $5,000 for information about Karpis, the justice department also put a price of $2,500 on the head of Harry Campbell, Karpis associate.

FOUND DEAD

ALEXANDRA CARLISLE.
(Mrs. J. Elliott Jenkins.)

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Alexandra Carlisle, 50, English born actress, who in 1932 won the gold medal of the Academy of Arts and Letters for her performance in the play, "Criminal at Large," was found dead this afternoon in her room in a Broadway hotel. She apparently died of a heart attack.

She was the wife of the late J. Elliott Jenkins, Chicago inventor and radio engineer, who shot and killed himself on June 9, 1934, in his Chicago apartment. He was estranged from his wife at the time. She had returned to the stage about two years before, after nine years as a member of Chicago society.

The veteran actress, who in 1912 was commanded by the late King George V. to appear before him as Georgina Vesey in "Money," last appeared on the stage three weeks ago at the manager's tryout theater of the WPA theater project in the Bronx. Her rôle was advisory. She was not in any financial difficulty.

During the presidential campaign of 1920, Miss Carlisle, then Mrs. Albert Pfeiffer, temporarily left the stage for politics, obtaining the nomination for delegate to the Republican national convention from the Eighth Massachusetts district. She was elected and was the principal woman speaker from that state at the Chicago convention.

WOMAN'S SLAYER KILLS HIMSELF TO PREVENT ARREST

After arguing for more than two hours with a Lake county [Ind.] deputy sherif who sought to arrest him, Steve Yon, 35 years old, 2625 Polk place, Gary, killed himself with a shotgun early yesterday in a swamp near Ross, a small settlement southwest of Gary.

A few hours earlier Yon had shot and killed his divorced wife, Elizabeth Yon, 30 years old, as she was bidding good-night to her fiancé, Frank Degrachia, 1048 Tyler street, Gary, in front of her home in Ross.

SENATE REJECTS SLASH IN FUNDS FOR U.S. AGENTS

Proposal of McKellar Is Shouted Down.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Efforts of Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.] to lop $225,000 from the appropriation for the federal bureau of investigation were defeated overwhelmingly in the senate this afternoon when both Democrats and Republicans rallied to the defense of the so-called "G-men" headed by J. Edgar Hoover.

The feud between McKellar and Hoover, mysterious in origin, but variously ascribed to Hoover's publicity propensities and McKellar's inability to get jobs in the bureau, was reduced to a strictly personal matter when not a single other senator arose to speak in favor of cutting the appropriation.

Vandenberg Lashes Out.

The astute Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], who has distinguished himself at this session by killing the Florida ship canal and smoking out Secretary Wallace on the huge AAA bounties, saw another Achilles heel on the Democratic side when McKellar advanced upon the "G-men." He pounced upon McKellar and soon had half a dozen Democrats supporting him, including Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson.

McKellar's amendment, which the appropriations committee had approved, cutting the bureau's allowance from $6,025,000 to $5,800,000, was roared down in a voice vote, while only McKellar and one other unidentified senator voted for it.

"I will go as far as the senator from Tennessee in all matters of economy, but it seems to me that this is a peculiar place to start economizings," said Senator Vandenberg.

Suggests Other Cuts.

"The bureau says it needs 175 more men. If the senator wants to save 175 men, I will join him in taking that number from the 18,235 employed by Dr. Tugwell's resettlement administration. I will join him in abolishing 175 of the 43,641 jobs under Mr. Hopkins. I will join him in removing that number from the 19,548 jobs under the HOLC, or the 2,422 jobs under the long interred NRA."

Senator Vandenberg said it was not due to the voluntary action of the bureau of investigation that additional men were needed, but the action of congress in placing new responsibilities upon them. He mentioned the new statutes covering the robbery of banks, interstate flight to avoid prosecution, killing or assaulting federal officers, interstate transportation of stolen property and extension of the kidnaping and extortion laws. He said the bureau now has 13,755 cases pending, of which 7,000 remain to be assigned; that in 62 major kidnapings the identity of all participants has been ascertained, sentences totaling 1,853 years have been imposed, and 28 kidnapers have been sent to prison for life.

George Joins in Attack.

Senator Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.], said the American people do not want the appropriation decreased but that "there isn't a single group of organized criminals that won't breathe easier if it is decreased."

Majority Leader Robinson said he "wouldn't awaken a single hope in the bosom of a gangster by withholding the necessary funds from this bureau."

In his examination of Hoover before the committee, McKellar had accused the bureau chief of promoting his self-glorification in the movies and magazines and of taking unto himself credit for the solution of crimes that shauld have gone to federal field agents or local law enforcement agencies. Specifically, he was piqued because Hoover had not given enough credit to the Memphis police chief for the capture of George [Machine Gun] Kelly.

McKellar Cites Figures.

The federal bureau proved so popular in the senate, however, that McKellar confined himself to figures. He said Hoover himself had asked the budget bureau for only $5,800,000, an increase of $800,000 over the present fiscal year, but the house had arbitrarily increased the appropriation to $6,025,000.

The item is carried in the regular appropriation for the department of justice, while the bill also made appropriations for the departments of state, commerce, and labor, the total being $116,000,000.

The visiting girl delegates have already submitted to similar ratings. The two lists will be compared so that the 5 foot 7 inch co-ed won't find herself paired off with a sawed-off mate.

WITH BUTTONS
Here's how trousers look with the button closing. Presentable, perhaps, the hour they're new and freshly pressed —then gaps... wrinkles... creases... signs of shabbiness ... growing steadily worse. Others see it, even though you're unconscious of it.

WITH TALON
What a difference Talon makes—thin, smooth, continuous —like a seam. Trim in any position. No wonder the foremost custom tailors sponsor it . . . the greatest manufacturers of men's clothing have used it in increasing quantities for three and one-half years.

When you put on a pair of trousers closed with a Talon slide fastener, you notice their convenience . . . their security. You glance in the mirror . . . you are struck by the decided improvement in appearance—their trimness, drape, and freedom from bulk.

Men everywhere are discovering these values . . . made possible by the Talon trouser fastener. Already 8,000,000 men wear trousers closed this modern way. Thousands more, each day, are buying suits tailored with Talon and finding out for themselves the extra values made possible by the closure.

So rapidly is the preference growing that already 474 manufacturers are tailoring trousers with Talon. And progressive retailers all over the country are ordering more and more of the suits they sell, with this important tailoring improvement.

Trousers tailored with Talon are changing the preferences of men everywhere. Wear a pair and find out why . . . Ask your clothier.

The Talon trouser fastener is made especially for trousers. The slider locks so that it cannot slip down. Talon is precision-made . . . always dependable . . . always works easily. Can't catch in underclothing because of protective underflap. Makes disarray impossible . . . refines drape and finish. Rustless . . . unharmed by dry cleaning and pressing. Gives perfect service far beyond the life of a suit.

THE NEW TAX BILL.

The new tax bill, whacked out to meet the President's specifications, covers 249 pages. Its provisions remained a secret of the majority members of the house ways and means committee until the eve of publication of the full text. Even the Republican members of the committee have been kept in the dark. Their criticism, embodied in the minority report, is necessarily directed at the principles underlying the bill rather than at its specific provisions. The debate in the house is to begin before any member has had time to study the bill adequately and is to last only sixteen hours. Then the rubber stamp if the plans of the New Dealers do not miscarry.

Obviously in one important sense the members of congress, to say nothing of the generality of citizens, are being asked to pass upon a measure of which they are profoundly ignorant. In another and more important sense, every congressman knows all that he needs know to make a judgment on the merits of the measure. The details are obscure but the objectives are fully revealed. They can be stated with great certainty because they have been stated with great certainty by the men who inspired the bill.

The bill is calculated to discourage business institutions from building up reserves. Without reserves businesses cannot weather a storm. At the slightest sign of trouble they will be forced to make sharp reductions in their principal item of expense, which is wages and salaries. They cannot delay the wage cuts and dismissals, as many did in 1929, until months after the storm has broken. The bill will therefore promote social discontent. At the same time it will prevent industries from taking advantage of lowered prices to invest in new buildings and machinery. It is this kind of investment which has brought about recovery from previous depressions and has contributed largely to such recovery as we have achieved in recent months, but that avenue is now to be closed.

The bill is calculated, therefore, to create both a widespread demand and an all but universal necessity for the government to step in to rescue and therefore to control productive property of all kinds. Under those circumstances there will be no need for such relatively circuitous and indirect devices as, for example, AAA. Production quotas will be determined in Washington and imposed without the payment of bribes. Industry will likewise receive its orders without the pretense of voluntary coöperation which was preserved in NRA.

Two further consequences may be foreseen. One is the failure of this communist organization of industry to function effectively. It will fail because the brains required for an efficient centralized control of all agriculture and all industry do not exist; because politics will not select even the best brains available for the purpose, and because Americans are wholly unaccustomed to this kind of regimentation and will resist it as vigorously as farmers would have resisted crop control if there had been no bribes attached to it, as the nation resisted prohibition, and as industry resisted NRA code restrictions.

The second consequence will flow from the first. As the controls fail to function the repressions will begin. Free expression of opinion will be first curtailed, then prohibited. Consumers will be forbidden to express their desires. Producers will be forbidden to protest against hampering regulations. The denial of economic liberty, if persisted in, as it must be under doctrinaire auspices, will eventuate in the denial of civil liberty. To destroy private property the New Dealers must also destroy the bill of rights, for only by suppressing opinion can they maintain their tyranny.

The declarations of Marx and Tugwell leave no doubt of the objective in view. Tugwell learned much from Marx; Tugwell has taught much to Roosevelt. There was no popular demand for any such tax as that on corporate surpluses. The plan was sprung without warning in a message to congress from the President. Those who have given close study to the government's finances—including Lewis Douglas, the former director of the budget—are satisfied that the needs for relief can be met quite as fully as the President contemplates, but within the framework of a balanced budget if only the wasteful expenditures are curtailed.

This solution has been rejected because one wing of the President's advisers, led by Tugwell, desires a revolutionary change in social and economic organization, and another wing, led by Farley, wants billions to spend for votes.

CRIME WITHOUT PUNISHMENT.

A bit of upholsterer's cord led some intelligent New York detectives to the murderer of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton. He was a twenty-four year old youth, an upholsterer's assistant and an ex-convict. For twelve years he had been proving that he was dangerous. As a boy he began stealing and because of his youth was put on probation. Later he was arrested for grand larceny, was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny, a misdemeanor, and given a suspended sentence. Within a year he was arrested for burglary and allowed to plead guilty to a less serious charge and sent to the Elmira reformatory. In a little over a year he was paroled and four months later was arrested for stealing a car.

Again he was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny and sent back to the reformatory for violation of parole. Within a year he was released again and was brought into court on the open larceny charge but was allowed to go on the plea of his lawyer that he had a job and could help support his mother, with whom he would live. All this time the boy was showing an incorrigible and criminal disposition and all the time certain administrators of the law were seeing that he escaped due punishment and was at liberty to commit crimes. The consequence was a horrible murder which surely accuses more persons than its depraved perpetrator.

People cannot ignore the evidence or avoid the conviction that more is involved in these miscarriages of law than merely an unwise sentiment or a patient endeavor to reform the wayward or incorrigible. In the general treatment of criminals there are too many indications that men who can save lawbreakers and convicts from just punishment gain advantages by doing so. All the men who turn criminals loose are not expert penologists striving to solve the major problems of social unfitness and maladjustment. Many are men using political influence for purposes of their own. They have the support, no doubt, of people who believe that punishment is not in all cases the best remedy when a man has gone wrong. Oftentimes the real influence is used by a person who knows that the released criminal will continue to go wrong and who wants him at liberty to make use of him.

This is one of the darkest pages of American politics. Until the record can be cleared, American criminality will be infinitely worse than need be.

MANAGEMENT WITHOUT RESPONSIBILITY.

Partially because our neighbors to the north have chosen to continue as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations rather than to secede as did the thirteen American colonies, and partially because all public acts are still promulgated in the name of the king, American citizens have developed the theory that their measure of liberty is greater than that of Canadians. In this connection it is interesting to compare burocratic treatment of a great institution in the two countries. Both nations are unions of states or provinces and have passed almost identical railway regulatory laws.

After "investigating" the matter of railway passenger rates in the eastern section of the United States, principally through the medium of listening to the opinions of railway passenger men and representatives of the various state commissions, our own interstate commerce commission peremptorily ordered a reduction in fares. Admittedly the new rates were below cost basis, but a bare majority considered that increased revenue would result because of the greater number of passengers attracted. The board of railway commissioners for Canada in a parallel case regarding freight movements observed: "The board, under the railway act, has no profit and loss responsibility." In still another case involving the same principle the Canadian commission remarked: "As it has not been established that the rates as charged are unreasonable, the board is not justified in ordering the installation of the experimental rates asked for."

In short, the interstate commerce commission is tinkering with about 25 per cent of the revenues of several of the greatest American railway systems "without profit and loss responsibility" and on a purely "experimental" basis. A sovereign would not assume this degree of management, but burocracy thrives on it, thus proving that it can be more tyrannical than a monarch.

STOWAWAYS ON THE CLIPPERS.

[San Francisco, Cal., Chronicle.]

Familiar is the fact that many of our commonest weeds, and some of the most pestiferous, arrived on our shores as surreptitious alien immigrants. The seeds came in the baggage of human immigrants, or sticking in their clothes or even in the caked mud on their shoes. They came in bales and boxes of merchandise and in many other ways. Scores of foreign weeds and plants thus came into California alone and are now naturalized here at no will or wish of ours.

Now the clipper air mail service to and from the orient has unexpectedly introduced a similar problem. This time the feared stowaways are not seeds but insects. The threat is acutely realized in Hawaii. The Hawaiian planters fear not so much stowaway bugs from the mainland as from the islands lying between the crossroads of the Pacific and Asia.

For example, Guam is the home of a destructive leaf hopper against which Hawaii has long been carefully guarding. This unwanted creature, embarking on a steamer bound from Guam to Hawaii, took a good many chances of perishing on the way. But taking passage on a Clipper the bug has to stick it out only one day. Thus man, making travel between Guam and Hawaii easier for himself, has also made it easier for the leaf hopper. The danger to the plantations of Hawaii has been greatly increased.

Therefore the island plant quarantine service, with the coöperation of all the interested agencies, is rigidly inspecting every arrival from the islands to the west. The planters are sending a scientific expedition to Guam to ticket the bugs to be looked out for.

Weeds and bugs like to travel. Every improvement in transportation has increased their spread about the world. The law of compensation works here as everywhere else.

VITAL SPOT.

Sympathizer—Poor little fellow! Where did that cruel boy hit you?

Little Boy—Boo, hoo! We were having a naval battle and he torpedoed me in the engine room.—Pathfinder.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

WHEN WE USED TO WANT to make ourselves agreeable at a home where we were visiting we used to ask the dear little boy of the family what he intended to be when he grew up. And, wiping his dirty face with his left hand, he usually said that when he was a man he was going to be President of the United States or a baseball pitcher or a policeman. But now when we ask the dear little boy if he intends to be President of the United States or a baseball pitcher or a policeman he always says sweetly: "Ah, be your age; when I grow up I'm goin' ter be a boondoggler, of course." And one perfectly darling little child that I asked the other day if he intended to be President when he was a great big man said earnestly: "Boloney, you big stiff; I'm not goin' to work when I grow up. What sort of a simp do you take me for? Naw, I'm goin' on relief." Ah, how our ideals and ambitions do change with the passing years!

⁂

FLAME TOO BRIGHT.

Orange flame is beautiful,
  And yellow flame is fine;
One is bright as morning light,
  And one as rich as wine.

But leave alone this pointed blade,
  This blue-rimmed edge of heat,
This moment when two forces blend
  And two bright dangers meet.

There is no space for beauty here.
  This edged point of flame
Will burn within who touches it,
  And cleave upon his name;

Will bear him down upon its blade,
  And burden him to death.
It has no heart for loveliness;
  It is too bright for breath.

ARE WE NOT, all of us, too careless about people we let into our homes? The ghastly crime in New York brings up that question. A man says he's come to fix the gas meter, to inspect the plumbing, or to deliver a package. We throw wide the door and bid him enter. I've decided that nobody I do not recognize as a friend can come into my house again unless he shoves his vaccination certificate under the door, a letter from his pastor, and a certificate that he is all right signed by the janitor. If he can get past our janitor he's got to be all right or go to the hospital for six months. And I am even wary about friends. They may be friends and they won't commit murder, but, doggone 'em, they're liable to sit down and drink up all my best Scotch. What to do?

⁂

SUMMER IS COMING and we've got to get all set to kick about the heat just as we kicked about the cold last winter. But not yet. First let us brush the snow from our shoulders and knock the icicles from our eyebrows and keep away from that icy place in the walk. And then we can see clearly to moan about that hot weather mote in our vision.

ADVENTURE.

This is adventure—
To go
Facing a fresh-blown snow,
Blinded by whiteness
And stumbling along
Through the thick of the blast;
Within me a song,
And a heart beating fast;
The road fully lost,
The wind from the north
Bringing ever more snow
From the caverns of heaven.
This is adventure—
Thus faring forth
In the winter,
At seven!

This is adventure—
To wake
Hailing a spring daybreak—
Winter winds vanquished
By the warm, glowing sun;
Then to rush from the gate
And, jubilant, run
Through the field; there to sate
My spirit, fresh-drunk,
With a whiff of bird-song—
All nature awaking
And up to new tricks!
This is adventure—
Thus faring forth
In the springtime,
At six!

HEMOLYTIC JAUNDICE.

THERE is a peculiar type of jaundice, which affects children particularly, known as hemolytic [blood dissolving] jaundice, in which the red cells of the blood become very fragile. As we can well understand, if the red cells crumble and disintegrate, anemia will follow. Associated with the condition is enlargement of the spleen.

Jaundice is the chief symptom. It may appear even in early infancy and remain a constant factor. A study of the blood will show that the number of the red cells is considerably reduced—by as much as a million or more in each cubic millimeter. The course of the disease continues without abatement and there are occasional periods in which the patient will be very ill. At such times the temperature will rise and jaundice will increase. During these intervals of acute illness the red cells may drop to a still lower level.

In this type of blood destruction removal of the spleen during a period when symptoms are not acute is followed usually by striking improvement if not complete cure. In fact, removal of the spleen is the remedy. It is a practical procedure and but little danger need be apprehended if the operation is performed by a surgeon of great skill.

The case is related of a child of 12 whose first complaint was of pain in the chest. For some months the appetite had been poor. On examination she was found to be undernourished with marked yellowing of the skin. The blood disclosed the typical picture of hemolytic jaundice. Removal of the spleen resulted in an uneventful recovery with a return of the blood cells to normal.

A woman aged 33, the mother of the patient above cited, related that twelve years before she had experienced considerable pain in the lower abdomen, nausea, and vomiting. Accompanying these symptoms was jaundice which had persisted and from which she had not been able to obtain relief. During the last year the yellow shade of the skin had deepened and there were numerous vomiting spells accompanied by dizziness. In addition, there were attacks of shortness of breath and weakness. Examination showed but a trifle over two million red cells per cubic millimeter [normal five million]. In her case an enlarged spleen was removed with complete recovery. These two individuals illustrate the hereditary character of the disease. In fact, it is sometimes called chronic family jaundice, as it may occur in two or more members.

Enlargement of the spleen is sometimes the first sign of the disease, and along with this there will be various manifestations of abdominal discomfort which increase during the acute periods. Sometimes the true state of affairs is overlooked and hence undiagnosed, as the jaundice may not be intense. There is no particular pain in the gall bladder region and the stools are not clay colored, which is characteristic of jaundice due to obstruction.

Care must be taken not to confuse the condition with obstructive jaundice, in which the ducts conveying bile to the intestine become plugged by stones, mucus, parasites, or even dried bile. Sometimes infection leads to the blocking of these ducts because of swelling. The whites of the eyes will then appear yellow and sooner or later the skin of the entire body will show evidences of bile absorption. There is considerable itching, particularly if the condition continues for a few days, and the urine will be bright yellow to brownish green in color. The blood will contain so much bile that chemical tests will disclose its presence easily.

As most of us know, the common type of jaundice is called "catarrhal," in which inflammation of the main bile duct closes its outlet into the bowel. This is never fatal and recovery is complete, although several weeks may elapse before the swelling subsides.

These types of inflammation are mentioned to emphasize the importance—in any form of yellowing of the skin—of ascertaining the cause as speedily as possible so that the proper remedial measures may be applied.

X-RAYS AND CANCER.

A. H. F. writes: You say that "while X-ray can cause cancer it is also powerful in destroying malignant cells." Is it not then dangerous to take X-ray treatments?

REPLY.

X-rays can destroy normal as well as diseased tissue. Applied to a cancerous growth, they are beneficial, as many tumor cells will be killed. Sometimes normal cells are injured, but great skill in using the X-rays will ward off this danger. The unpracticed employment of these powerful rays is to be guarded against.

UNCLE SAM, MONEY LENDER.

Chicago, April 20.—Most of these people who secured loans from the government are as unable to repay them today as they were to repay the original mortgage holders, just as there are many millions on relief today as unable to take care of themselves now as they were two years ago. Now the government is foreclosing on these loans and in Cook county alone we have an average of thirty foreclosures per week. The excuse the HOLC officials give is that the people refuse to repay these loans, are a bunch of chiselers and are looking for something for nothing. However, there are many cases which are being foreclosed without investigation. The people who are termed chiselers by these political appointees are all home owners who struggled and sacrificed and saved in order to acquire a home. They were such deserving people two years ago that Roosevelt saw fit to form a corporation to take care of them. Now, even though their condition has not changed one bit, except getting $55 per month on government projects, they are termed chiselers, defaulters and cheats.

Would it not be possible for our government to be just as liberal with these true blue American home owners and give them a little more time in which to repay these loans? They could do the same with these Americans as they are doing at the present with the foreign governments, which at present owe almost ten times as much as these Americans who a few years ago were the backbone of the nation. Remember, also, that foreign debts were once cut in half. Moratoriums seem to be in effect for every one but home owners.

THE FATHERS OF FUTURE PAUPERS.

Dubuque, Ia., April 15.—This administration has done more damage to the American people than all the ravages of disease and war have ever done, and this by their method of handling relief. They have wrecked the manhood, ruined the ambition, and weakened the morale.

The administration states that relief will have to continue for years to come. So we the victims of an incompetent maladministration have decided to organize a society called the Fathers of Future Paupers and demand our share and a bonus while there is yet something left to share, before it is entirely wasted by the reliefers and maladministrationists.

MEANING AND PURPORT.

Chicago, April 19.—It is difficult to understand the meaning and purport of The Tribune editorial of April 18, entitled "Justice Brandeis and Justice Cardozo." It is un-American in spirit and perversive of the very ideology to which The Tribune has of late given vigorous emphasis. The editorial, it seems, can be interpreted in but one way. It is a hint, not at all veiled, to the learned justices to place their Jewish origin above all else. Their judicial opinions, the editorial defintly implies, are not to derive from their deepest convictions, from their many years of the study of the constitution, from their knowledge of American affairs, or from their philosophy of the law. Your editorial suggests to Justice Brandeis and Justice Cardozo to be guided in their interpretation of the constitution by the interests of their racial or religious group. Is this the sort of Americanism that The Tribune would seriously advocate? Is it not the glory of our country that millions of citizens of diverse origin give it their undivided loyalty? Are not Justices Brandeis and Cardozo acting in the best spirit of the American tradition when, in evaluating the nation's fundamental law, they disregard the effect of their opinions on one group or another?

Solomon Goldman.

ADORATION.

Chicago, April 12.—I beg to correct a statement which appeared in the April 12 edition. Under a picture on page 12 you wrote, "Adoration of an effigy of the dead Christ is the chief feature of the Good Friday service. . . ." This quotation refers to a ceremony of the Greek Orthodox church. I wish to remind you that Christ, not the image, is adored. Only pagans adore effigies.

INTERESTING IF TRUE DEPARTMENT.

Monee, Ill., April 20.—I live in a small community of 400 people. This village has a WPA project consisting of fixing the streets and roads and the labor is of a high type. The superintendent of this work is without experience or technical training and yet he got the job. Besides being an alderman of the village and justice of the peace he operates a grocery store and is a traveling salesman, and his wife is the village treasurer.

In all fairness this superintendency should have been given to one of the men, and there are many of them, who have experience in road building. The real supervisory work is done by the engineer.

St. Louis, Mo., April 13.—Our party is returning to Chicago by motor and yesterday, driving through the southern part of the state, we were amazed to see the number of 1935 Illinois license plates still in use in that country known as Egypt.

Why are we Chicagoans always put to fear by the threat of arrest for failure to have our plates on a certain given date and then fined if we haven't secured them; or is it still 1935 between the towns of Mount Vernon and Cairo on highway 37?

WANTS ESTATE SETTLED.

Chicago, April 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like information regarding my brother's estate. I am administrator and have an attorney but don't seem to get anywhere. 1. He gets angry when I go to his office and tells me to wait and he'll write and let me know if there is anything doing. 2. It has been three years and nothing has been done. Not any of the tenants have paid rent for six months and [3] there is no money to do anything with. Can I resign as administrator and how should I go about it?

M. D.

1. It seems probable that you have some clews as to the reason for his attitude.

2. Ordinarily an estate should be settled shortly after the expiration of one year.

3. If you mean that there is no money to pay taxes and expenses, this would largely account for the delay. You might try talking the situation over with Assistant Judge Kelley in the conuty building.

LENGTH OF RESIDENCE NO AID.

Chicago, April 17.—[Friend of the People.]—My father came to the United States in 1898. Was there a law put into effect that a man who was in this country since 1904 would automatically be a citizen?

D. K.

No; mere length of residence in this country does not confer citizenship upon any alien. It appears that the inquirer's father, in order to become a citizen, should file a declaration of intention [first paper] and, when the same is at least two and not over seven years old, apply for final papers.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY LLOYD FANGEL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—The danger of Britain becoming a center for foreign political intriguers and spies has caused such great concern to the home office that this year's appropriation for the secret service has been raised from $900,000 to $1,250,000.

It is said that during the last few months a veritable army of spies has entered England from all parts of Europe and Asia in connection with the $1,500,000,000 expansion scheme for the fighting forces.

The main source of interest for foreign powers is the British air force, its tremendous expansion and the many new types of fighting planes.

The sensational case recently of Dr. Herman Gortz, who was convicted and sent to prison on the charge of being a German agent and having made sketches and detailed notes of air bases, held the public eye for many days. It brought out to the man on the street what subtlety and cleverness was employed to discover military secrets, and how much care had to be taken to protect these things from foreign spies.

The duty of watching over these agents is primarily that of Scotland Yard, but there is another powerful organization of which the outside world is unaware.

This is the secret branch of the foreign office, highly organized with ramifications all over the world. Men of the staf have a knowledge of the principal foreign spies and their assistants, numbering more than several thousands, and as soon as one of them is missed from his usual haunts warning is flashed to London.

The special branch of the Yard then gets to work and does not drop the matter until the unwelcome visitor has been traced. From that moment on the spy is never allowed far from supervision.

Because of the nature of its work, the secret service never has to make account of its expenditure in the national budget. The appropriation is spread over the various branches—for not only does the foreign office have its staf, but the admiralty, the air ministry and the war office do as well.

These stafs carry out three types of work. The intelligence service proper finds out and files all kinds of information. The secret service goes after data that must be obtained in an irregular or underhanded way—to this branch belongs the usual spy. The third group deals with counterespionage, that is, protecting the nation and its secrets from foreign agents.

Such rigid care does the last group take that recently an important official from the air ministry was detained in an airplane factory for many hours until he could satisfy agents as to his identity.

PUSH PLANS TO SPEED TRIAL OF BATHTUB KILLER

Attorneys Hint Insanity Plea Defense.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—John Fiorenza, confessed slayer of Nancy Evans Titterton, was locked up in the Tombs this afternoon after a series of breath taking maneuvers which carried him from a cell to the police lineup, back to the neighborhood of the Beekman place crime, and into Homicide court.

Nervously clenching and unclenching his hands and biting his lip in contrast to the braggadoccio he displayed after his arrest yesterday, the 24 year old ex-convict seemed at times to be dazed by the speed with which he was hurried from place to place today.

That swiftness will not abate, according to District Attorney William C. Dodge, who hopes to have the grand jury at work on the case tomorrow, and to have Fiorenza before a trial jury within three weeks.

Insanity Plea Hinted.

There was an immediate show of fight by attorneys retained to defend the young upholsterer when he was taken before Magistrate Thomas Aurelio.

The attorneys indicated that insanity might be the defense, said that Fiorenza denied he had confessed the crime and suggested that there are "many unusual circumstances" to be brought out in the purported confession to police.

As soon as they were through with questioning the nervous prisoner under the glare of the lineup lights, detectives whisked him uptown to check on further revelations they said he made to them, especially in reference to how he disposed of the cord used to tie Mrs. Titterton's wrists.

Fail to Find Cord.

Fiorenza said, according to the detectives, that he left the Titterton apartment after placing his victim in the bath tub, walked to nearby Fiftieth street and deposited the cord in an ash can. The detectives could not find it on the return trip today.

Fiorenza was handcuffed to Dr. Adolphus Morgan, colored, accused of homicide by illegal operation, when he left Homicide court for a cell in the Tombs.

In elaborating his story to the detectives today, the prisoner gave an account of his movements after he left the Titterton apartment.

They said that after throwing away the cord he entered a candy store owned by Max Wunch on 1st avenue to telephone his employer and attempt to establish an alibi by explaining that he was late for work because he had to report to a probation officer.

"Knew She Was Dead."

After talking to the employer, Fiorenza said, he walked out of the candy store, looked up the street to see whether he were being followed, and started to walk southward on 1st avenue.

"I knew she was dead by that time," the detectives said he told them, "because I had turned water on her to make sure."

He said he entered a cigar store, where he telephoned his sweetheart, Pauline de Antonio. He talked to her for a short time, but refused to divulge the nature of the conversation.

"I knew," the detectives quoted Fiorenza as saying, "I had made a mistake. I couldn't help it. I couldn't get her out of my mind. All Thursday night I couldn't sleep for thinking of her. I thought I loved her, I guess."

As for the sweetheart to whom he was engaged and planned to marry perhaps in June he said, "I guess she won't even come to see me when I'm in prison. I guess she's through with me. I don't blame her. I don't care what happens any more."

Girl Refuses to Believe.

Today in the Bronx Miss De Antonio professed to have complete faith in Fiorenza, declaring she can not believe he is guilty of the crime and insisting she still loves him.

"I don't believe any of it," she said. "He's the most wonderful fellow and most grateful and most respectful. He wouldn't do anything like that. I don't believe any of it."

The prisoner's mother, Mrs. Theresa Cupani, became hysterical during his arraignment in Homicide court. She was led from the courtroom.

Two lawyers, one a woman, appeared for Fiorenza at the arraignment. They were Theresa E. Di Cracco and Henry Klauber. Klauber said he would apply at once to have the prisoners examined to determine whether he is insane.

The case was adjourned without Fiorenza pleading to the slaying charge. Assistant District Attorney William O'Rourke asked for a week's adjournment, but Klauber said he would consent to only forty-eight hours. Magistrate Aurelio finally postponed the arraignment until April 28.

"Of course," commented the magistrate, "we don't know that the case has been solved yet. But if it has been solved it proves that no murderer may hide if the case is handled intelligently by the police, as was done here.

"As a citizen I am extremely proud of the work done by the police in solving a baffling murder."

"Assuming," interjected Klauber, "that it has been solved."

Judge La Buy Offers Plans to Speed Up Circuit Court

Changes in Circuit court procedure, designed to speed up disposal of litigation, are proposed in a plan to be submitted by Chief Justice Walter J. LaBuy to the judges of the court at a special meeting next week, it was learned yesterday.

One proposal is to set up a conciliation division of the court in which efforts would be made for settlement of all suits by agreement. Lawyers and their clients would be summoned before a judge of this branch to state their cases informally, and the judge would endeavor to bring about satisfactory adjustments.

Trial the Last Resort.

Cases which cannot be settled would then be put on the contested calendar for trial.

Another suggestion is the setting up of a calendar division and a contested motions division in order to concentrate administrative work in two judges, leaving all other judges free to devote all their time to actual trial work.

Under the present system each judge spends the greater part of his morning disposing of motions and continuances. As a result, lawyers, clients, and witnesses often have to make repeated visits to the courts before their cases are actually put on trial.

LaBuy Awaits Other Views.

Judge LaBuy declined to discuss his proposals in detail before they have been submitted to the other judges for their views.

It was learned, however, that he recently spent several weeks visiting other large cities to study court procedure in the hope of getting ideas for improving methods here.

> William Girley, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Daniel Flanigan, robbery, 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Cornelius Harrington.

The Cook county grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted five true bills charging robbery with a gun and assault to murder against four members of a bandit gang as the aftermath of the shooting and wounding of Police Chief Richard H. Bailey of Maywood and two county highway policemen in a running gun battle after a $975 holdup two weeks ago.

Two of the gunmen are in custody. They are Walter Dembrowski, 23 years old, 909 North Hermitage avenue, and Joseph Tworek, 24 years old, 1323 North Bell avenue. The others, Frank Korezykowski and Walter Kania, 27 year old paroled convicts, were named by the two in custody and are sought.

PARTNERS CLASH; CLERK HURLED INTO SHOWCASE

The affairs of the Graceland pharmacy at 3265 North Clark street are in turmoil, to speak conservatively.

Last night William E. Wallace, 2465 Blaine place, who formerly owned the store outright, entered and found Daniel Hepner, a clerk, at work. This made Mr. Wallace angry, as he had discharged Hepner. Without more ado he picked up the clerk and tossed him through a showcase.

Hepner went to the Town Hall police and complained. He said that he had been hired back by Clarence P. Larsen, 3413 North Clark street, formerly a chiropodist, but now Wallace's partner. And, Hepner declared, Larson owns the controlling interest in the drug store. Wallace said that he really owned ten of the twenty shares in the store corporation, but that somebody had stolen two of his share certificates.

That isn't quite all the story. Christian Larsen, 77 years old, 3228 Wilton avenue, father of the ex-chiropodist, went to the Felony court yesterday and obtained a warant charging his son with embezzling $12,000 from safe deposit box. This money, it was alleged, as used by the junior Larsen to buy his share of the pharmacy.

The injured Hepner—his head was cut on the showcase—was so bewildered by the intricacies of his business that he decided to ponder awhile on whether he should obtain a warant for Wallace's arrest.

Warns D. A. R. Boondoggling Menaces U. S.

Speaker Calls Vote Buyer Deadly Enemy.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Boondoggling was described as a deadly enemy in an address today at the forty-fifth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Constitution hall. The speaker was Dr. Gus W. Dyer of Vanderbilt university in Nashville, Tenn. Three thousand women of revolutionary ancestry gathered from all the states of the union, Alaska, and Hawaii were present.

"It would be difficult to name a more deadly enemy to general welfare than the man who seeks to entice American citizens, who could maintain their sovereign citizenship, to degrade themselves by selling their independence for material aid from the government," Dr. Dyer said. "That the general distribution of government charity to American citizens under the misleading title of legitimate aid should be regarded by the public as in the interest of those who are thus degraded and in the interest of general welfare reveals a condition of ignorance and a loss of self-respect that are most alarming.

"All charity under the name of public aid to those who are able to take care of themselves in any way is deadly in its effects on those who accept it and deadly in its effects on the general welfare. The most degrading and the most destructive type of charity is that which is distributed under political direction and the most degrading type of political charity is that which is under partisan control."

Enthusiastic applause greeted Dr. Dyer's address, but criticism of the speech was voiced by some members following the session.

At the session tonight Mrs. Eli Dixson of Roseville, Ill., former regent of the D. A. R. in Illinois, was nominated for the post of vice president general in the national organization. Mrs. Dixson is the only Illinois candidate this year for a national office.

An Illinois leader of the Daughters this afternoon was told by Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York to "go home and do her knitting," but it didn't ruffle her a bit. Instead she went ahead and criticized the congressman's proposed amendment to the constitution.

The Illinois leader was Mrs. Vinton Earl Sisson of Winnetka, widely known and approved in the D. A. R. ranks as chairman of the committee on national defense through patriotic education. Her committee report strayed into the hands of Congressman Marcantonio before the time she was scheduled to read it. He noted the section which read:

"A number of the proposed amendments that congress is asked to consider have to do with the power of the Supreme court to pass on the constitutionality of laws passed by congress; others would abrogate the rights of the several states to govern themselves. One of the most farreaching of these was introduced by Vito Marcantonio of New York and is very similar to the Socialist party's workers' rights amendments. This socalled Republican would completely change our form of government by legislative process, for he asks the government to establish and take over national resources, properties and enterprises in manufacturing, mining, commerce, transportation, banking, public utilities, and other business to be owned and operated by the government of the United States or agencies thereof."

Whereupon Congressman Marcantonio sent word to Constitution hall that "the Daughters of the American Revolution are not acting like the mothers of the revolution" and that "they should go home and tend to their knitting."

Mrs. Sisson, however, went ahead and read her report, omitting only the name of Congressman Marcantonio. She referred to him as "a socalled Republican."

Earlier in her report Mrs. Sisson emphasized the theme of this 45th congress of the D. A. R.'s when she said: "Since the very beginning of the society's organization the study and defense of the constitution have been a part of the program of activity. The fathers of the American revolution wrote this constitution. We, the Daughters of the American Revolution, can do no less than endeavor to preserve it."

Then Mrs. Sisson proceeded to point out that there are pending in congress approximately 70 proposed amendments to the constitution. "In no other phase of our national life has this 'boring from within' process been more apparent than in the congress of the United States," she said.

According to CULBERTSON

A SAD DILEMMA.

Whenever my opponents arrive at a difficult-to-bid slam contract, fulfill it, and then pseudo-politely turn to me and say: "Thank you, professor! We never could have reached that one without your excellent convention!" I don't know whether to feel a certain pride or burst with rage. It is a little too much to have one's own brain child used against one!

Naturally enough I have had to grin and bear it for a number of years. There is no way that I know of to bar my opponents from using the 4-5 no trump convention or the asking bids—for that matter the whole system. I wish there were! Here is a hand played against me last week; the asking bids, used against me, were too darned accurate!

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 no trp	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 no trp	Pass	4 diam*	Pass
4 spades†	Pass	6 clubs‡

*North's four diamond bid was well considered to obtain vital information about the hand's only weakness.

†Response showing the spade ace and second round diamond control.

‡North now has all the information he needs to contract for six and avoid seven. He knows that South does not hold the diamond ace, but that he does hold the king. [South could not have the other form of second round control, a singleton, because in that case he would not have bid no trump previously.] The slam is bid in clubs for two different reasons: first, the heart suit may require ruffing out and, second [even more important], North wants the opening lead to be made up to, not through, South's king of diamonds.

Obviously there was nothing my partner and I could do but take our ace of diamonds [otherwise we would have lost it] and concede the rest of the tricks.

I murmured something about a royalty due me as the inventor of their bids, but they didn't seem to hear me.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My right hand opponent opened the bidding with one spade. I held the following hand: ♠K 10 9 8, ♥K 7 5, ♦J 10 8, ♣Q 4 3. Naturally, I passed. Next opponent bid two spades and my partner doubled for a take-out. Opening bidder passed and I passed also, feeling sure we would defeat two spades. The next hand redoubled and my partner passed, as did the opening bidder. Should I have stuck by my guns or run out to two no trump?

Answer: If your partner was reliable, both in bidding and on defensive play, you certainly should pass to the redouble. If he was inclined to weak take-out doubles or could not be relied on for good defense, you should run out to two no trump.

Four Squares.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Four Squares" is a block which has been designed especially for young girls who are learning to sew or who desire to emulate their mothers and make their own coverlets. The three patches used in the single block are the fundamental patches with which the earliest pioneers cut when they advanced from the crazy quilt patches to the four and nine patch patterns. Light and dark blue prints, combined with plain blue and white materials, are the favorite colors for young girls. Only 35 pieced blocks, surrounded by a three inch border, are required for a quilt measuring 66 by 90 inches.

Koyke Superb in Her Acting of Butterfly

Becomes Real Character to Her Audience.

"MADAME BUTTERFLY."

Presented by the San Carlo Opera company in the Auditorium theater, Wednesday afternoon, April 22, 1936.

Madame Butterfly	Hizi Koyke
Suzuki	Florence Wylde
B. F. Pinkerton	Rolf Gerard
Kate Pinkerton	Charlotte Bruno
Sharpless	Mario Valle
Goro	Francesco Curci
Yamadori	Natale Cervi
The Bonzo	Natale Cervi
The Commissary	Fausto Bozza

Conductor, Carlo Peroni.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Hizi Koyke entered so wholeheartedly into her enactment of the title rôle in "Madame Butterfly" yesterday that the men and women who composed the matinée audience left the Auditorium theater convinced that they had seen something more than just another good performance by the San Carlo Opera company. This was no play acting, so it seemed, but a flesh and blood drama of real life, to which they had been privileged and enthralled witnesses.

Koyke was Butterfly, not merely because she is a Japanese herself and might be thought for that reason to be especially well suited to the part, but because she understands, either consciously or instinctively, the methods by which the magic of high art may be made to transcend limitations of time and space. In the person of Butterfly she was wooed and won. In the person of Butterfly she tasted despair and death.

The performance recalled Ernest Newman's profound observation on that first act finale. Puccini's dilemma—whether to preserve the childishness and the coquettishness of the 15 year old Nipponese maid or to calmly sacrifice verisimilitude to the exigencies of drama and allow his character to become a mature and passionate woman for the sake of the tremendous love music that was churning in his brain—was solved, as we all know, by his throwing himself full on the second of the two horns. The versatile Koyke was able to forget not only the mincing characterization she had given half an hour before but even the centuries old tradition of feminine prettiness in her own racial background. She became a European for those mad pages of the score that begin when Pinkerton crushes out his cigaret and end with the fall of the first curtain.

Rolf Gerard sang the part of the suave lieutenant whose understanding of the dangers of inter-racial love grows so tremendously between the beginning of the first act and the end of the third. He made him a thoroughly unsympathetic type of man, the doomed victim of his own shriveled sensibilities. Gerard, like the good artist that he is, is willing to abandon such opportunities for self-justification as the drama might be made to afford and bend all his efforts toward an adequate discharge of his duties to the plot as a whole.

Mario Valle, the villainous Scarpia of Tuesday, reappeared in the grateful part of Sharpless, to do his best to prevent the tragedy, and, finally, to soften it. Valle has voice and presence, with a bluff, likeable personality that fits well into Sharpless' character.

To Florence Wylde went the heavy task of making real on the stage the tragic and foreboding Suzuki. She managed to preserve the air of the professional pessimist even in the enchanting duo during the cherry blossom business, where Puccini succeeded in committing to his ruled paper not only a happy combination of notes and meter but even the witchery of youth and spring and hope itself. Miss Wylde has a rich, dark-hued voice and considerable dramatic power.

Carlo Peroni's quiet competence on the conductor's stand was assurance enough that no one in the audience would be torn from his preoccupation with the unfolding drama by any gaucherie of rhythm or tempo or balance during the entire course of the afternoon.

A Home Must Be Furnished for Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

No, satin won't do. It's beautiful on those carved rosewood, Victorian chairs. And they've used it at Vassar in their big room for the students, I understand. They have a beauty done in yellow satin, I hear from a decorator friend. But you'll have to wait five or ten years for that sort of thing.

And that robin's egg blue velvet for the walnut sofa is out, too. Yes, a pale gray plain broadloom rug and pale gray walls would be charming with those rich chintzes, but I'm afraid that's out, too. You know it would be a wreck. And so would you. And so would the children.

You have to reconcile yourself to postponing that interior decorating job for the living room and the dining room until it won't mean nagging, and scolding, and fussing, with the children over the natural wear and tear of the early years—such as the usual number of finger marks, forgetting to shed wet or muddy galoshes, the predilection of the pup and kitten for sleeping in the very choicest chair, and the tucking of feet under the young person who loves climbing on soft, upholstered furniture.

Delicate and perishable fabrics, colors, and furniture, and an ideal of immaculateness, plus perfect orderliness, have to be postponed while the children are young, or life won't be worth living for any of you. This doesn't need to dash all your decorating ambitions—you can have a warm, colorful, attractively-furnished, well-equipped home—but you must plan it so that the children can be at ease in it, or home will degenerate into being nothing but a house.

Unfair of Man to Ask Woman to Drop Career

Especially if He Earns Modest Income.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

When a man trained in the southern rôle of husband, provider, and protector meets a northern woman trained to the career of an independent and successful business woman, there's bound to be tremors about the compatibility of a union of such diversely trained souls. When the man with a formerly high financial rating has met the depression difficulties commonly experienced, and the woman continues blithely on her way as head of a business that suffered comparatively little during the great downhearted era, the romantic situation is further threatened with problems of adjustment.

Mr. K., the southerner, loves the woman and she gives him encouragement. Their likes and dislikes, their tastes, their pleasures, appear to offer no barrier. But the woman insists that her work go on and that she give as much time to it as she has always done, and the man does not consider this a worthy wifely attitude. He must start all over again. Already he is beginning to show an upgrade in his business, but still is a long cry from his former position of affluence.

This is no young problem. They are both frankly middle aged, the man a widower with 20 years of sole provider behind him. He is a sod widower, and a lonely one. But the position of playing second financial fiddle in his own home raises a terrific barrier and, as he sees it, the woman never will relinquish her hold on the business she has built up.

"If she only were willing to live on what income I make now, the man argues, "that would be all right. But she argues that she has long been used to living without stint, she could not adjust herself to it when there is no need to do so."

It's considerable to ask of the woman, we think, to adjust herself to the minor income after her years of work building up the organization of which she is head. It is folly to expect it of her. But that doesn't solve the problem of whether the man could find happiness playing the secondary financial rôle. Naturally, the woman never could adapt herself to the same dependent wife rôle of the deceased wife. But two people having reached middle years and appreciating what companionship means ought to be able to work out some adjustment. In this case, it looks as if the man will have to concede to the woman's demands. If he can't offer her companionship without quarrels or arguments, what would she have to gain by marrying him?

Servants Use Gift of Marie Dressler to Open Night Club

Savannah, Ga., April 22.—That $50,000 which Marie Dressler willed to two Negro servants, Jerry and Mamie Cox, was drawing them smile winning dividends at a newly opened Negro night club and tourist camp on the Ogeechee road today.

"We sure carried out one request of the boss," grinned Jerry. "That was, 'Be careful of the sharks—don't let them take your money.'"

Former butler and maid of the screen actress, the Coxes call their place Coconut Grove.

They're "happy to say that everything's paid for."

The investment brought a gross return of $500 at the opening on April 11, they said, and the nightly patronage since has ranged from 100 to 150 persons. Customers come from cities afar as well as from the 40,000 or so Negro population of Savannah.

"The six tourist cabins are renting well," Cox said.

Quaker Congregation Will Be Established at Evanston Church

Evanston is to have a Quaker congregation, it was revealed yesterday when news of the purchase of the old Christian church there by a Chicago meeting of Friends was announced. The church, at Greenleaf street and Maple avenue, has been unused for 15 months, and the Friends bought it from the Evanston Trust and Savings bank for $8,000.

Dr. B. F. Andrews, president of school district 76 in Evanston, will be head of the congregation and Milton H. Hadley will be the pastor. The first service will be held on May 3.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, former executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, is one of the board members.

BANISH BLACKHEADS WITH OXYGEN

What Oxygen Does to Keep Your Skin Fresh and Free from Trouble:

1. Wakes up a coarse, muddy complexion.
2. Quickly refines open pores.
3. Lightens discolorations; makes lines and spots less visible.
4. Helps to break up the greasy deposits that cause blackheads.

If your complexion now lacks radiance and FRESHNESS—if it is too oily or too dry—do as thousands are doing . . . change from ordinary beauty creams or soaps and use the one and only beautifier containing OXYGEN.

From the first time you use Dioxogen Cream, your skin will become clearer and fairer . . . the pores less open, the complexion more ALIVE.

You may feel just the tiniest tingle when Dioxogen Cream touches your skin. This is the oxygen entering the mouths of the pores. Oxygen cleans pores as nothing else can. And even more important: — Oxygen breaks up the greasy deposits which spread the pores, and cause blackheads.

Use Dioxogen Cream as a night cleanser and as a daytime powder base. Thus, for 24 hours a day Dioxogen Cream brings benefit to your skin . . keeps it FRESH and protects it against complexion faults that make the skin look old and lifeless.

Although Dioxogen Cream costs more to make than any cream we know, it is one of the most economical you can buy.

Dep't stores and druggists have already sold millions of jars at 50¢ and $1. Try it.

AT ALL WALGREEN DRUG STORES

WHAT ARE YOU DOING, HONEY?
I'VE BAKED A PIE WITH Spry. THAT NEW SHORTENING. THEY SAY IT MAKES PASTRY SO MUCH FLAKIER, CAKES LIGHTER
AND IMAGINE, FOODS FRIED IN Spry ARE AS EASY TO DIGEST AS IF BAKED OR BOILED
CERTAINLY LOOKS GOOD—SO SMOOTH AND WHITE
YOU CAN KEEP Spry RIGHT ON THE PANTRY SHELF. IT STAYS FRESH INDEFINITELY AND IS ALWAYS RIGHT FOR EASY CREAMING
SOUNDS TO ME AS IF Spry PUTS IT ALL OVER OTHER SHORTENINGS
YES, THE MAKERS OF Spry SAY THEY'LL GIVE ME DOUBLE MY MONEY BACK IF Spry ISN'T THE BEST SHORTENING I EVER USED—SO I'M GOING TO SEE LET ME BE THE JUDGE!

WE DON'T WANT DOUBLE OUR MONEY BACK! WE NEVER TASTED CAKES, PIES, FRIED FOODS EVEN HALF AS DELICIOUS. WHY DON'T YOU TRY Spry AND SEE!

Try Spry

Try Spry—you'll be amazed, delighted! There's no other shortening like it. There couldn't be. Other shortening manufacturers haven't the plant, the equipment, the up-to-date scientific methods that have put Spry years ahead of ordinary shortenings.

That's why we unhesitatingly say, "Double your money back if Spry isn't by far the best shortening you ever used." For we know Spry is a better product and we know you'll find out it's better the very first time you try it!

Looks different—IS different

You can see at a glance that Spry is whiter, smoother, creamier. It's purer, ALL-vegetable. And here's one of its many big advantages. You don't need to keep Spry in the refrigerator. It stays fresh right on the pantry shelf.

This means that Spry never gets chilled and stiff but is always right for quick, easy creaming. And ease of creaming doesn't merely mean less work when you're mixing a cake. It means a better cake every time—lighter, finer-textured.

Spry's superiority for frying would fill a whole chapter. It doesn't smoke and smell up your kitchen. Doesn't absorb food flavors or odors. (This means you can fry with Spry over and over.) Doesn't soak into the food and make it greasy. Spry quickly forms a crisp golden crust that seals in flavor, seals out grease. Foods fried in Spry are actually as easy to digest as if baked or boiled.

Wonderful cakes and pastry

Use Spry in any of your recipes. See the extra deliciousness it adds even to your good baking. Cakes and biscuits have a new lightness and delicacy, a new fineness of flavor. Pastry is miraculously tender and flaky. It cuts at the touch of your fork, fairly melts in your mouth.

Don't you feel eager to try Spry? Then, please do! Try it at our invitation—at our risk. Read our daring offer, then hurry to your grocer for a can of the finest shortening you ever used—Spry! Don't delay. Get Spry today—NOW.

Freddie's Ma Loses Tilt in Custody Fight

Los Angeles, Cal., April 22.—(AP)—Freddie Bartholomew's mother, fighting a lone battle to regain legal custody of her famous actor son, lost her opening courtroom skirmish today and made immediate plans to "go ahead with the fight."

Superior Judge Harry Archibald denied a motion of the mother, Mrs. Lillian May Bartholomew, to set aside the guardianship of Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, Freddie's aunt.

A surprise move by the boy's father, Cecil Llewellyn Bartholomew, left the mother opposed on three sides. Affidavits denying her arguments were read from the father, the aunt, and from Freddie's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fredric Roberts Bartholomew.

Previously Freddie's parents had stood together, each filing affidavits contending that Miss Bartholomew took the boy from England "on a pretext" and became his guardian "by mistake."

But as court opened today a new affidavit and a cablegram from Bartholomew, in London, were read by Miss Bartholomew's attorneys. The father's statement urged that the aunt be permitted to remain as guardian.

The aunt declared she had cared for Freddie during the last nine years. In that time, she stated, the mother had made no attempts to see her son. She said she had reason to believe Mrs. Bartholomew "is engaged in writing a series of articles on the case for London newspapers," and wants to see Freddie "only for the purposes of exploitation and publicity."

Young Bartholomew is reputed to make more than $1,000 weekly. Judge Archibald in his decision declared:

"I have to deny the motion. The boy is making large sums of money; some capable person should take charge of it. There is no showing of inadvertence on the part of the guardian in the suit, and for that reason the motion to set aside the guardianship must be denied."

ENGAGEMENTS

Dr. and Mrs. Fred Lyman Adair of 5844 Stony Island avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Agnes Jennings Adair, to Dr. John Frederick Kuhn Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John Frederick Kuhn of Oklahoma City, Okla. Miss Adair is a graduate of the University of Chicago. Dr. Kuhn received his medical degree from the University of Oklahoma. The wedding will take place late this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Garland of Champaign, Ill., announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Lucille, to Robert Kenneth Cameron of 824 Bonnie Brae, River Forest. Miss Garland attended the Frances Shimer school and the University of Illinois. Mr. Cameron attended the University of Illinois. The wedding will take place in June.

Indiana U. Deans Ban 'Gloomy Sunday' from Student Show

Bloomington, Ill., April 22.—[Special.]—"Gloomy Sunday," known as the Hungarian "suicide song," is too gloomy for the "I U Revue," according to a ruling of Indiana university deans who banned the song from the campus musical show.

Miss Catherine Feltus, Bloomington co-ed, was billed to sing "Gloomy Sunday" in the revue tonight and tomorrow. To date 26 residents of Budapest and one University of Michigan student are reported to have committed suicide after listening to the minor strains and despairing words of "Gloomy Sunday."

Flower Show at Lake Forest to Run 3 Days

Committee Reveals Plans at Luncheon.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TWO MONTHS will, of course, make a great difference in the weather. Every one was wearing a winter coat, or a topcoat over a suit, yesterday at the luncheon the committee in charge of the Lake Forest Garden club flower show gave at Crockford's in the Blackstone hotel. But the talk was mainly of the show and of the great success the women intend it shall be.

Last year 7,000 persons visited the show and since it is to be given an extra afternoon this year the committee expects that at least 10,000 will go to Walden, the Cyrus H. McCormicks' beautiful Lake Forest estate, during the three days of the show, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 29, 30 and 31.

The success of the show depends so largely upon the weather that the women planning it are praying that the last three days of May will be perfect, just as the two days of the show were last year. The show will open at 2 o'clock on Friday and will close that day at 7; on Saturday and Sunday it will be open from 10 a. m. to 7. The Friday show is being added so that older Lake Foresters, who complained last year that the crowds were so great on Saturday and Sunday that they could not see the exhibits, may view them in comparative comfort.

Mrs. John Andrews King and Mrs. John H. Hamline Jr., co-chairmen of the show, promised or threatened—it depends upon whether one is an exhibitor or a visitor as to which verb is correct—that they personally would change the exhibits Sunday morning if they were not kept fresh or replaced by the exhibitors, so those who visit the show that day will be assured of seeing as lovely and fresh a show as those who go on the opening afternoon.

Hears Wedding Plans of Miss Caryl Ely.

Mrs. Hamline, smart in a London tan suit and beret to match, had just received a letter yesterday from her husband's sister, Mrs. Jay Morse Ely, bringing the news that Miss Caryl Ely and Fred Wilson Fairman Jr. will be married in Lake Forest July 1.

The young bridegroom will receive his sheepskin from Yale university shortly before he is married. Mrs. Ely will not return from her winter home in Thomasville, Ga., until early June after her younger daughter, Adrienne, has finished school in Thomasville, but Miss Caryl will come north about the middle of May to begin making preparations for the wedding.

The others on the committee in charge of the flower show are Mrs. Philip D. Armour III., Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Kent Chandler, Mrs. D. Pullman and Mrs. Lawrence Williams.

Deborah Leonard Wedding June 7.

Several gardens in Winnetka are being groomed and planted with extra care this spring because of the number of garden weddings or receptions planned for June. Miss Deborah Leonard, daughter of John R. Leonard, and her fiancé, Fred Jensen of New York, have set Wednesday, June 17, for their wedding day. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at Christ church, and a reception will follow at Wildacre, the Leonard home.

Miss Leonard is counting on an outdoor reception provided that the afternoon is a sunny one. Miss Harriet Leonard and Mrs. Hibbard Casselberry will attend their sister as maid and matron of honor, and there will be several other attendants.

The bride-to-be ended her studies at the University of Michigan in Febru-

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

ONE hundred and fifty-seven years ago Jean Baptiste Point de Saible, a Negro, settled in Chicago—a quarter of a century before the coming of John Kinzie, and last week his memory was honored with the changing of the name of the new Wendell Phillips High school on the south side to the Jean Baptiste Point de Saible school. The full name of the school is to be used, but it is understood that the principal of the school cautioned the teachers not to write the name until they have been given official confirmation of the spelling. There are various versions, but the one the Chicago Historical society is inclined to think correct is that of Historian Milo M. Quaife, who spells it "du Sable." The "History of Chicago," vol. I., spells it "de Saible." As the name probably meant Jean Baptiste of Sand Point, we don't see why the correct version should not be "de Sable." No order has yet come through from the school board.

Commemoration—Ziegfeld.

REFLECTING on this delayed honor to Chicago's early settler, we began to wonder if the reference to John Kinzie as Chicago's first white settler, which we always had thought meant not red settler, had a different connotation. Was it, perhaps, a snobbish method used by historians to avoid mention that a settler earlier than Mr. Kinzie had been colored? Perhaps the answer, however, is that John Kinzie was a permanent settler, who raised a family here, and Jean Baptiste Point de Saible [or du Sable] stayed only seventeen years. Anyway, his memory has not gone entirely unhonored in Chicago, for there is a brass plate near the former location of the old Kirk soap factory commemorating him, and his hut was reproduced at A Century of Progress.

* *

THE late Florenz Ziegfeld told us once, on a Chicago visit, that the legitimate theater could never be endangered by the cinema. Theatergoers wanted flesh and blood on the stage, he said, and no canned pictures could give the same thrill. His remarks came to mind last night as we watched the movie of his life, "The Great Ziegfeld," at the Erlanger. Perhaps he was right about the flesh and blood angle, but it seemed ironical that never in his life, probably, did Ziegfeld put on anything so spectacular and unbelievable as the grand staircase review number in the first act of "The Great Ziegfeld."

* *

THE man who publicized the Ziegfeld productions, author of "Burlycue" and other books, Bernard Sobel, in discussing the late producer, was reminded of a story that had to do with his severity with composers. He drove them constantly and expected them to turn out song hits overnight. After George Gershwin played his "American in Paris" symphony at Carnegie hall Jules Glaenzer gave a party in his honor. Among the guests was the late Otto Kahn, who rose and presented a silver box, autographed by prominent guests, to Gershwin.

"George has done well," said Mr. Kahn to the assembled guests, "but he is young yet. To do more he must suffer."

"Oh, don't worry about that," interposed Mr. Ziegfeld. "He'll suffer plenty. I've just signed him up to do a show for me."

Peplums Reach Knees in New Taffeta Blouses

BY RHEA SEEGER.

A brand new blouse trick! You've bought all kinds of short numbers with short or long sleeves; you've been able to match or contrast any suit or skirt that you own with blouses of every known material and color. But the big spring surprise is some new peplum affairs with the peplums long and flaring, reaching to the knees.

With one of these new finds you can assemble a dozen or more outfits . . . that is, with different colored skirts. They come in printed crisp taffeta in two combines, navy and white and black and white. Necklines are high and round, the sleeves short and quite puffed, ending in cuffs that reach just above the elbow.

With the black and white taffeta you can wear a black skirt of wool or silk, a green, or red, or any pastel shade of pink. Sulphur yellow is still another grand contrast for the black, and with a creamy white tailored skirt you have a slick summer duet. The navy and white blouse will top a navy skirt, or a white sunburst plaited silk, or a pale yellow, or a deep dusty pink, or one of powder blue.

White hats and white accessories are practical as well as good contrast for both the black or navy blouse . . . and later in the summer either blouse can be used with tailored linen, white crash, or any other tub material.

White piqué skirts to match hats and gloves and bag are also other alternatives as the other half of this blouse and shirt possibility. These peplums unquestionably are the smartest and most practical long blouses that have been unpacked in weeks!

The Stage

"Awake and Sing," a drama by Clifford Odets, staged by the Group Theater of New York, will come to the Selwyn theater on Monday, May 4, for an engagement under the auspices of the American Theater society. It will be the sixth and last play of the society's subscription season.

This production will mark the first appearance of the Group theater in Chicago. The organization has been active for several years in New York and is rated high in acting talent. It has staged a number of successes, including Sidney Kingsley's "Men in White."

The "Boy Meets Girl" company will not disband when its engagement in the Selwyn theater ends on May 2, as first announced. It will go on a spring tour, visiting Minneapolis, Dayton, Indianapolis, Columbus, and Detroit.

Nelson Rockefellers Are Parents of Son; May Be John D. IV.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Arrival of a new heir to the Rockefeller millions in Doctors' hospital on Sunday was made known today in a brief announcement coming from Nelson A. Rockefeller and his wife, the former Mary Todhunter Clark.

The baby, third child in the family of the 28 year old Nelson Rockefeller, is a lusty youngster, according to reports, and very likely will be named John D. Rockefeller IV. So far there is no John D. in the fourth generation. The child is the great-grandson of the original John D. Rockefeller, founder of the family and its fortune.

Helen Jepson Stars at Field's Chorus Concert

Program Is Sensational Success.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The historic old Auditorium was startled out of its reveries last night by the booming of four thousand voices, for the audience joined the stage forces in the heartening measures of "Auld Lang Syne" to bring a close to a sensationally successful concert by the Marshall Field & Co. Choral society.

Radiant Helen Jepson of the Metropolitan opera headlined the supporting musicians. In addition to her there were Edwin Kemp, tenor; William Russell, baritone; three soloists from the personnel of the choral society itself, and fifty-four members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Edgar Nelson conducted, and Robert Wallenborn and Grace T. Fredenhagen played piano accompaniments.

That idea of giving a third or more of the program to excerpts from "Cavalleria Rusticana" turned out to be a good one. The device gave Miss Jepson a splendid opportunity to display both the power and the polish of her voice in the towering phrases of "Pieta Signor."

It brought William Russell to the foreground in the character of the swaggering Alfio to give a robust account of the wagoner's entrance song. Edwin Kemp made use of the first lyric address to Lola to enjoy the sunny, lyrical type of singing which is his special forte, and of the lilting "Brindisi" to whip chorus and audience into a high state of rhythmic excitement.

But the best reason for choosing "Cavalleria" is that the opera is kind to the chorus. The Marshall Field choral society helped the singers build up their climaxes and filled the intervals between the solo parts with its own impressive strength. The group boasts more than strength and rhythmic verve, by the way; there were some excellent effects of a more subtle sort in the course of the condensed opera, moments when the other-worldly tone quality of the women's voices exercised on the emotions of their listeners that peculiar, semi-mystical influence of which only choral music is capable.

The Chicago Woman's club theater held a large audience last night when Dorothy Crost and Berenice Jacobson, duo-pianists, joined Lilyan Sacks, soprano, in a joint recital. These meticulous instrumentalists gave a creditable performance of a Bach "Sicilienne," modulating their tone admirably and achieving in the process a restrained richness and fullness which justified the use of the double consignment of pianos. That was a clever arrangement of the "Danse Macabre" that closed the group.

Miss Sacks possesses a brilliant and sensuously beautiful soprano voice. Her taxing program included the Schubert "Erl-King."

The Carthage college choir of Carthage, Ill., sang a first Orchestra hall recital last evening. Elmer Hanke, the director, has produced a musicianly group, of about fifty-five, with an austere, diapason-like tone quality that fitted the sacred works of the first group nicely. There was a solemn blending of well schooled voices in the Palestrina "Bon Jesu."

The Federal Music project announces that Frederick Stock will direct an Orchestra hall concert by the Illinois Symphony orchestra on Thursday evening, May 7.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

One of the best of spring prescriptions is an investment in a new perfume. A new gardenia and a mysterious floral blend of depth and beauty are two of the season's smartest offerings.

Two elegant prescriptions for spring:

No. 1. A glamorous new perfume, a floral bouquet with astonishing depth and beauty. It defies analysis, because only one odor stands out—and it won't remind you of something else because there is nothing else quite like it. It's a definitly high priced, luxurious perfume, made by a house that specializes in such. The distinctive package and bottle stamp it at once as de luxe.

This perfume has one of the most beautiful bottles we have ever seen—a simulation of an Ionic column in crystal, lettered in gold. Even its gold and white box carries out the lyrically simple Grecian motif. You might know such perfection of the outer wrappings means something quite special in the way of perfumes inside. Women who love luxurious and distinctive scents—and can afford them—will adore this.

No. 2 is a new gardenia. Such a gardenia wave as is spreading over the land! There's this about it, though—the perfume people are licking the problem of getting a good scent. Even a year ago good gardenias were scarcer than fur caps in July—though a lot of manufacturers bravely tacked that label on their product.

This one can be honestly described as a charming gardenia, very rich, very sweet, and with that undertone of languor or heaviness that makes the flower itself one of the most romantic blooms in the world. It is not expensive as good gardenias go—and it lasts extremely well. As it wears it does not acquire that strange, somewhat unwholesome acridness less perfect gardenia perfumes do.

Her Husband's Past

By Elizabeth York Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Nell Martin met and fell in love with Eric Cameron from London, an older divorced man, who'd been visiting in Wellsport. She ignores her parents' pleas to forget him and accept Dick Holmes, her childhood sweetheart. A not from Eric telling her he was returning to Lond on decides Nell to run away with him.

INSTALMENT IV.
A MAN OF MYSTERY.

"O, don't look at me like that!" Nell cried. "You said you wanted me—you said you wished I were your wife now—'this very minute.' I had to run away. They would never have given their consent. O, Eric, tell me you're not sorry I'm here!"

"My darling—sorry! But you've taken my breath away. Where on earth did you drop from? I can hardly believe it's true!"

He came over and sat beside her, taking her into his arms, kissing her tenderly in his charming, possessive way, reassuring her for all he was worth, and Nell felt a little better.

But she realized nevertheless that her daring maneuver had put him into a quandary.

He was still—although her lover and soon to be her husband—a man of mystery. That had been his allure for her from the first.

Had she, at the command of love, taken a tragic leap in the dark?

"It wasn't the way I wanted it to happen," he said, when she questioned him, "but all the same I'm glad it has happened. You must believe me when I tell you I am glad—the happiest man in all the world, and the proudest."

Eric took her to a small hotel in London, and he stayed there himself, also.

When he said they would be married by special license Nell tentatively offered to help him out with the expense, but he refused. He was worried about something, but whatever it was apparently vanished when the following day they walked out of the registrar's office duly proclaimed man and wife.

"You're going home to a ready made family, my darling," confessed Eric.

From the hotel in Brighton where they went for a very brief honeymoon, Nell wired her parents that she was married.

If Eric was the happiest man in the world, she voted herself the happiest woman.

It was exactly as he had told her back there in Wellsport; as though they had known each other for a hundred years. He was her man. But she knew that life was waiting for them; that there was a catch in it somewhere.

She read it in his eyes even when they were most fond; and saw it trembling on his lips a dozen times.

And then early in the morning of the day they were going back to London a telegram came for Eric. He read it and then handed it to her.

"Granny is ill with flu. Please come home quick if you can. MEG."

"Who is Meg?" Nell asked.

Eric looked a little contrite and whimsical.

"There didn't seem to be any point in telling you before," he said, "I wanted this first week together to be just as perfect as possible."

He put his arms around her and held her close.

"You're going home to a readymade family, my darling. Meg—Margaret—is my daughter. She's 17 and Robin is 15."

"O!" Nell gave a startled laugh. "But a couple of stepchildren don't really frighten me. I only hope they'll love me as I shall love them. You aren't holding back any other surprise, are you?"

"The biggest of all," he said. "Granny. She's—er—not my mother. She's my wife's mother. I mean my first wife's mother."

"Does she live with you?" Nell asked sharply.

"Yes, the children needed some one. You see, Hilda—my wife——"

"She divorced you, didn't she?" Nell interrupted. "I didn't like to say anything about it, but that's what Dick Holmes said."

Eric's eyes and lips looked grim.

"There was a divorce," he said briefly.

Nell flew to the refuge of his arms again.

She hadn't counted on half-grown stepchildren and even less on what you might call a stepmother-in-law, but she was gallant and it still seemed to her the great love she had for Eric was equal to any strain.

"We'd better pack and get off at once," she said. "Meg wouldn't have sent that telegram if it wasn't necessary."

"Brave darling!"

"Eric—do they know? I mean about me?"

"They will by this time. I wrote last night, and they will have had the letter by the first post."

The second thoughts about this headlong plunge into marriage crowded thick and fast upon Nell Cameron during the train journey back to London.

An unhappy sense of jealousy began to stir in the young wife. There were a hundred questions she wanted to ask Eric.

"You must have married very young," she ventured.

"O, yes, quite young—I was about 20."

"And Hilda must have been young, too."

Eric had a newspaper which appeared to engross him.

"Yes, she was in her twenties," he replied.

"Eric, I think you might be a little more friendly," she said, with a forced air of brightness. "We're married now and there are some things I have a right to know."

He laid down his paper and smiled at her.

"Fire ahead, my darling. What, exactly, do you want to know?"

"Do you remember when you said you wanted to be honest with me, but found it difficult?"

"I remember everything. You know now why it was difficult."

"Well, that's the way I feel. I want to be honest, but it's galling to my pride. But I've got to be honest. It was I who—who sort of rushed you into marrying me, Eric. I want you to know that I realize that."

"I don't think I made it very hard for you, my sweet one!"

"No, I knew you really did care for me. What I wanted to ask you is this: What was it you were so anxious to talk over with dad?"

"Why"—he smiled and made a gesture—"nothing more than what you know now—that I have been married before and legally separated from my first wife, that I have two children and am at the present moment what you would call a poor man."

"Nothing more?"

"Isn't that enough?"

He leaned across and patted her hand.

"I'm a bit of a coward this morning," she confessed.

"So am I. We've just got to pretend that we're not afraid of the big, bad wolf."

"Do you mean granny?"

"Well, you see this has been sprung on her rather suddenly."

Nell nodded soberly.

"I understand. You're too kind, Eric, to point out to me that it's all my fault, that I really did rush you into our marriage."

"If we hadn't got married in the way we did, my darling, a real tragedy could have happened. We might never have married at all. . . . Now is there anything else you want to know?"

"Heaps, but one more question will do. Why, if your wife divorced you, did she consent to leave the children behind?"

Cast Is Forced to Real Labor in 'Good Earth'

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 22.—[Special.]—Paul Muni stretched himself luxuriously in the warm morning sun. Stripped to the waist, in the coarse trousers and shoes of a Chinese peasant, queue wrapped tightly around his head, and in his makeup as Wang Lung in "The Good Earth," he examined his arm.

"Coming along fine," he commented. "In another week I won't need any body makeup—the tan will be just the right shade to photograph."

Luise Rainier, also in oriental makeup which completely disguised the actress in her rôle of O-Lan, peered at him from the window of a small thatched shack which served as part of the setting, and also as her improvised dressing room. Luise laughed.

"I have to wear six padded jackets in the hot weather," she laughed. "You are very lucky."

The scene was the great farm village for Pearl Buck's story of China which Irving G. Thalberg is producing. The two were making a sequence showing the grueling day's work from sunrise to sunset of a Chinese farmer and his wife.

Karl Freund, the cameraman, had been setting his camera before an odd contraption of flume, board paddles, and a sort of lether chain.

"Okay," he yelled. "Bring on the galley slave!"

Director Sidney Franklin beckoned and Muni approached the contraption. Hanging onto a horizontal pole above it, he placed his feet on wooden pedals, stepping upward from one to the other on a sort of improvised treadmill. The wheel turned under his power and the lether chain moved the boards upward in the flume, pumping water from the pool below into a ditch.

"Most primitive form of irrigation known," explained Franklin, "and used to this day in North China. That outfit was actually in use on a Chinese farm two years ago when we bought it and shipped it to M. G. M."

In the meantime Luise had been "limbering up" with a wooden club. She came to the edge of the pool, squatted, dipped a garment into the water, held it over a stone, and pounded for all she was worth.

"This is the way we wash our clothes," she parodied the old nursery rime as she laid on with a will. Then the camera turned.

Meantime, Muni had taken hold of an odd wooden plow—also brought from China—and drawn by a docile water buffalo. The camera whirled in his direction.

"Gow!" he yelled at the buffalo, who promptly started along the furrow.

"The animal is as good as a horse—and stronger," grinned Muni as he guided the plow. "Altogether this kind of farming is a lot of fun. It's hard work—sure—but fun. I might try it some time on my Encino ranch."

"I have fun, too," said Luise. "I have learned to use chopsticks. I like Chinese food. But my objection is that I have to wear too many clothes for this climate."

On the immobile faces of Chinese in the background one detected a fleeting shadow of mirth as the movie celebrities strove and perspired.

Fredric March has invested $3,000 in a dressing room trailer that looks like a movable green bungalow and is fixed up inside in green and tan furnishings. It contains a shower, lavatory, electric ice box, make-up table, cupboard for clothes, iron for pressing them and other gadgets.

ary, and after a trip through the Shenandoah Valley with her father she has settled down at home to prepare for the wedding. Miss Harriet returned last week from three weeks on a Texas ranch, to assist her younger sister with the wedding preparations.

Meanwhile Mr. Leonard and his brother, Arthur G. Leonard of Chicago, are starting off on their annual travels. They are getting ahead of the Americans who plan to sail on the return trip of the maiden voyage of the Queen Mary in June by sailing for England on Saturday on the Scythia to return on May 27 on the first crossing of the huge new British ship. The brothers will visit in Ireland and in the south of England.

Three Weddings Set for June 27.

Those Winnetkans who are close friends of the Conways, the O'Briens and the Howes will have a difficult time on June 27 deciding which wedding to attend. The Howard V. O'Briens' daughter, Jean, and Fred P. Hamilton Jr. are being married at home that afternoon, and the Barret Conways' daughter, Louise, and Gail Belden will be married at the same time at the Winnetka Congregational church, with a reception afterward at the Conway residence.

Any one planning to attend the wedding of the Lawrence Howes' daughter, Miss Anna Shippen Howe, to Joseph Livingston Delafield will have to go to Long Pond, near Plymouth, Mass., for the ceremony will take place there at Mr. and Mrs. Howe's summer home. Miss Dorothy Gerhard will be Miss Howe's only attendant from Winnetka. The bride-to-be's brother, Fisher Howe III., will be one of Mr. Delafield's groomsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe will be going east as soon as school is out in June.

Miss Rachel Pettit Sets Wedding Day.

Miss Rachel Pettit, daughter of the Robert Pettits, and Hollingshead T. Martin of Philadelphia will be married on Saturday, May 16, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, in the Pettit residence in Evanston. The Rev. Harold Bowen of St. Mark's church will read the ceremony, and a reception will follow.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Roberta Martin, will be Miss Pettit's only attendant, and Carl N. Martin Jr. will serve his brother as best man. There are not many parties for Miss Pettit because her fiancé will not arrive in Chicago until the eve of the wedding. His mother and father are coming for the ceremony. Young Mr. Martin and his bride will live in Philadelphia.

McGuinns to Bring Adopted Son on Visit.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Ripley have been delighted to hear that when the Ripleys' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John C. McGuinn, come from California in June to visit they will bring with them their infant son. Mr. and Mrs. McGuinn adopted a boy last December shortly after the former Jane Ripley and her husband lost the son born to them on the coast.

Mrs. Ripley was among those at the tea and cocktail party the board of the Madonna center gave yesterday at the Chicago Athletic association for young people who are assisting with plans for the center's annual dance to be given May 9 at the Stevens hotel.

The Antiquarian Society of the Art Institute has issued cards to an at home on Monday afternoon, May 4, at 3 o'clock, to hear Carl Greenleaf Beede speak on "The Diverse Appeal of Antiques." Mr. Beede will lecture in gallery L-6, and tea will be served afterward in McKinlock court.

The Woodbury S. Obers have issued invitations to a tea Sunday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. R. Stockton Rush. The invitations are headed laconically "Au revoir, Deborah and Stockton," and it will be one of the last gatherings in Lake Forest that the Rushes will be attending, for the attractive young couple is returning to Philadelphia next week. They moved here from Pennsylvania about three years ago.

Gives Dinner Tonight for Mrs. J. B. Long.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick is entertaining at dinner at the Tavern tonight for Mrs. Joseph B. Long of New York, formerly of Chicago, who is spending a few days at the Drake. Mrs. Long is on her way by motor from Tucson, Ariz., where she spent the late winter.

Mrs. Laird Bell will give a program of French monologs and poems at the weekly causerie of the Alliance Française at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. George L. Cragg will be today's hostess. Pouring tea will be Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, and Mrs. Robert B. Fulford of Birmingham.

The Chicago Smith College club is giving a tea this afternoon at the College club for Miss Florence Snow, secretary of the Alumnae association.

An exciting evening is in store for bridge fans on Friday, May 8, when the University club will play Crockford's at the latter club in the Blackstone. Play will start at 8:30 o'clock, and of course there will be numerous dinner parties beforehand. Members of the opposing teams have not yet been chosen.

The Mary Crane league announces that its annual benefit, a dessert and bridge party, will be given on Wednesday, May 13, at 1 o'clock at the Evanston Country club. Mrs. Winnard G. Olsen of Kenilworth is chairman of the party, and Mrs. Hadar Ortman of Evanston is in charge of the fashion show that will be a feature of the afternoon.

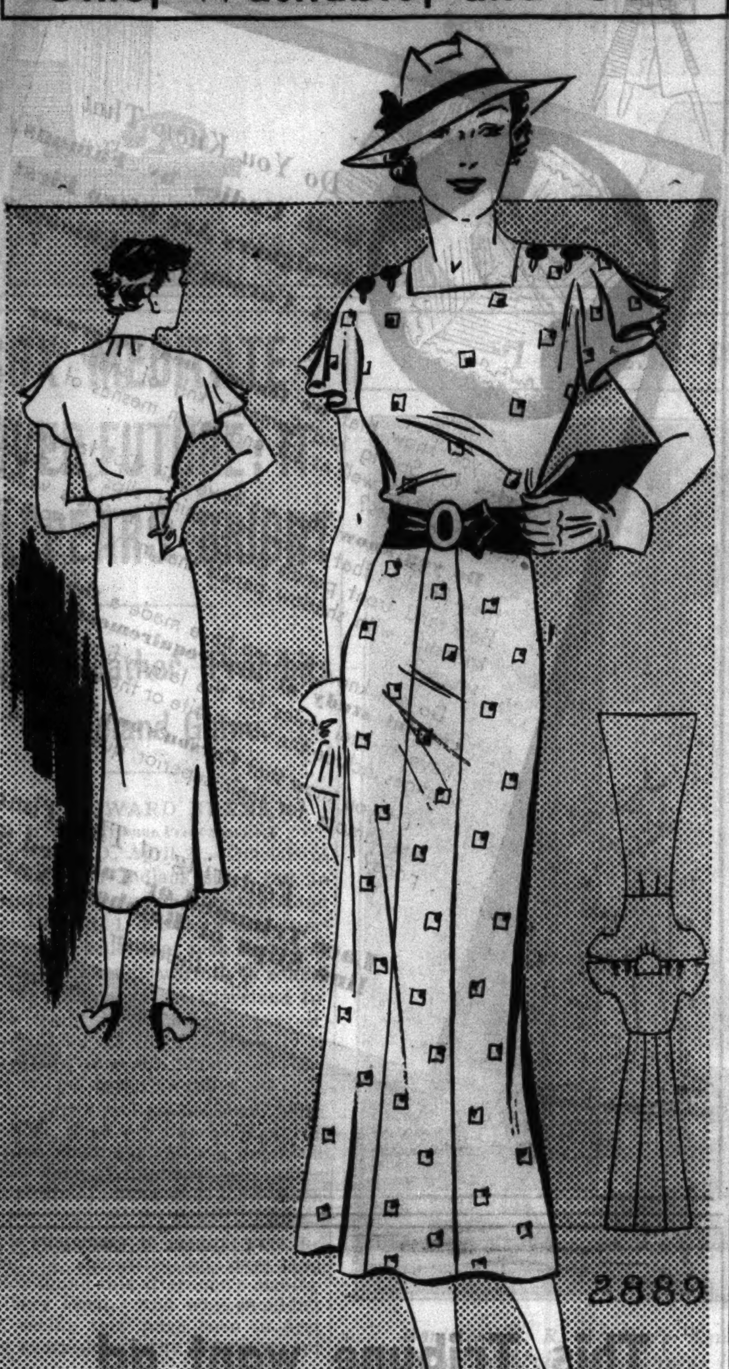
Chic, Washable, and Cool



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

During the summer every woman wants her frocks to unite chic, washability, and cool comfort. She wants them to be simple, to insure easy laundering and ironing, and she wants them to flatter her figure. The frock pictured today is ideal in each of these respects. The square neckline is both smart and cool. The buttons on the shoulderline add dash, and the caped effect of the sleeve contributes much toward the general effect of broad shoulders which this frock achieves.

The skirt has a center panel in the front, which does its bit to make the frock slenderizing and add to the illusion of height. The belt is soft and tailored.

Cotton prints with interesting colors and finishes are ideal for this summer frock, which has, among its other advantages, the beauty of being easily made.

Style No. 2889 is designed for sizes 14, 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

BY MARY MEADE.

Paradoxically enough, any "let's have something different" crabbing around the family dinner table is effectively and pleasantly silenced by the appearance of—the crab! Especially at this season when soft shell crabs and fresh crab meat are available, as well as canned crab meat, many cooks are delighting in new recipes for that delicate sea food favorite.

If it's soft shell crabs that are to win the applause of the family critics, we've nothing better to suggest [have you?] than frying them in approved Baltimore style. The crabs are cleaned by removing the spongey, feathery substance under the side points, the sandbag under the shell between the eyes, and cutting off the "apron." The crabs then are washed in cold water, wiped dry, and sprinkled with salt and pepper. Dip them then in crums, in beaten egg, and again in crums, and fry in deep fat at 375 degrees F. Turn once while frying, drain, and serve hot with tartar sauce.

* * *

Fresh crab meat, which may be purchased by the pound until the moulting season in the middle of the summer, is best used the same day it is purchased. This recipe for Crab Flake Cakes [another Baltimore favorite] suggests an interesting spring dinner highlight.

Fresh Crab Flake Cakes

2 cups fresh crab meat
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg yolk
½ teaspoon onion juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt, pepper
½ cup finely sifted bread crums

Pick over the crab meat carefully and separate into flakes. Thicken the hot milk with the blended butter and flour. When smooth and thickened, add the egg yolk, beaten slightly with the onion juice and Worcestershire sauce. Stir over low heat for one minute. Add the crab flakes and season to taste. Chill the mixture. Form into flat cakes, dredge in fine crums, and brown lightly in a small amount of hot fat. Serve with a rich, hot, cream sauce and a sprinkling of minced parsley.

* * *

A fresh crab meat cocktail starts off the festive dinner in "company" style. Dress chilled, carefully picked out crab meat with ½ cup mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons chopped parsley, the juice of 2 limes, and black pepper to taste for a combination that is a welcome change from the fiery chili sauce-horseradish regular.

Creamed fresh crab meat [or canned, if you prefer] with sautéd mushrooms on a bed of fluffy boiled rice is a luncheon or dinner dish that teases and pleases spring appetites. Serve small wedges of lime, rather than lemon, with this for new distinction of flavor.

Count Bernadotte in Chicago to Visit Industrial Plants

Count Folke Bernadotte, nephew of King Gustav of Sweden, arrived in Chicago Tuesday and is leaving today. He came especially to visit industrial plants in the Chicago area so he was not accompanied by his wife, the former Estelle Manville, and their two children, who remained in the east. Yesterday the count was entertained at luncheon at the Saddle and Sirloin club after a tour of the stockyards. Robert H. Cabell, president of Armour and company, was unable to be present to act as host so Warren Sapp, general manager of the Chicago plant of Armour's, took his place. Among the other guests were Howard F. Gillette and Richard Hackett.

William H. Fogarty, Chicago district manager of the Johns-Manville company, of which the countess' father, H. Edward Manville, is chairman of the board, gave a dinner for the count last night, and today he will be a guest at a luncheon the American Sons and Daughters of Sweden will give at the Stevens hotel.

P. E. O. Sisterhood Will Open Illinois Convention Today

The twenty-fifth annual convention of the Illinois state chapter, P. E. O. sisterhood, will open at 1:30 o'clock today at the Palmer house with 400 delegates, representing the order's 150 Illinois chapters, in attendance at the three day session.

Dr. William J. Hutchins, president of Berea [Ky.] college and father of Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, will be the speaker at the banquet tonight. Mrs. Beulah M. Thornton of Evanston, general convention chairman, will preside. Mrs. Hallie A. Newell of St. Louis, Mo., national president, will be present.

Organized in 1869 at Mount Pleasant, Ia., as a college sorority, the society developed into a national educational order. It now has an $800,000 educational fund, has issued 5,600 loans since 1907, and has endowed Cottey Junior College for Girls at Nevada, Mo.

American Artists Decline to Enter Show at Venice

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—The American Society of Painters, Sculptors, and Gravers has declined to participate in the international biennial art exhibit in Venice, Italy, this summer because no rental will be paid for paintings. The Artists' congress announced that a number of its members also had declined to exhibit in a Fascist country because the organization is opposed to Fascism and war.

Riding Bicycle Achieves Slim Contours for Legs and Hipline

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You'd better be looking into the cost of bicycles and cycling costumes, for all the signs point to a revival of the sport. And what a boon that is going to be for us women who have to keep an eagle eye on the poundage!

All of which news should cause rejoicing in circles devoted to the return of wholesome, outdoor living. The cycling clothes already on display in certain shops indicate a vast improvement in line and utility over those seen in a pre-cycling era.

Culotte suits lead in fashion. Bags to hang on the handle bars or to sling over your shoulders to carry your lunch or whatever you choose, and hats that will successfully buffet the sturdiest wind, and shoes particularly adapted to the pedaling needs all are being projected for increased cycling interest.

* * *

We will begin to use our legs again and the fight to keep them slender will be far less strenuous than the usual formal exercise cemands. Hips and thighs will be whittled down with every bicycle tour. And getting out in the great open spaces is going to be a lung treat for thousands of women who haven't walked a mile since they bought a car.

Yes, we are all for the cycling renaissance. There isn't any better exercise, except swimming, perhaps, for legs and thighs and hips and general locomotion than the movements involved in cycling. Without the bike one can do amazing things toward the silhouette advantages courted today. Time and again I have seen hips, thighs, and ankles converted into snappy assets with the floor pedalling on an imaginary bike. With the real thing the prospects for refining the form are unlimited. So let's hope, pray, and argue for more paths on which to pedal.

MORE ENLIST IN HUNGER MARCH ON TRENTON, N. J.

Trucks Bear Jobless to State Capital.

Trenton, N. J., April 22.—[Special.]—The hunger march on Trenton swelled today. Trucks and trailers carrying unemployed men and women were reported bound for the state capital to add their demands for state aid for relief, cut off last Thursday midnight.

Already fifty of their number were camped in the hall of the state assembly. All through the night men and women of the Workers' Alliance of New Jersey slept on the yellow oak benches. Some used law books for pillows.

Determined to Stay.

They woke up today determined to hang on until Monday, when the legislature reconvenes. Breakfast consisted of sandwiches which the women sliced up on the high perched dais of Speaker Marcus W. Newcomb.

A delegation from the group occupying the assembly hall called on Gov. Harold G. Hoffman and was refused financial aid.

Ray Cooke, once a vaudeville hoofer, spokesman of the Workers' Alliance, asserted the marchers were on their way from Camden, Burlington, and Essex counties. By tomorrow morning, he predicted, their strength would be in the "thousands." He said the movement has popular support.

"Local merchants have promised to give us all the food we need," he asserted.

State Funds Depleted.

Today reports from New Jersey's 550 municipalities indicated that the relief situation, minus state aid for the first time since 1931, was finally beginning to get serious as state funds intended to last until this week were finally running out.

The Trenton council of churches called for pressure on the legislature, which adjourned yesterday without any action on relief.

SUES TO CANCEL PACT GIVING WIFE $750 A MONTH

Herbert J. C. Henderson, vice president of the American Weekly, a Hearst publication, sued in the Circuit court yesterday to void a separate maintenance agreement signed last September by him and his wife, Mrs. Hattie Distel Harrison. 1420 Lake Shore drive.

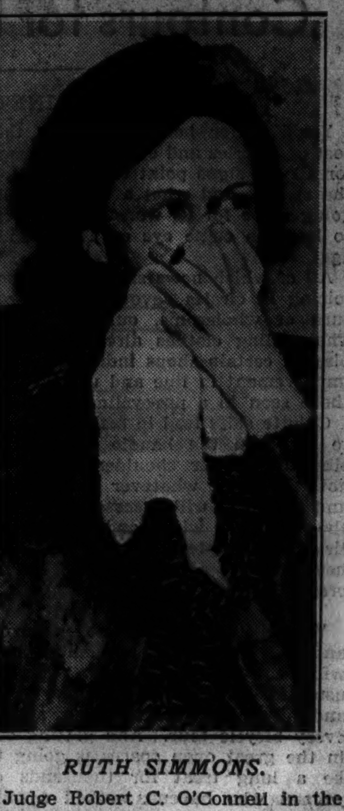
The agreement is embodied in the bill, which was filed by the law firm of Newby & Burditt. In it Mrs. Henderson charges her husband with infidelity, and he accuses her of harmful gossip, and each denies the other's charges. By its terms, each agrees to give the other complete conjugal freedom, and Henderson agrees to pay his wife $750 a month for life starting next Jan. 1.

Henderson alleges that his wife violated the agreement recently when she brought garnishment proceedings in Detroit against $2,400 in salary owed Henderson. He asks that his wife be enjoined from going ahead with the Detroit action, or from suing to enforce the terms of the agreement.

Miss Camden Appeals from Fargo Estate Ruling

Miss Lucile Camden, who recently lost her court fight to share in the estate of Livingston Wells Fargo on the ground that she was his common law wife, filed her appeal from the Probate court ruling in the Circuit court yesterday.

GETS NINTH DELAY



RUTH SIMMONS.

Judge Robert C. O'Connell in the Criminal court was forced yesterday to continue until May 11 the hearing on the charge of larceny against Ruth Simmons, alias Vivian Murphy, 28 years old, when Donald S. Williams of Evanston, the complaining witness, failed to appear in court. The woman is charged with administering knockout drops to Williams in her room and taking his watch and ring, valued at $1,010. Assistant State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene said he would make every effort to have Williams in court on May 11.

PICK DELAWARE DELEGATES WHO FAVOR LANDON

Dover, Del., April 22.—(AP)—The Delaware Republican state convention elected today nine delegates to the national convention at Cleveland. There was no contest over the selection of the delegates or the alternates.

While no instructions were given, party leaders said that all favor Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the presidential nomination.

Gov. Landon Indorsed.

Gainesville, Fla., April 22.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas was indorsed for the Republican nomination for President by the Republican district convention of the Second congressional district of Florida today.

PEACE 'STRIKES' DULL HERE; FAIL TO HALT CLASSES

Peace strikes held at Northwestern university and the University of Chicago yesterday, in unison with similar anti-war demonstrations throughout the country, were all that their name implied. They were so peaceful, in fact, that they failed of their sponsors' aim to disrupt classes.

At the University of Chicago about 1,700 students formed a parade at the fieldhouse, but all except 700 dropped out before reaching the disbanding point in the campus circle several blocks away, where several speakers denounced war.

The demonstration conformed with rigid rules laid down by university officials and there was no violent interference with the demonstrators such as marred last year's strike.

Northwestern university demonstrators held no parade, although they had a permit. About 1,000 students listened to anti-war speakers on the campus west of the Deering Memorial library.

The only untoward incident was a chorus of blasts from automobile horns of students participating in a mock presidential convention, but Evanston police quickly silenced the din.

Chauncey McCormick of Chicago and Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky will be the "keynoters" respectively of Republican and Democratic "conventions" to be held Friday night, it was announced yesterday. Prof. Maynard D. Krueger of the University of Chicago will deliver the keynote speech for the Socialists.

SOME VIOLENCE ELSEWHERE

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—A nation-wide series of student demonstrations against war was accompanied today by violence at several colleges. However, most of the "peace strikes" were attended by large crowds and were held without disorder.

Fist fights and the explosion of a tear gas bomb nearly broke up the anti-war demonstration of Kansas university students at Lawrence, Kas. The bomb was set off during an address by a student leader. It was kicked away, but a shifting wind carried the gas through the crowd.

Fights developed between some quick tempered peace enthusiasts over responsibility for the bomb throwing. The fisticuffs were stopped after the arrival on the scene of Henry Werner, dean of men.

Injured by Blow on Head.

A parade of Lawrence college students at Appleton, Wis., was marred by a mêlée with police in which Al Haak, Milwaukee student, incurred a head gash from a nightstick which necessitated his removal to the college infirmary.

After Police Chief George T. Prim of Appleton withdrew a permit to march through city streets, the "veterans of future wars and auxiliary future war widows" paraded about the campus. Trouble with the police developed when several students dashed from the ranks and headed across a street.

The peace day meeting at Temple university in Philadelphia disbanded in confusion when a flying wedge of husky young men overturned the speakers' stand and hurled a barrage of ripe tomatoes and bags of flour.

Cry "Down with Stooges."

The trouble started when Lloyd Wise, president of the student commission and a Temple football player, ascended the stand and asked for a show of hands against the "Oxford oath," which refuses all support of war.

Peace demonstrators started shouting: "Down with the stooges," and "what can you expect from subsidized football players." The ensuing confusion quickly developed into violence.

A tomato struck an amplifier and put it out of order. Another spattered an American flag. A bag of flour struck a woman passerby, nearly knocking her off her feet and soiling her clothes.

Then the flying wedge of huskies rammed the speakers' stand over and hurled it into the street. The crowd surged after it and snarled Broad street trafic.

Prof. Lovett Meets Opposition.

Prof. Robert Morse Lovett of the University of Chicago encountered some opposition when he spoke at a peace demonstration at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis.

A two year emergency peace campaign was launched in Washington, D. C., with the release of several thousand homing pigeons from the Washington monument. The birds carried to their native cities a message from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt calling for individual responsibility in maintaining peace.

More than 10,000 college students and 300 pupils of three large high schools in New York attended mass-meetings condemning war. About 1,500 City college and Hunter college students assembled at Madison Square park. They displayed placards reading "Schools, Not Battleships," and "War Anywhere Means War Everywhere."

Officials of Dartmouth college sanctioned an anti-war demonstration attended by 1,200 students. Fifteen hundred took part in Brown university's demonstration, and 200 Yale students participated in a "peace strike."

CUBS TO SEND FRENCH AGAINST PIRATES TODAY

Homecoming Game Spoiled by Cold.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

LARRY FRENCH.

The title holding Cubs and the Pirates, who last season contributed nobly to the former's success by folding up in fifteen games, weren't able to follow out the wishes of the schedule makers yesterday. They rode into town as one happy, friendly party from Pittsburgh, where rain foiled them on Tuesday, and expected to put on the opener of a three game series at Wrigley field. They couldn't make it. There was too much of a winterlike wind coming in off the lake.

The bosses, in deciding the weather wasn't suitable, had in mind the good health of their highly valuable athletes. They also gave thought to the possibilities of the gate, which wouldn't have been much judging by the 9,423 at the season's opener and the 4,720 who paid good money the following day for the privilege of freezing.

French to Pitch Today.

If the ice box atmosphere moves out of the north side premises today the two teams will endeavor to start what now will have to be a two game set. Manager Charley Grimm is still set on starting Larry Lefty French, whose only previous appearance this season netted a 5 to 3 victory over Paul Dean at St. Louis. Pie Traynor, the Pirate chief, probably will come up with Cy Blanton, the curving expert, who is anxious to repay the Cubs for the base hit tokens with which they showered him last Monday. Southpaw Ralph Birkofer will be the second choice.

The Cubs, for the time being, will continue without the playing services of Grimm. The back trouble which made him a bench manager for most of last season is less annoying than it was several days ago, but he is willing to go along with Phil Cavarretta on first base as long as the youngster is able to hit. However, there is some reason to suspect that Grimm will not be back, at least not for long, even if Cavarretta doesn't fill the job satisfactorily.

Reds Are Next.

After finishing with the Pirates tomorrow the Cubs will move down to Cincinnati to test their luck there for the first time this year. The series calls for three appearances, after which the present champions can return home and really get acquainted. Starting next Tuesday the four eastern teams will invade Wrigley field. Under the 1936 schedule idea these four visitors will be taken care of in ten games.

As soon as the eastern entries are dispensed with the Cardinals will make their season's debut at the home of the Cubs. Three days, May 8, 9, and 10, have been allotted for Dizzy Dean, Paul Dean, etc., to do what they can about putting crimps in the Cubs' ambitions to repeat their flag performance. With this series cleaned up the Cubs will go east for their first long expedition of the year, opening at New York May 12.

TODAY'S PITCHERS IN MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL GAMES

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Probable pitchers in the major leagues tomorrow:

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Detroit at St. Louis—Auker vs. Andrews.
Chicago at Cleveland—Whitehead vs. Allen.
Boston at Philadelphia—Ferrell vs. Kelley.
Washington at New York—Whitehill vs. Gomez.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Pittsburgh at Chicago—Blanton vs. French.
New York at Brooklyn—Schumacher vs. Clark.
St. Louis at Cincinnati—P. Dean vs. Derringer.
Philadelphia at Boston—Walters or Johnson vs. Cantwell.

BERLIN OR BUST!

That's the goal of 90 of the finest amateur fighters in the United States. But first they must pass the severest test of their careers in Chicago, where the National Golden Gloves championships will be decided. Winners in this tournament will represent America in the Olympic games.

Leading fighters from the Amateur Athletic Union, National collegiate, Army and Navy and Golden Gloves tournaments will meet at the International amphitheater May 7 and 8. The admission prices are 55 cents, $1.10, and $1.65.

The 16 survivors in this tournament meet at the Chicago Stadium May 20 for the championships and the trip to Berlin. Admission prices are 55 cents, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20, and $3.30. All seats, both for preliminaries and finals, are reserved.

Mail your order today to Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

SOX MEDITATE OVER FUTURE; IT APPEARS BRIGHT

Cold Weather Prohibits Cleveland Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 22.—Officials of the Cleveland Indians stood out in the bright sun wearing fur coats and earmuffs until 1:35 o'clock this afternoon in the belief that such sunbeams would bear enough warmth to enable the White Sox and the Cleveland Indians to engage in a baseball contest. But Old Sol, as the sun quaintly is called here, proved a phoney and the athletic spectacle was called off.

Although the weather man holds out little hope for improvement tomorrow, playing plans are going on apace. John Whitehead will pitch against the Indians and John Allen will pitch against the Sox.

It is customary to meditate on the second of successive off days and the Sox found this afternoon's meditation very swell. And why shouldn't they, seeing they have been in first place every day of the season except one.

Where There Is Life, Etc.

One is liable to be reluctant about optimism at this early date, but the Sox hopes of finishing high in the league standing this season, higher than they finished since 1920, are beginning to glow.

The Sox have lost only one of the five games they have played since the opening of the American league season.

Their record in the first nine days of the season is better than the start which last season was hailed as sensational. Last year they lost two of their first five games. They were in third place after playing those five games and they were in third place on the ninth day of the season.

Play No Favorites.

Last year the Sox played their first nine games with the Tigers and the Browns—winning five out of six from the Detroiters, but dropping two of the three with the lowly Browns. This year they have faced and beaten all the other western teams—two victories over the Browns, one victory and their one defeat against the Tigers, and one victory over the Indians. Last year the Sox and Indians played only one game prior to Memorial day. The Indians won that one, 11 to 5, on May 1.

Except for the four way tie on opening day last year the Sox did not go into first place until after they had played their 15th and won their 11th game on May 6, when they were idle.

The first division standing on that date was:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Chicago	11	4	.733
Cleveland	9	4	.692
New York	9	5	.643
Boston	9	6	.600

On May 9 the Sox dropped to second place, but on May 11 they won a 13 to 3 victory over Boston and again topped the heap. The Sox stayed on top then till near the end of May and on May 19 were in front by 2½ games, an edge which prevailed for three days.

Fix Same Quota.

On May 28 the Sox came home from their first eastern trip. [They start this year's first invasion of the east in Boston next Tuesday.] The standing when they got back last year was:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Chicago	20	12	.635
New York	21	14	.600
Cleveland	18	14	.563
Detroit	18	16	.529

The Sox dropped out of first place as a result of defeat in the afternoon game against Cleveland.

Naturally the Sox are setting the same quota for themselves that they fulfilled up till May 30 last year. The big revision doesn't come till they hit the August schedule. In a few days more than the first two weeks of last August, the Sox lost 13 out of 14 games after being only 4½ games out of first place on Aug. 1.

This year's Sox won't lose 13 out of 14 in the first two weeks of August.

"I GUESS WE SHOWED 'EM, EH, DICK?"

Lewis Pounds Out Decision Over Singer

John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight boxing champion, last night decisively defeated Izzy Singer of New York in a ten round nontitle bout at the Chicago arena.

The decision was unanimous, Referee Davey Miller and Judges W. A. Battye and Dr. E. A. Frankel all scoring for the colored champion from Phoenix, Ariz.

Lewis started out in the first round with a terrific right to the body which spun Singer around, but the New York youngster tore into Lewis, landing hard blows to the stomach in close and they fought at a furious pace, trading blow for blow, through four rounds. Both eased up in the fifth round.

Singer Down in Sixth.

Then at the start of the sixth Lewis brought the 1,256 spectators to their feet by flooring Singer with a short blow to the jaw. Singer got up at the count of three, slightly groggy. He took a terrific bombardment to the body and head for the balance of the fight, but did not go down again. Singer was giving as much as he received in the final round.

Lewis' performance was well received. He revealed that he not only is a fine boxer, but carries considerable power in each fist. Only a finely trained and clever boxer such as Singer could have gone the distance with him last night.

Gross receipts were $1,322.25. Lewis' 35 per cent of the net of $1,101.50 amounted to $385.62. Singer was guaranteed $250.

Edgren, Boyle Draw.

Frankie [Cowboy] Edgren, Colorado clown heavyweight, was held to a draw by Eddie Boyle of Cleveland, in the six round semi-final.

Pat Murphy, Danville welterweight, won an exciting six round match from George Engel of South Bend. Murphy scored repeatedly with left hooks to the body and was the stronger at the finish.

Honey Boy Jones, Pittsburgh middleweight, was awarded a six round decision over Ossie Jefferson of Chicago. In two four rounders Ken Murray beat Mickey O'Shea, and Sammy Verse of Omaha, outpointed Tony Michaels in a slugging match.

Lou Ambers Wins 10 Round Decision Over Drouillard

Detroit, Mich., April 22.—(AP)—Lou Ambers, the Herkimer, N. Y., contender for the lightweight championship, defeated Orval Drouillard of Windsor, Ont., in ten rounds here tonight. Ambers won six of the ten rounds.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.
[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

OUTFIELDER JOHNNY GILL of the Cubs, a native of Mountain City, Tenn., tells of a hunting dog that he, or maybe it is his uncle, owns. . . . The dog chases quail into a hollow stump which John has plugged at one end. . . . When he gets sixteen or eighteen quail trapped in the log he places a paw over the open end and barks for John to get his gun. . . . Then the dog lets the quail escape one at a time as John snipes away. . . . Despite two postponements the White Sox played to 71,000 in the first week of the season. . . . Tom Yawkey, owner of the Red Sox, says he always has been an American league fan. . . . Francis Schmidt, Ohio State football coach, used to ruin the Texas Christian university dean of men's table cloth every time he had dinner there. . . . In the midst of a meal Schmidt would get an idea for a new formation and scribble it on the linen. . . . Pete Donohue, former Cincinnati pitcher, is a prosperous cleaner and dyer in Fort Worth, Tex. . . . Ed Konetchy, old National league slugger, is proprietor of a fried chicken emporium on the outskirts of the same city. . . . Col. Daniel E. O'Sullivan says the press box at Churchill Downs will be foolproof this year and that the wives, daughters, sweethearts, and others who know the authors will have to use the long distance phone if they want to talk to anybody in the press box on Derby day. . . .

Lawson Little will compete in the Chicago qualifying round for the national open golf tournament. . . . Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson, and Little plan to play exhibition matches at Purdue, Michigan, and Notre Dame in the week of May 18. . . . Their tentative schedule calls for an opening match at Oak Park Country club May 17. . . . The fourth man will be Ren Smith, Horton's brother, who succeeded the masters' champion as professional at Oak Park. . . . Umpire George Magerkurth of the National league says half his mail is addressed to Maj. Kurth. . . . Al Spohrer, traded by the Boston Bees to the St. Louis Cardinals, has quit baseball rather than report to the Cardinals' farm at Columbus. . . . At the conclusion of the Olympic basketball tournament in New York, the American Olympic committee, which had expected to raise at least $75,000, or one-fourth of the estimated expenses of our participation in the games, was in the red $482 and had received only $1 from baseball and $3 from the marathon division.

Bottled Bourbon, a 7 year old gelding, never has won a race. . . . Franklin Hartline, who was ineligible because of disciplinary probation last fall, has worked out his punishment and will be the No. 1 candidate for center position on the Army football team next autumn. . . . Patty Berg, youngest competitor ever chosen for a foreign golf invasion, is two years younger than Bobby Jones and Jesse Sweetser were when as 20 year old phenoms they received their first assignments to England. . . . Pittsburgh expects to have a stronger eleven next fall than last. . . . So does Southern California. . . . Ohio State, according to Columbus sports writers, will be equally as good if not better. . . . This will be interesting information to Elmer Layden, whose Notre Dame's squad, depleted by graduations and scholastic rulings, meets all three. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Charley Root scored his first victory of the season as the Cubs swamped the Cincinnati Reds, 18 to 1. . . . C. C. Pyle announced that Suzanne Lenglen had signed a contract to come to the United States for a six month tennis tour. . . . The St. Louis Browns defeated the White Sox, 2 to 1, in twelve innings. . . . The board of regents at the University of Michigan approved the building of a stadium that would seat 70,000 and cost $1,500,000.

WATCH BRADLEY! HIS DERBY HOPES BURN UP TRACK

Banister and Bien Joli in Speedy Drill.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 22.—Up into the front ranks of the Derby contenders today went the two E. R. Bradley colts, Banister and Bien Joli, after their splendid workout over the muddy Churchill Downs track this morning.

Uncertainties as to Bradley's Derby strength vanished as they galloped through their mile and a quarter tests. Bradley is as strong as ever these two home-breds just in from Idle Hour indicated.

Running head and head, with Bien Joli finally finishing a neck in front, they were at the quarter in 24 seconds, the half in :49, and the three-quarters in 1:15 3-5. They rounded out the mile in 1:42 4-5 and the mile an a quarter in 2:09 3-5.

Stable Is Confident.

An air of confidence prevailed in the Bradley stable as these two colts were being cooled out. Even Trainer Dick Thompson remarked that this was the first time this spring he has been fully satisfied his charges will be ready on Derby day.

Bien Joli did his work a bit more handily than Banister, but it is evident that they fancy Banister more.

Some of the more enthusiastic employés in this sphinxlike turf establishment predict he may be one of the best horses that has carried the famous Bradley green and white jacket. Both colts bear a striking resemblance to their daddy, Blue Larkspur.

Brevity Steps Along.

The drill of the Bradley Derby candidates shared the spotlight this morning with the training efforts of the Derby favorite, Brevity, and of the colt, He Did, whose chief claim to fame is his victory in the Santa Anita Derby last winter.

Brevity, wearing his cherished blinkers for the first time since he reached Churchill Downs, was only breezing when he went six furlongs in 1:15 4-5. He Did went a mile in 1:42 3-5 and also took things easy all the way.

Brevity's work indicated he probably will start in the Sophomore purse, a dash at seven furlongs, which will be one of the features on Saturday's opening day program at the Downs.

In this race, providing track conditions are good, he will hook up with Coldstream, Bien Joli, Banister, Count Morse, Silas, Higher Cloud, Erin Torch, He Did, Sangreal, Noble Star, Zsar, and other western trained Derby eligibles.

Rivals Clark Handicap.

Because of the presence of so many of the prominent Derby candidates in the field, the Sophomore purse will rival in interest the more richly endowed Clark handicap on opening day. The Sophomore may give a more important line on the prospects of western owned Derby colts than the handicap, which is to be run Tuesday afternoon.

The next important arrival on the Derby scene will be The Fighter, fresh from his impressive triumph in the Texas Derby, and Indian Broom, the Pacific coast sensation which is en route from San Francisco. Most of the leading eastern contenders are staying over in New York for the Woods Memorial to be run on Saturday. They will travel west on special train and reach Churchill Downs Monday.

Nab 2 Stowaways Here for Schmeling Match

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Two Germans, who, hoping to see the Schmeling-Louis fight, stowed away on the liner Gerolstein at Antwerp on April 8 and were discovered hiding in a hold when the ship was four days out, were turned over to the immigration authorities today when the vessel arrived at Hoboken. The stowaways were William Thorsen, 27 years old, and Oskar Nitzscheke, 26, both of Hamburg. They will be sent back to Germany.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

DERBY DAY NEARING.

FRIEND ARCH: Well, Arch, now that we have reached an understanding on that Florida expense account except for the item disallowed of "Necessary Expense, $3.20"—and perhaps it wasn't necessary expenses at that, although the chaps from whom I got the story did drink up $3.20 worth—I suppose it's about time to talk about the Kentucky Derby and when you want me to join French Lane at Louisville.

I feel, Arch, that perhaps I went down a little late last year. At any rate, we didn't get the winner when one really should have done so. The horses didn't seem to talk as intelligently as usual in the hurry because they made me think Commonwealth was going to win, and you know where Commonwealth finished. So you just name the date to start and I'll have the traveling bag and old portable typewriter on the scene.

Of course, rooms have been reserved at the hotel, because you have to reserve 'em months in advance or you don't get 'em. At the hotel where French and I stop they tilted the rate for "outside" rooms this year. They're now $20 per day, minimum, for the three day Derby period of Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. That seems pretty high just for sleeping—meals aren't included—when one doesn't do much sleeping at the Derby, anyway—so I told the hotel to give us "inside" rooms at only $15 per day—fancy saying "only" for 15 smackers.

I may explain the difference between outside and inside rooms. It's about even Stephen, really. In the outside rooms you hear all the bands, loud speakers, and street cars—last year it seemed as if the street cars drove through our rooms all night. In the inside rooms you don't have bands, loud speakers, and street cars, but you get the barber shop quartets, and hear crashing of bottles, occasionally furniture playfully dropped into the inner court by the girls and boys celebrating with spirituous liquors their attendance at the Derby.

So it doesn't seem to me, when French and I are trying so hard to be economical in our expense accounts, that there's $5 a day difference between the outside room noise and the inside room noise, and I hope you'll approve.

Another thing. Last year the auditing department wondered why it cost so much more for meals on the last three days than before. If the auditing department had been there it would have known. Just like in Florida they raise prices when the "dam Yanks" begin coming, so in Louisville prices elevate during the Derby period. If I think of it, I'll bring back for comparison the menu card with prices prevailing until Thursday, and then for Thursday and thereafter. Suppose it's just the more abundant life for the locals.

Don't think I'm complaining because every one gets all he can for what he has to sell, but I just want you to know about it in advance rather than be surprised when French and I return. Hoping you are the same. Regards.

Bright Sayings.

Harvey: A kind Champaign lady sent some mincemeat to her neighbor whose husband was not feeling well. After it was baked into a pie the lady said to her ailing husband, "You surely can eat this pie; there isn't meat enough in it to hurt any one." Then she sent her 8 year old daughter back to the kind neighbor with the empty dish. The little girl, wishing to be polite, said, "Thank you so much for the mincemeat. Father ate some of the pie, too, because mother said there wasn't meat enough in it to hurt any one." C. A. K.

WOMEN JOIN MEN FOR FREE INSTRUCTION

Famous Pros Give Lessons.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

HORTON SMITH.

The fourth annual free golf school of THE TRIBUNE, original model for a score of similar group instruction systems throughout the country, becomes a co-educational institution tonight.

The first class for men and boys originally was scheduled for tonight, without reckoning with what the weather man might provide for the opening class for women and girls on Tuesday night. The hazard the weather man furnished, a raw chilly evening, did not discourage 15,000 feminine students who came to the courses of the Chicago park district and the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association for instruction by P. G. A. professionals.

Nevertheless, officials of the school felt thousands of potential women and girl pupils were kept away by Tuesday night's weather, and decided to hold combined classes for men, women, boys and girls for tonight. The enrollment of the school this year is 34,166.

Everything Is Free.

Thus, all classes will be entitled to take the free instruction in the fundamentals of the game tonight. The women and girls who appeared for the first lesson on Tuesday are invited to return tonight, since the tournament stars who aided the teachers with exhibitions on Tuesday will appear at different courses.

The lesson on all courses will begin promptly at 7 p. m. The weather forecast for tonight indicates a fair evening, with slowly rising temperatures, auguring a more comfortable night than Tuesday. Each pupil is asked to appear by 6:45 o'clock, if possible, and to bring a wooden club, as in Tuesday night's class, since the first week's lesson for all pupils will stress the same principles—grip and stance, with preliminary lessons on the swing. In addition, beginners will be acquainted with the rules and etiquet of the game.

Instructors Are Surprised.

If the enthusiasm of the pupils in braving the weather of Tuesday night was remarkable, so was that of their teachers. They were amazed by the turnout, and as were the playing stars who gave exhibitions the first night and who have promised to appear for the duration of the school's three week term.

Take the guest artists of tonight. Jackson Park pupils will see an exhibition by Horton Smith of Oak Park, winner of the recent Masters' tournament for the second time in three years, and one of the most ardent apostles of group instruction in golf. Johnny Revolta of Evanston, national professional and western open champion, is so enthusiastic about the school he will go all the way from his suburban location to Marquette park on the far southwest side to give an exhibition. Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, Illinois P. G. A. titleholder, moves to Diversey tonight. Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, voted by fellow pros the game's best wood player, will give the exhibition at Columbus.

Metz on Deck.

On the daily fee courses tonight, Dick Metz of the Mill Road farm course and Tom Kelly of Sunset Valley, will be the added attraction at Mid-City. Abe Espinosa, former western open champion, will give the demonstration and will be in charge at Evergreen. Tony Penna of Itasca, gifted newcomer to the Chicago district, will hit shots and explain them for the students at Big Oaks.

All of these will appear at one course or another during the next two weeks, and in addition, a number to other tournament stars, including Tommy Armour of Medinah, Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, Eddie Williams and his daughter, Ellamae, of River Forest, will give exhibitions. Jerry Glynn of Olympia Fields, also has promised that his new assistant, Orville White, one of the standouts of the winter circuit, will appear at Jackson and Marquette parks.

Three Lessons for Each.

The plan of the school is simple. Aside from the final summing up of the curriculum in the fourth week, one lesson will be given each of the first three weeks to women and girls, and one to men and boys. No effort is made to make 70 shooters of every pupil overnight. The course is directed at beginners and the teaching of fundamentals. Prize pupils will be chosen by the pros at each course, and these will be awarded prizes consisting of clubs, bags, and balls.

BIG CHANCE NEAR FOR TWO TOUGH LUCK FIGHTERS

Joyce and Patterson Eye National Golden Gloves.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

William Joyce of Gary, Ind., and Verne Patterson of Chicago are two mighty fine amateur boxers who always have fallen just short of winning Golden Gloves championships. Both boys believe that the National Golden Gloves tournament, from which the United States Olympic boxing team will be chosen, affords them their opportunity to make up for past disappointments.

The preliminaries will be held at the International Amphitheater May 7 and 8 and the eight championships will be decided on May 20 at Chicago Stadium. Never in the history of amateur boxing has a field of this caliber been brought together. Only the regulation of the Olympic boxing committee that only 90 boys will be admitted to the tournament prevents a score or more outstanding boxers from competing in Chicago.

N. A. A. U. Leads Qualifiers.

The National A. A. U. qualified 32 boys, the Golden Gloves tournaments will send 16 to the Olympic meet, ten will represent the army and navy, and the National Collegiate quota is 32. There may be several vacancies because the universities do not have 32 boys whom they will certify as worthy of competition. The result is that these vacancies will be filled in the order of application to the chairman of the Olympic committee, Roy E. Davis.

This system of qualification and selection means that the first two days of the tournament at the International Amphitheater will be far superior to the ordinary preliminaries of any tournament. And all seats at the Amphitheater are reserved. The prices range from 55 cents to $1.65.

Tickets are also selling rapidly for the grand finale, the championships at the Stadium on May 20. This Golden Gloves show supplants, for this year, the annual International Golden Gloves tournament. The usual price scale of $3.30, $2.20, $1.65, $1.10, and 55 cents will prevail at the finals. Tickets to all shows may be purchased by mail from the Golden Gloves ticket manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Wins A. A. U. Title.

But to return to Joyce and Patterson. It is not their fault neither has won a Golden Gloves title. Joyce fought in the 1936 intercity Golden Gloves meet against New York and many believed he won his intercity championship. The referee awarded him the decision, but the two judges voted against him. Joyce, however, made amends in the National A. A. U. tournament at Cleveland. He won the bantamweight title and definitly established himself as one of the best amateur fighters in the country.

Joyce has won the Indiana-Kentucky A. A. U. title for the last three years. He is 18 years of age and attends Roosevelt High school in Gary. Joyce also is quite a basketball player and is a member of the Friendship house lightweight team in Gary.

Patterson lost to Pete Lello, the 1936 Golden Gloves 135 pound champion, and then went to the National A. A. U. meet at Cleveland. He experienced no serious difficulty until the final bout, and even here, without fear of becoming involved in a dispute, for Cleveland newspaper men agreed Patterson lost a questionable verdict. Tommy Pallatin of South Bend, by virtue of his aggressiveness, took the title.

Boxes for Two Years.

Patterson was born in Nashville. He has boxed for two years. He lives on the west side and has a great following of those who attend the amateur bouts at the Madison Athletic club. Bob Howard is coaching Patterson and believes he will be the one to win the Olympic title.

In discussion of possibilities in the bantamweight division one must not forget Johnny Brown, Golden Gloves title holder and victor over New York's champion in the recent bouts in Madison Square Garden. But one can't forget Johnny Brown, for he is one of the best boxers ever to fight under the colors of the Catholic Youth Organization. In 1935 Johnny won the flyweight title. This year he advanced a weight class and repeated his victory. Experience will mean a lot in the National Golden Gloves tournament and that's why thousands of Chicagoans will back Johnny to lead the American team to Berlin next summer.

Day's Future Depends on Primich Bout

The pugilistic future of Davey Day will be at stake in a ten round bout against Mike [Little Pal] Primich at Marigold Gardens Monday. At that time the Chicago boxer, who appeared below form in previous encounters, will reopen his campaign for recognition as a leading challenger for Tony Canzoneri's lightweight title.

Day has not boxed since Nov. 22 when he defeated Roger Bernard of Flint, Mich., in ten rounds at Guyon's Paradise. The long layoff, due to illness, will be too big a handicap for Day to overcome, according to backers of his Indiana Harbor rival. The excellent form Primich has been displaying in workouts at Madison Square loop gymnasium has strengthened this belief. Manager Sam Buxbuam is so confident his 23 year old protégé will win that he has signed him for a windup at St. Louis on May 5.

Day realizes he must be in tiptop condition to beat Primich and he is training hard at Trafton's gymnasium. Yesterday he and Milt Aron, the Dubuque, Ia., welterweight who opposes Lou Halper of Newark, N. J., at the Marigold arena May 4, engaged in a two round practice bout. They slugged each other around the body and head to such an extent that observers gave them all the attention, despite the fact that Barney Ross, welterweight titleholder, was training close by for a ten round nontitle match with Chuck Woods, Detroit, at Louisville, Ky., Derby eve.

Five bouts are being arranged for the wrestling show at the Coliseum one week from tonight. Danno O'Mahoney is matched with Jim McMillen, and Ed [Strangler] Lewis and Sun Jennings are opponents in the two bouts which top the heavyweight program. Orville Brown meets Ernie Zeller. . . . Lorenzo Robinson, Savoy Athletic club welterweight, yesterday was matched to fight Frank Klotz, Northwest gymnasium, in an amateur bout at the Madison A. C., tomorrow. . . . Charley Lucas, Australian fight promoter, will arrive tonight to confer with Sam Pian, co-manager of Barney Ross, resative to a proposed welterweight championship encounter between the champion and Jack Carroll at Melbourne or Sydney in November. . . . Lou Ambers, New York 135 pound contender, and Orville Drouillard, Windsor, Ont., will wind up training this afternoon for their meeting at Detroit tomorrow. . . . Phil Collins, Golden Gloves referee, and his wife are making preparations to depart on their annual automobile trip to California next month.

John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, intends to head for his home in Phoenix, Ariz., today if negotiations fail to materialize for appearances at Milwaukee April 30, and the Coliseum May 5. . . . Fred Lenhart, Seattle boxer, sought as the titleholder's foe at Milwaukee, will be unable to accept due to a cut eye, his manager, Dave Miller, says. . . . Joe Louis and his trainer, Jack Blackburn, will move to Lafayetteville, N. Y., tomorrow or Saturday where the former Golden Gloves champion will open training for his heavy-elimination with Max Schmeling at Yankee stadium in New York June 18. . . . Electric post, No. 769, of the American Legion, will sponsor an amateur show tomorrow at Union Park temple, 47 North Ogden avenue. F. M.

MAROON TENNIS TEAM DEFEATS ELMHURST, 6 TO 0

The University of Chicago tennis team, Big Ten champion for the last three years, opened its 1936 campaign yesterday with a 6 to 0 victory over Elmhurst college. John Shostrom, former first ranking western junior, made his first start as a Maroon, playing the No. 4 position. The Maroons will open their Big Ten schedule against Wisconsin at the Midway Saturday. Summary:

SINGLES—Bickel, Chicago, defeated Hansen, Elmhurst, 6-2, 6-1; Mertz, Chicago, defeated Hoecker, Elmhurst, 6-4, 8-6; Burgess, Chicago, defeated Eisen, Elmhurst, 6-0, 6-0; Shostrom, Chicago, defeated Neinsted, Elmhurst, 6-3, 6-2.

DOUBLES—Bickel and Burgess, Chicago, defeated Hanson and Hoecker, Elmhurst, 6-3, 6-1; Mertz and Shostrom, Chicago, defeated Eisen and Neinsted, Elmhurst, 6-0, 6-1.

Kasaboski Lasts Only Nine Minutes with Ali Baba

Ali Baba threw Alex Kasaboski of Canada with a body slam in 9 minutes 25 seconds last night at the Arcadia Gardens. John Swenski threw Jack Brown in 6 minutes. Mike Kilonis tossed Babe Kasaboski in 20 minutes and 4 seconds, and Red Vagnonne defeated Dennis Lentz in 30 minutes.

Play Semi-Final Matches in Handball Meet Tonight

Semi-final matches in the Chicago Y. M. C. A. invitational handball tournament will be played tonight at the Division Street Y. M. C. A. Al Schultz of Irving Park, will meet B. Abrams of Lawson, and C. Corsin of Englewood plays S. Marshall of Irving Park.

C. Y. O. Ring Show to Be Featured by Light Heavies

A quartet of light heavyweights will see action tonight at the C. Y. O. Center gymnasium, 31 East Congress street, in the double windup of the weekly C. Y. O. ring show. Eight matches will make up the card. The light heavies are Joe Bittner, Bill Palmer, Walter Mack, and Ed Foys.

Bittner will meet Foys and Palmer will face Mack. Other boys who will appear include Al Scarlatta, William Fidler, and Mario Christopher.

The card:

Joe Bittner vs. Eddie Foys, 175 pounds.
Bill Palmer vs. Walter Mack, 175 pounds.
Al Scarlatta vs. Wayne Fidler, 118 pounds.
Mario Christopher vs. Willis Reba, 126 pounds.
Walter Cavaleri vs. Tom Snow, 112 pounds.
Walter Czepiel vs. Al Martinez, 126 pounds.
Jesse Garcia vs. Gene Ward, 112 pounds.

FAVORITES WIN IN 1ST ROUND VOLLEY BALL MATCHES

Favorites survived the qualifying trials of the Central A. A. U. women's volley ball tournament held in four sections of the city last night. The Illinois Bell Telephone All-Stars defeated Grand Crossing, 47 to 26, and the Jewish People's institute had an easy time winning from the Sokol Slavsky team, 51 to 20.

In the north section trials Eugene Field House defeated Chase Park, 14 to 8; Hamlin Park, 25 to 17, and Avondale, 18 to 10. The finals will be held at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club May 7.

Max Calls Off Trip to Pick Training Site

New York, April 22.—[Special]—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, who arrived from Germany yesterday, decided today the business of meeting Joe Louis in a 15 round bout at the Yankee Stadium June 18 was too serious to permit sightseeing. Accordingly, he canceled a trip to French Lick and the Kentucky Derby at Louisville, May 2.

Instead, he and his manager, Joe Jacobs, will look over two sites for a training camp tomorrow. Schmeling intends to begin light training at once. It is his opinion that condition will be the determining factor in the fight.

He Appears Fit.

After a winter in the Bavarian Alps, the German foxer appears in excellent shape and he is very confident he can defeat Louis.

Louis will start east tomorrow, arriving at Albany Friday and going direct from there to Lafayetteville, N. Y., where he will do preliminary work before establishing his permanent camp at Lakewood, N. J.

Louis to Box Later.

Although Louis has enjoyed a longer vacation from fighting during the past three months than any time since he became a professional, he is said to be in excellent condition and needs only to shed a few pounds. He does not plan to do any boxing until he reaches Lakewood.

EYSTON AWAITS WARM WEATHER FOR SPEED RUN

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, April 22.—(AP)—Capt. George Eyston of England looked to a blazing sun today to dry the ballroom-like surface of the Bonneville salt flats so he can attempt a record run in "ten days or two weeks."

Last year Sir Malcolm Campbell drove his Bluebird through a measured mile at a speed in excess of 300 miles per hour.

Two carloads of equipment moved into Wendover, near here, today. Eyston brought parts, tires, and fuel to service his streamlined racer.

He plans to try for a new world record for Diesel-powered machines over the measured mile. He then will replace the Diesel engine with a gasoline motor and attempt to capture all world records from ten miles to 24 hours.

CHILD'S SECTION IS ORGANIZED IN BADMINTON PLAY

A children's division was added to the national open badminton tournament yesterday by the Mid-West Badminton association, sponsors of the tournament to be held at the Chicago Arena, 333 East Erie street, Saturday and Sunday.

Matches in which all school children are eligible to compete, will be held Saturday morning. Play in the tournament proper will begin Saturday afternoon on 15 courts. National open matches will continue Saturday afternoon and night and Sunday, with the finals Sunday night.

Ruth Aarons Is Given Top Rating in Table Tennis

Ruth Hughes Aarons, 17 year old New Yorker, heads the list of women table tennis players for the third straight year, Reginald G. Hammond, chairman of the ranking committee of the United States Table Tennis association, announced yesterday. Miss Aarons invaded Europe last month to win the world's singles crown, becoming the fourth holder of this title in the ten year history of the event.

Jay Purves of Chicago, United States women's champion in 1933 and runnerup to Miss Aarons since then, dropped to No. 3 in the rankings in favor of Anne Sigman of New York. Led by Susan Whittemore of Santa Barbara, the Pacific coast made its first inroad into the list, gaining eight of the 25 places.

While the men's singles ranking will not be announced officially for several weeks, Hammond disclosed yesterday that Jimmy McClure of Indianapolis will regain his position at No. 1, which he lost to Abe Berenbaum of New York last year. Berenbaum has been placed at No. 2, followed by Bud Blattner of St. Louis.

McClure's joining the Tilden tennis troupe, Hammond said, will not affect his standing in table tennis, as the International Table Tennis federation, of which the United States is a member, does not recognize any difference between amateurs and professionals.

The women's rankings follow:

1. Ruth Hughes Aarons, New York.
2. Anne Sigman, Brooklyn, N. Y.
3. Jay Purves, Des Plaines, Ill.
4. Emily Fuller, South Bethlehem, Pa.
5. Dolores Probert, St. Louis, Mo.
6. Mildred Wilkinson, Glen Ellyn, Ill.
7. Mrs. Ethel Baer Schneider, St. Louis, Mo.
8. Virginia Booth, Barrington, Ill.
9. Mrs. Mae Spannaus, New Rochelle, N. Y.
10. Susan Whittemore, Santa Barbara, Cal.
11. Jane Stahl, Provincetown, Mass.
12. Flossie Basler, Chicago.
13. Mrs. Mary Mason, Toledo, O.
14. Mrs. Clara Harrison, Cleveland Heights, O.
15. Mrs. Ruth Woodward, St. Louis, Mo.
16. Mayo Rolph, Portland, Ore.
17. Dorothy Jones, Seattle, Wash.
18. Helen Smith, Seattle, Wash.
19. Paula Lindblad, Marshfield, Ore.
20. Marian Hoffman, Seattle, Wash.
21. Helen Van Dyke, Flint, Mich.
22. Ruby Aboline, Detroit, Mich.
23. Georgianna Fossas, Seattle, Wash.
24. Louise Lowry, Santa Barbara, Cal.
25. Anita Currey, Omaha, Neb.

ALLISON, VAN RYN BEATEN AT WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 22.—(AP)—Two Davis cup players were defeated today in quarter final matches of the Mason-Dixon tennis tournament. Wilmer Allison, Davis cup captain, couldn't get started and lost to Hal Surface of Kansas City, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. In an intrateam match Johnny Van Ryn, Davis cup doubles star, lost to a fellow team member, Don Budge, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

In other quarter-final matches Bryan Grant defeated Wilmer Hines of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2, and Gene Mako downed Gilbert Hall, 6-3, 6-2.

In the quarter-finals of the women's singles Eunace Dean of San Antonio defeated Eliza Cox of Asheville, 6-1, 6-0; Norma Taubele of New York won from Mary Hirsh, New York, 6-3, 6-3; Mrs. Virginia Rice Johnson of Boston bested Mrs. Lile Porter, Mobile, Ala., 6-2, 7-5, and Helen Fulton, Winnetka, Ill., eliminated Katherine Winthrop, Boston, 6-4, 2-6, 8-6.

Charles Nessler's PRO-KER Hair Milk

Complete the "Hair Cycle" and HAIR LOSS STOPS says Charles Nessler

NO. You can't stop hair from falling out with Charles Nessler's PRO-KER Treatment. Nor with anything else, for that matter. Nature intends that hair should fall out; and should be constantly replaced with new healthy hair.

The trouble is, following unscientific advice, we go at the proposition backwards. We fail to help Nature replace fallen hair. In fact, we often binder natural replacement.

PRO-KER, Charles Nessler's latest achievement, for men and women alike, helps the scalp perform its natural function—to replace falling hair with new hair.

Kroydon CLUBS FOR BETTER GOLF

THE KROYDON HY-POWER SHAFT STANDS ALONE

When you lash out a shot with your driver, you want distance. You get longer drives from a Kroydon Hy-Power Shaft, because power is built right into this shaft. With the same timing and the same stroke, the Hy-Power driven ball has the longest yardage. The Hy-Power is the only steel shaft which, like the hand-whittled hickory stick, TAPERS OUT to form a sturdy shoulder where it enters the neck of the club head. All other steel shafts are smallest and weakest at this vital point. Popular demand has brought Kroydon prices down. Today Hy-Power Woods start at $7.00—Hy-Power Irons at $5.50. The coupon below will bring you the NEW Kroydon Catalog. You'll find the clubs at your pro's shop or sporting goods store. The Kroydon Co., Maplewood, N. J.

Left, Kroydon's Hy-Power Shaft tapers out where it enters the hosel into a sturdy, all-steel shoulder. Right, a single-taper shaft reinforced with a celluloid collar. Kroydon's strength and power are BUILT IN, not built up!

REDS WIN, 7 TO 6, AFTER HALTING CARDINAL RALLY

Hollingsworth Weakens in Late Innings.

Cincinnati, O., April 22.—(AP)—Calvin Chapman, utility outfielder, came to bat as a pinch hitter in the eighth inning today and stretched a long outfield drive into a home run that provided the Cincinnati Reds with the margin of their 7 to 6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. It was Chapman's fourth hit in five times as a pinch hitter this season.

Outfielder Louis Scoffic of the Cards lost Chapman's hit in the sun, and before he recovered the ball, Kiki Cuyler, who had singled, and Chapman had raced across the plate. Lew Riggs, Reds' third baseman, then hit a home run into the bleachers.

Tie Score Twice.

The Cardinals twice tied the score and had the tying run on base in the ninth when James Collins popped to Tommy Thevenow for the final out. They knotted the count at 2-all in the third without making a hit and tied it at 4-all in the eighth on singles by Pepper Martin, Medwick, and Scoffic. They came within one run of tying the score in the ninth on Moore's single, a walk to Frisch, and Medwick's single.

Al Hollingsworth, Cincinnati southpaw, held the Cardinals hitless for five innings, but yielded six in the next four before being relieved by Gene Schott, youthful right-hander, off whom Medwick's final single was made.

EARNSHAW, DODGERS WIN.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 22.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers scored their first shutout of the season today, defeating the Boston Bees, 5 to 0, behind the five hit pitching of George Earnshaw. The victory also was Earnshaw's first of the season.

With Buddy Hassett, Linus Frey, Ben Geraghty, and Jimmy Bucher getting two hits each, the Dodgers found Tiny Chaplin for four runs and seven hits in six innings, and picked up another run and three hits in the last three innings with Bobby Reis on the mound. Score:

BROWNS POUND TIGER PITCHERS FOR 2D VICTORY

St. Louis, Mo., April 22.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns fattened their batting averages and won their second game of the season today by drubbing the world champion Detroit Tigers, 12 to 4.

Fewer than 1,000 shivered in Sportsman's park as Mickey Cochrane used four pitchers in a futile effort to stop Rogers Hornsby's men, who on Monday broke into the victory column with a 9 to 6 decision over Detroit.

Roy [Beau] Bell of the Browns had a perfect day at bat. Score:

RED SOX, 4; SENATORS, 3.

Boston, Mass., April 22.—(AP)—Making all except one of their six hits count, the Boston Red Sox handed Buck Newsom his first defeat of the season today as they defeated the Washington Senators, 4 to 3.

The Senators connected with twice as many hits as the Red Sox, but Fred Ostermueller kept them scattered except in the sixth when they bunched three for one run and again in the ninth when a rally fell one run short of tying the score. With two out in the ninth, Pinch Hitter Robert Estalella, young Cuban, slammed out a triple and came home on Jesse Hill's single. Buddy Lewis followed with another three bagger, but Ostermueller forced Buddy Myer to foul out.

OLYMPICS HEAD TO BACK TOKIO FOR 1940 GAMES

San Francisco, Cal., April 22.—(AP)—Strong support for holding the Olympic games in Tokio in 1940 was voiced today by Count Baillet-Latour, president of the international Olympic committee, upon his return from Japan.

The noted Belgian sportsman personally surveyed the field for three weeks and described it as "comparable to any location in Europe or the United States."

He intends to make a favorable report on the application from Japan to hold the games in the orient for the first time in history.

"Tokio has every possible facility to conduct the games," the count said. "The final selection is up to the international committee itself. If the decision is made to hold the games in Tokio, the city shall have my strong support."

Count Baillet-Latour said arrangements for transporting athletes from Europe had been satisfactorily made despite the fact it will mean a longer trip than at any time since the modern games were revived. Athletes from abroad could travel either across Siberia or go by way of America or Canada, embarking on the final leg of the trip in the latter case from Vancouver, B. C., or San Francisco.

Madison Square Garden Declares Extra Dividend

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Madison Square Garden directors today declared an extra dividend of 10 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents a share payable May 29 to stock of record May 15. The directors resumed dividend payments Aug. 30, 1935, after having been omitted since July 16, 1931.

Lane Tech and Parker Nines Are Victors

Lane Tech and Parker scored their fourth victories in the City High School league yesterday while Senn, 1935 champion, suffered a third defeat in as many starts.

Behind the pitching of Frank Dasso, Lane shutout Schurz, 9 to 0. Dasso fanned 16, which ran his total strikeouts in the 21 innings to 44. Schurz got five scattered hits.

Parker Beats Bowen.

Parker won from Bowen, 5 to 0, Green holding the losers to three hits. Parker got only five off Svorcina and Ford, but three errors helped the production of four runs in the fifth inning.

Roosevelt had to go an extra inning to win, 7 to 6, from Senn. In the last inning Halley singled. Dedi was safe on Friewald's error. Kissane fanned. Sherman drew a pass to fill the bases and Sickle singled to drive in Halley. Kissane struck out 14.

Morton scored its second victory in the Suburban league, defeating Oak Park, 7 to 6, in eight innings.

Squeeze Play Works.

In an extra inning, Hildebrand tripled. Smith fanned. Calogeratos then bunted and Hildebrand scored on a squeeze play.

Army of Athletes Moves on Drake; Marks Periled

Des Moines, Ia., April 22.—[Special.]—With one of the greatest arrays of track and field performers entered, the Drake relays records—some of which have stood for 15 years—are in for a rough weekend in Des Moines at the twenty-seventh running of the local carnival. At least five records appear to be doomed, but others are likely to be bettered before the 39 event program is concluded.

The vanguard of the athletic army poured into Des Moines today and tomorrow this Iowa metropolis will be the gathering point for track and field stars from every section of the country. Already here to test the lightning fast Drake track are athletes from Fresno State and California Tech from the Pacific coast, Oklahoma Baptist, from the south and North Carolina State, from the east.

Record Breakers on Scene.

Among the early arrivals were several potential record breakers. Events for which marks are most likely to be broken are the pole vault, high jump, javelin throw, four mile relay, 480 yard shuttle hurdle relay, two mile run and the distance medley relay.

Cornelius Warmerdam of Fresno State, who has vaulted 14 feet 2½ inches this year, heads the likely record breakers. He led the Pacific coast team in its workout this afternoon. Also in the Fresno group are Elroy Robinson, national collegiate half mile champion, who will match strides with Glenn Cunningham in a world record attempt at 1,000 yards; Clarence Rowland, javelin thrower, who has hurled the spear 226 feet, and John Croson, high jumping star.

Lined up with Warmerdam in the pole vault will be Billy Roy of Loyola of the south, Dave Weichert of Rice, Art Haller of Wisconsin, Wayne Lyon of Iowa State, and Ray Noble of Kansas—all potential record breakers.

Philson Leads Jumpers.

Linn Philson, Drake's N. C. A. A. champion, will lead the assault on the high jump record. This year the slim Bulldog star has cleared the bar at 6 feet 7 inches, an inch better than Harold Osborne's Drake record set in 1922. Croson, the Fresno star, promises to give Philson the most competition.

Mark Panther, Iowa's javelin thrower, and Rowland of Fresno both have battered the Drake spear record of 210.74 feet. It was set by the Hawkeye star last year.

The Illinois hurdling quartet which recently set a world record in a dual meet stands out as the greatest threat to the 480 yard shuttle hurdle standard. But, barring an injury jinx, the Iowa quartet also will have to be reckoned with. The meet record is held by Iowa's 1932 team, which topped the timbers in 1:06.6.

Not only the Drake record, but also the American and world marks are endangered by a host of four mile teams. The Drake mark of 17:45 was set by Illinois in 1922, but appears in for a beating from Indiana, Wisconsin, and Drake. All three have lowered that time.

Strong Two Mile Field.

With a field of two milers that includes Don Lash of Indiana, Floyd Lochner of Oklahoma, Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin, Bill Wheelock of Kansas, and Fred Padgett, and Ray Mahannah of Drake, there's bound to be a scorching pace. They will aim at the 9:13.6 record of Henry Brocksmith, formerly of Indiana.

Wisconsin and Indiana, along with several other outstanding teams, will challenge the world record breaking Emporia, Kas., Teachers quartet in the distance medley. The Drake mark of 10:15.3 was set by Purdue in 1934.

Cunningham, Robinson, Harry Williamson of North Carolina, Ray Sears of Butler, Jack Fleming of Northwestern and Harold Manning of Wichita will try to lower Luigi Becalli's 2:10 record for the 1,000 yard run in a special event. Ray Ellinwood of Chicago, Sunny Heg of Northwestern, Smokey Brothers of Rice and three other stars will be matched in a special 440 yard race in an attempt to better Ben Eastman's quarter-mile record of :46.4.

Texas Sprint Team Looks Impressive in Penn Workout

Philadelphia, Pa., April 21.—(AP)—The Longhorns of Texas, threats in the Penn relays for the first time, reached Franklin field today ready to run in the 42d renewal of the Classic carnival Friday and Saturday.

The six man sprint squad took a fast workout this afternoon on the track over which 3,000 athletes from 500 colleges and schools will perform this week-end.

Headed by Chink Wallender, a 9.6 second dash man, the Texans are top-heavy choices to come through in the first try for their college in the history of the carnival. They will compete in the 400 and 880 yard relays, in which Ohio State and Cornell are other favorites. Wallender also will run in the feature 100 meter sprint, in which Ohio State's Jesse Owens and Temple's Eulace Peacock are to renew their rivalry.

Harvard's hurdling squad stepped into prominence today as the team to beat in the shuttle hurdle relay when it was learned Charley Sturtevant of Penn's defending champions has an injured back and will be unable to run. Penn also was removed as a threat in the sprint relays when Ed Warwick, anchor man for the dash teams, who slipped during practice, suffered torn ligaments.

TERRY'S SEVEN HITS SET PACE IN BIG SIX RACE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Although he has played only two full games, Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants is setting the pace for the major league batters with an average of .636. Terry has made 11 trips to the plate, four times as a pinch hitter, and collected seven hits, six of them the last two days when he replaced Sam Leslie at first base. Roy [Beau] Bell leads the American league trio in baseball's Big Six. Thirteen hits in 29 times at bat gives him an average of .448.

DR. MEANWELL WISHES SUCCESS TO STUHLDREHER

Madison, Wis., April 22.—[Special.]—Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, whose 20 years of service to the University of Wisconsin as basketball coach and later as athletic director will terminate at the end of the fiscal year, today joined the ranks of well wishers to Harry Stuhldreher, who yesterday was named head football coach of the Badgers and Meanwell's successor as director.

"I have known Harry Stuhldreher for years and always favorably," Meanwell said. "He brings to his position a fine personality, a first hand knowledge of football gained from a great coach, and a subsequent successful head coaching experience. I anticipate great success for Harry and for Wisconsin in the new setup."

Guy Sundt, who becomes assistant director of athletics, a newly created post, said, "I regard the selection of Stuhldreher as a fine one and I shall look forward to working with him."

Stuhldreher, who has been coaching at Villanova since his graduation in 1925 at Notre Dame, where he gained fame as one of the Four Horsemen, is scheduled to assume his duties here May 1.

JACOBS SADDLES THREE WINNERS; 2 OTHERS PLACE

Prince Abbott Captures Jamaica Feature.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Trainer Hirsch Jacobs, who for the last three years has saddled more winners than any other man, added another triple to his string at Jamaica today, with Kawagoe, Pretty Busy, and Miss Trophy. All carried the colors of Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs.

In the first race Jacobs sent out Ethel's Choice in his wife's silks and the filly finished second. In the last race a fifth Jacobs trained horse, Playfole, went to the post the favorite and finished second. Jacobs had no entry in the other event which was the day's feature, and which was won by J. B. Partridge's Prince Abbot.

Saunders Rides Winner.

Prince Abbot was excellently handled by Willie [Smoky] Saunders, victor in the last Kentucky Derby astride Omaha. Today his mount got up in the last couple of strides in a finish so close the judges called for the camera to decide the winner.

When the photograph was developed Prince Abbot was shown to be a head in front of Old Story. Some chart callers thought Old Story was first by a nose or even by a short head. Once more, however, the camera showed the outside horse the winner.

Up from Behind.

The explanation was advanced that the outside horse is most frequently in front in races so close as to be decide by the camera because a jocky making a desperate bid to win in the last part of the race usually comes up on the outside of the leader.

Saunders' bid aroused backers of Prince Abbot, as Old Story was well ahead of Thorson coming into the stretch, with the eventual winner a distant third.

Thorson finished third. Gallant Prince, 7 to 5 favorite, finished last. The winner was held at 12 to 5 and finished the mile and a sixteenth in 1:46 1-5.

SNYDER LEADING AUTO RACERS AT 124TH F. A. ARMORY

Jimmy Snyder is leading the auto racers at the 124th Field Artillery armory by a comfortable margin, point standings released yesterday by Thorne Donnelley, president of the Chicago Auto Racing association, show.

Snyder added to his lead last Sunday by winning the feature race and appears likely to win the 1936 indoor title unless bad breaks interfere. Pat Warren is in second place, followed by Curly Mills, Ronnie Householder, and Tony Willaman.

Householder and Willaman deserted local racing about a month ago to compete on Pacific coast tracks. Both are expected to return to Chicago soon, and may file their entries for Sunday night.

Caras Beats Rudolph in First Block of Cue Match

Philadelphia, Pa., April 22.—(AP)—Jimmy Caras of Wilmington, Del., took a lead of 153 to 80 tonight in the first block of his world's pocket billiards championship match with Erwin Rudolph, Cleveland veteran.

Romnes and Shore Given Hocky Awards

MONTREAL, Que., April 22.—(AP)—Eddie Shore, Boston Bruins' defense man, and Elwin [Doc] Romnes, Chicago Blackhawk center, were awarded two of the National Hocky league's most prized trophies today.

Shore received the David A. Hart trophy, given annually to the player adjudged the most useful to his team. It was the third time he has won the trophy. He also won the trophy in 1933 and 1935. Romnes was awarded the new Lady Byng trophy given to the player outstanding in sportsmanship and clean play.

The original Lady Byng trophy became the permanent possession of Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers last season. He voluntarily withdrew from competition for the new trophy.

Dave [Sweeney] Schriner of the New York Americans, voted the league's outstanding rookie a year ago, received a signal honor when the sports writers voting on the trophy awards gave him second place in the Lady Byng trophy competition and third in the race for the Hart trophy. Cecil Dillon of the Rangers was third in the voting for the clean play award and Reginald J. [Hooley] Smith was runner up to Shore.

Both trophies were awarded on the basis of a poll of the newspaper experts in each National Hocky league city.

Six Soccer Teams Open Cermak Cup Play Sunday

Six all-star teams will meet next Sunday in the first series of the Cermak memorial soccer trophy. At 4600 West Fullerton avenue the Italians will meet the Scandinavians in the opening match of a double header with the Jewish team playing the Germans in the second. At the Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, the Bohemians meet the British. Two junior teams will play a curtain raiser. The proceeds of these games will go to the Illinois Soccer association's fund for the promotion of soccer.

AURORA TRACK ALTERS CLOSING TIME FOR BETS

Daily Double and Quinella Deadline Advanced.

Racegoers who bet on the daily double and quinella will be forced to abandon the habit of waiting until the horses are nearing the post before placing their wagers. During the Illinois season, which opens a week from tomorrow at Aurora, the closing time on daily doubles and quinellas will be set five minutes before post time. Other betting may be continued until the first horse has entered the starting gate.

The change has been requested by the Illinois racing commission as a compromise measure. In Florida, California, and New England the doubles wagering is closed fifteen minutes before the advertised post time for the first race of the combination.

Jocky Agents Barred.

Other experiments which have been suggested by the Illinois racing commission and the National association will be tried out at Aurora.

One of the most significant will be the attempt to eliminate entirely the "jocky agent," an individual who serves as a contact man between the jocky and the trainer, who is seeking a rider for his horse in a particular race. While there have been able jocky agents in the past, many of them are regarded as pests by racing men, and sporadic attempts have been made to eliminate them from the sport for many years.

No Licenses for Agents.

The Illinois racing commission will this season grant no licenses to jocky agents, nor will any badges be issued to them by racing secretaries. A jocky's engagements will be made by his contract employer if he is under contract. If he is riding freelance a system will be worked out, if possible, whereby the securing of mounts for him will be handled through the racing secretary's office without the payment of any fee.

Among other suggestions which Aurora will carry out are those requesting the running of graded handicaps in place of the better grade of claiming races, of carding more races exclusively for fillies, of running as many races as possible for horses foaled in Illinois in order to encourage the state's breeding industry.

Will Try to Cut Arena Cycle Record Tomorrow

Ed Thorsen of Joliet, Ill., will attempt to lower the track record at the Chicago Arena, 333 East Erie street, tomorrow night in the second of a series of indoor flat track races under the jurisdiction of the American Motorcycle association. The track record of 12.49 seconds, established last Friday, is held by Don Turnbull of Toronto.

COLDSTREAM GETS UP EARLY, TAKES SPEEDY WORKOUT

Clockers, Track Scouts Fail to Catch 1:38 4-5 Mile.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 22.—Not many people can tell you first hand about the workout turned in yesterday morning by the Derby colt, Coldstream. Clockers were asleep and track scouts were no nearer than the coffee bar when Trainer Alex Gordon, laughing up his sleeve, brought the Chicago colt out on the track at 4 in the morning. He had the trial over before the morning sun had even faintly tinged the roofs of the stables.

Other reports about what Coldstream did may circulate around, but we have it direct from a hoot owl which happened to be sitting on the eighth pole that he galloped a mile in 1:38 4-5 and the fractions, according to Mr. Owl, were: Quarter in :23 2-5, half in :46 3-5, six furlongs in 1:11 3-5, and seven-eighths in 1:25 3-5. The exercise boy followed instructions and started to pull him up at the end of seven furlongs, but he couldn't stop him soon enough to keep him from rounding out the mile in 1:38 4-5.

No Wonder Odds Drop.

No wonder there has been a plunge on Coldstream during the last 24 hours and no wonder the odds against him have been cut. A colt that can work that fast under a weight package of at least 130 pounds 11 days before the Derby will be fit and ready.

Coldstream, owned by Charles B. Shaffer of Chicago, is the same brilliant Coldstream of last spring which broke the Churchill Downs track record in the Bashford Manor stakes. He's the same slashing sort of a runner he was at Arlington Park last July when, after being left at the post, he came up and won the Hyde Park stakes in the final strides.

That race of Coldstream's in the Hyde Park stakes was, according to our way of thinking, the best race run by a 2 year old last year. Later on this same Coldstream ran the Whitney star, Red Rain, to a dead heat in the Saratoga Special in New York.

May Be Unbeatable.

In other races he wasn't nearly so good, but the fact remains that at Derby time last year and from then on until midsummer he was as good as any 2 year old in the country. Because his 3 year old maneuvers parallel those of his 2 year old campaign every sign points to the possibility of his being an unbeatable horse on Derby day.

PRESIDENT PAYS FINAL RESPECTS AT HOWE BURIAL

Returns to Capital After Cemetery Rites.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt returned to the White House tonight after his sorrowful pilgrimage to Fall River, Mass., for the burial of Louis McHenry Howe, his secretary and counsellor for more than a quarter of a century.

He arrived in the capital at 8:30 p. m., twenty-one hours after he boarded his special train to bring the body of the man to whom he owed, in part, his high office, to Howe's home. The train paused only an hour in Fall River as the President motored to and from Oak Grove cemetery for the burial.

Stands with Bowed Head.

Mr. Roosevelt stood with bowed head beside an open grave under a budding mulberry tree during the brief rites of the morning. He joined in the intonation of the Lord's Prayer, which closed the service. At the last note of "Taps," blown by a navy bugler, he turned abruptly and left for the return trip.

At the cemetery the funeral party was joined by Gov. James M. Curley of Massachusetts and Gov. Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island. Mr. Roosevelt left his car a few feet from the open grave. At his side was Mrs. Roosevelt. They were flanked by two of their four sons, Franklin D. Jr., and John.

Rites at Grave Brief.

Howe's widow was supported by her son, Hartley, and daughter, Mrs. Robert H. Baker of Urbana, Ill. Back of the principal mourners were members of the White House family, including Assistant Secretaries Marvin H. McIntyre and Stephen T. Early, and Miss Margaret A. Durand, secretary to Howe.

The rites at the grave were brief. The Rev. J. Edmund J. Cleveland, rector of the Church of the Ascension, which Howe attended during his brief visits to his home, read the committal service of the Episcopal church. Funeral services had been held yesterday in the East room of the White House.

JOHN T. YERKES DIES; PRESIDENT OF MAP CONCERN

John Taylor Yerkes, 71 years old, founder and president of the Yerkes Map company, died yesterday at his home at 11320 Hale avenue afternoon an illness of several months.

Mr. Yerkes came to Chicago from Covington, Ky., 30 years ago and organized the map concern, which specializes in maps and charts for insurance companies.

Surviving are his widow, Bessie, one daughter, Mrs. Louise Barrett, 11515 Longwood avenue, and three granddaughters. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at 1971 West 111th street.

Charles Hagemann Dies; Du Page Resident 60 Years

Charles Hagemann, a resident of Du Page county for more than sixty years, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Anna Born, 28 West Franklin street, Naperville. He was 88 years old. Four brothers, all more than 80 years old, survive Mr. Hagemann. He is also survived by two daughters, Mrs. Born and Mrs. Amelia Lasanska; a son, Herman; 21 grandchildren, and 3 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Naperville Congregational church. Burial will be in the Naperville cemetery.

Frank D. Holmes, Veteran Newspaper Man, Is Dead

Frank Dixon Holmes, 48 years old, veteran Chicago newspaper man, died suddenly last night at his home, 7007 Stewart avenue. Mr. Holmes was a member of the staf of the Chicago Herald and Examiner. He had been at one time a member of THE TRIBUNE staf. From 1925 to 1931 he was publisher of the Woodlawn News, a neighborhood newspaper. Surviving Mr. Holmes is his wife, Mrs. Dorothy A. Holmes.

Henry M. Gribnitz Is Dead; Groceryman for 52 Years

Henry M. Gribnitz, 76 years old, lifelong Chicagoan who for 52 years lived at 2603 Wentworth avenue, where he operated a grocery, died at home yesterday after an illness of six weeks. A son, William E. Gribnitz, survives. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran church. Burial will be in Mount Greenwood cemetery.

Max Scheuer, Bartender at Old Bismarck, Dies

Max Scheuer, 65 years old, 2453 North California avenue, died in his home yesterday after a long illness. He was widely known by oldtime Chicagoans when he was head bartender at the old Bismarck hotel and Bismarck gardens. Surviving are his widow, Margaret, and one son, Horace.

A. R. Holcombe, Former N. Y. Newspaper Man, Dies

Salisbury, Md., April 22.—(AP)—Armstead Richardson Holcombe, 59, former managing editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, died here tonight of pneumonia. Mr. Holcombe had been the owner of the Eastern Shore Times, Berlin, Md., since 1931. He was born in Mobile, Ala.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

After seven years on the air Rudy Vallee is still the radio favorite of the women of the nation, according to the Women's National Radio committee, which yesterday made known its awards for the best programs of the year. The committee represents several hundred women's organization, which have a membership of more than 15,000,000. Vallee's Varieties received the award, oddly enough, in the "nonmusical" field.

Winner in the light musical field was the Cities Service program, one of the oldest sponsored programs on the air, featuring Jessica Dragonette, soprano; the Revelers quartet, and Rosario Bourdon's orchestra.

The award for the most valuable educational feature went to the League for Political Education, which presents each Thursday evening the American Town Meeting of the Air. This program usually features a sort of debate on a controversial public question by two men with opposing viewpoints and then an open forum in which members of the audience may have their say into the microphone.

Tonight the subject is "Let's Face the Tax Problem," with Neil Carothers, Lehigh university professor, and John T. Flynn, financial writer, as the debaters.

The best juvenile program, according to the committee, is Wilderness Road, a dramatic presentation of frontier adventures during the days of Daniel Boone. Richard Stephenson is the author. This program is heard over WBBM-CBS. The other three are NBC presentations, Vallee being heard at 8 tonight on WMAQ and Jessica Dragonette at the same hour tomorrow night.

Runners-up in the nonmusical field were Jack Benny, Fred Allen and George Burns, and Gracie Allen.

Though the committee had announced that it would make five awards, the fifth to go to the best program of serious music, this award was omitted. General Motors Symphony concerts were rated highest but were not deemed good enough to draw a citation. All members of various affiliate organizations were permitted to vote in the poll which was conducted over a period of two months.

Norm Ruvell, Chicago lad who used to sing with Art Kassel, has been called to New York by Paul Whiteman for a special audition and to sing on his sponsored program next Sunday evening. Ruvell was one of the finalists in the recent Whiteman contest here. May mean a permanent job.

Willis Cooper will leave for Hollywood next Tuesday to write dialog for the movies. He will continue to write the radio serial, "Betty and Bob," and the horror series, "Light Out," on the coast.

Funeral Services Today for Mrs. Anna Hochspeier

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna A. Hochspeier, 68 years old, 3516 Greenview avenue, will be held at 2 p. m. today from the funeral home she directed at 2410 West North avenue. A. E. BARNHART, PIONEER IN TYPE MAKING, IS DEAD

Alson Elverton Barnhart, one of the original members of the firm of Barnhart Brothers & Spindler, type founders, died last night in his home at the Edgewater Beach hotel. He was 90 years old.

A. E. BARNHART.

Mr. Barnhart was born at Hartfield, N. Y. He and his brother, the late Arthur M. Barnhart, started a number of newspapers in Iowa between 1865 and 1872, one being the State Leader at Des Moines. They were pioneers in the casting of copper mixed type and established their type foundry in 1869.

They had a plant for years, beginning in 1872, in a building adjoining the old McVickers theater in Madison street. In 1911 the firm was sold to the American Type Founders and Mr. Barnhart retired. In the past quarter of a century he had been a generous contributor to a number of charities.

Surviving Mr. Barnhart are his widow, Mrs. Clara Sherwood Barnhart, and a daughter by a previous marriage, Miss Gracia F. Barnhart of Hinsdale. A nephew, Arthur Middleton Barnhart, Chicago attorney, died April 7 at the age of 34. Funeral services will be held in the chapel at Rosehill cemetery at a time to be announced later.

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Renewed interest in low priced rails and industrial bonds with stock purchase privileges gave the listed market a steady underlying tone today.

Advances ranging from minor fractions to more than a point ruled in the active groups. While trading activity slowed down considerably from a brisk first hour there were enough buyers to hold prices in the plus column up to the close.

Volume Down Sharply.

Transfers of $8,172,000 par value were approximately $2,000,000 less than on Tuesday. Governments contributed less than 1,000,000 to the total.

Corporate issues changing hands at advances of 1 to nearly 2 points included Allis-Chalmers 4s at 133½, International Cement 4s at 132½, Pure Oil 6s at 122¼, Studebaker 6s at 106½, Chesapeake corporation 5s at 129¼, "Katy" 5s at 74, and Pere Marquette 5s at 103⅝.

Paramount 6s were the most active in several months, $135,000 changing hands at an advance of around a point.

Federal List Stronger.

United States government bonds leaned to the firmer side of the market despite the small volume. In the longer term maturities, where the great majority of trading centered, gains ranged from 1-32d to 4-32ds, while light offerings in the shorter term division brought minor losses. Government dealers reported further switching from the latter group into issues maturing in fifteen years or longer.

The general run of foreign bonds did little either way. Panama 5s added another 1⅜ points to the improvement of Tuesday.

Melville Shoe.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate information on Melville Shoe. Enclosed find self-addressed envelope.—W. F. A.

Answer: Melville Shoe company is a leading merchandiser of men's, boys' and women's shoes. The company operates in the medium and low price fields through 571 retail stores located in all parts of the country east of the Rocky Mountains. The company owns no manufacturing plants, purchasing most of its shoes on a cost plus basis. The manufacturer supplies shoes at cost and receives a share of the retail profit. Under this system the company maintains a close control over its costs.

The retail stores are divided into two groups and operate under the names of "John Ward" and "Thom McAn."

The company has a record of profitable operation over a period of years. The record of sales and net income of the last five years follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Income per shr.
1935	$30,356,000	$2,013,000	$5.02
1934	27,216,000	1,693,000	4.16
1933	21,113,000	1,356,000	3.23
1932	20,594,000	722,000	1.51
1931	26,287,000	946,000	2.10

The company has maintained a strong current position. At the close of 1935 it reported current assets of $8,403,000, including cash of $5,000,000, and current liabilities of $2,168,000.

After giving effect to redemption at 110 of the first preferred stock on May 1, 1936, and the issuance of new 4½ per cent preferred the capitalization consisted of the following: $2,228,700 of 4½ per cent convertible preferred; $499,960 of 6 per cent $5 par second preferred and 371,461 shares of no par common.

The common stock was placed on a $3.50 annual dividend basis through declaration of a quarterly payment of 87½ cents a share, payable May 1, 1936.

The new 4½ per cent preferred is high grade. The second preferred also deserves a good rating. The common stock is a business man's risk.

Wabash Telephone.

Investors' Guide: Please answer my question in your Investors' Guide column. I bought 30 shares of preferred stock in Wabash Telephone company in 1930. Do you think that this stock will come back any time soon? What is it worth at the present time?—G. J.

Answer: All preferred stock of Wabash Telephone company was called for payment at $105 a share on Oct. 1, 1935. We suggest that you send your stock through for payment.

OFFER 90 MILLION SHEET AND TUBE BONDISSUETODAY

Household Finance Plans Public Sale of Stock.

Public offering will be made today of the $90,000,000 issue of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company first mortgage bonds and convertible debentures, the largest industrial issue since October of 1929.

The bonds, which will be offered by a syndicate headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Edward B. Smith & Co., will refund outstanding obligations and effect a yearly saving in interest estimated at $800,000.

The $60,000,000 of first mortgage sinking fund 4 per cent bonds, due in 1961, will be priced at 98½. The $30,000,000 convertible 3½ per cent debentures, due in 1951, will be offered at 102½.

Plan Sale of Stock.

Plans for public offering of 125,000 shares of class A stock by the Household Finance corporation were disclosed yesterday in the filing of a registration with the security and exchange commission. Application will be made to list the issue on the New York Stock exchange.

The offering does not represent new financing. Plans provide that five principal stockholders will sell outright 59,201 shares of A stock and relinquish 65,799 additional shares, receiving in exchange an equal amount of class B stock.

The five stockholder groups are the families of the late L. C. Harbison, the late C. M. McIntosh, the late O. B. Patrago, the late M. R. Drennen, and the Popular Finance corporation. After they have made their sales, however, the group will still own more stock in the corporation than they have sold, officials said.

A chief result of the action, it was said, will be to avoid the necessity of paying a surtax of 30 to 40 per cent on the undistributed net income of personal holding companies controled by the five stockholders.

Clark, Dodge & Co. of New York will head the group offering the stock about May 12. The class A stock yesterday was selling in over the counter trading at $53 to $54 a share.

Household Finance increased its loans 41 per cent for the first quarter this year over the same months last year, B. E. Henderson, president, said yesterday.

Offer Packing Stock.

Public offering is being made today at $5.25 a share of 36,000 shares of $5 par convertible 7 per cent participating preferred stock of the Hill Packing company of Topeka, Kas., by Matthew, Lynch & Co. of Chicago. Proceeds will be used to retire existing debt, purchase new equipment, and for working capital.

Offering of $110,000,000 bonds of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit corporation will be made Tuesday, it was announced yesterday. This will be the largest bond flotation under the securities and exchange act.

FDIC REPORTS ASSETS OF INSURED BANKS OVER FIFTY BILLIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Total assets of the 14,121 banks under the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation amounted to $50,917,563,000 at the end of 1935, according to a report issued today by the FDIC.

The total of loans and securities was $38,814,369,000, of which $13,275,289,000 represented holdings of United States government obligations. On the liability side the banks registered deposits of $44,125,621,000.

Since last June 29, the FDIC reported, deposits increased $3,825,422,000 and loans and securities rose $1,282,427,000. During this period the banks absorbed an additional $923,300,000 in government obligations.

Total assets of 864 federal insured commercial banks in Illinois amounted to $3,932,799,000 as of Dec. 31, 1935, an increase of 17.6 per cent over the figure for Dec. 31, 1934.

Demand deposits in the Illinois banks were $2,169,283,000 and time deposits $803,338,000 as of Dec. 31, 1935.

Total assets of the insured commercial banks in the country increased by 10 per cent during 1935, according to the FDIC. The insured banks for which the figures were tabulated hold 98 per cent of the total commercial bank assets.

CHARGES U.S. POWER PLANS ARE WASTEFUL

Engineer Warns of Danger to Industry.

FRANK F. FOWLE.

Charges that the government is wasting public money on uneconomic and misplaced power developments were made yesterday by Frank F. Fowle, president of the Western Society of Engineers, in an address before the Midwest Power conference at the Palmer house.

Fowle declared it is more economical to haul energy in the form of coal to the center of consumption where electricity is produced through steam power than to generate power at a hydroelectric plant, such as the fourteen built or proposed by the government, and then transmit the power a long distance for consumption.

"Although the waste of public money in constructing uneconomic and misplaced power developments is very serious of itself, the worst aspect of these undertakings is the development of surplus power on a scale that seems wholly inexcusable," he declared.

Football For Politicians.

"This surplus will prove irresistible to politicians and radicals who wish to plunge the government into the power business, regardless of all opposition.

"The inevitable result of competition with regulated private industry, which has satisfied existing markets, will be to destroy much of their business and prosperity, promote unemployment and distress, and ultimately ruin thousands of innocent investors.

"The best economic remedy is for the government to suspend the development of power on all these projects and in the future develop only so much of the potential power as private utilities can economically absorb and distribute to the power markets of the country. Let the government coöperate with private industry instead of engaging in ruinous competition with it."

Undeveloped water power in this country is not within economical transmission distance of important power markets except in the Pacific northwest, he pointed out.

Cites Differences in Cost.

He said private utilities have an average plant investment of $85 per kilowatt produced, while a cost of $250 per kilowatt of hydro capacity is representative of the least costly projects of the government.

The cost of generation amounts to 4 mills per kilowatt hour at the steam plant and 6.3 mills per kilowatt hour at the hydro plant, including all fixed charges and operating expenses, he said. The cost of electric transmission is 2.6 times the cost of hauling coal for power purposes in distances from 50 to 200 miles.

In the event that congress should appropriate a billion dollars for rural electrification, as recently proposed, it would be more economical in many cases to subsidize the purchase of individual farm generating plants than to build rural supply lines, Fowle suggested.

Assails Planned Economy.

Planned economy leads to dictatorship, Attorney Silas H. Strawn, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, declared last night at a dinner of the organization. He said that confiscatory taxes and government interference are throttling business, impending recovery, and prolonging unemployment.

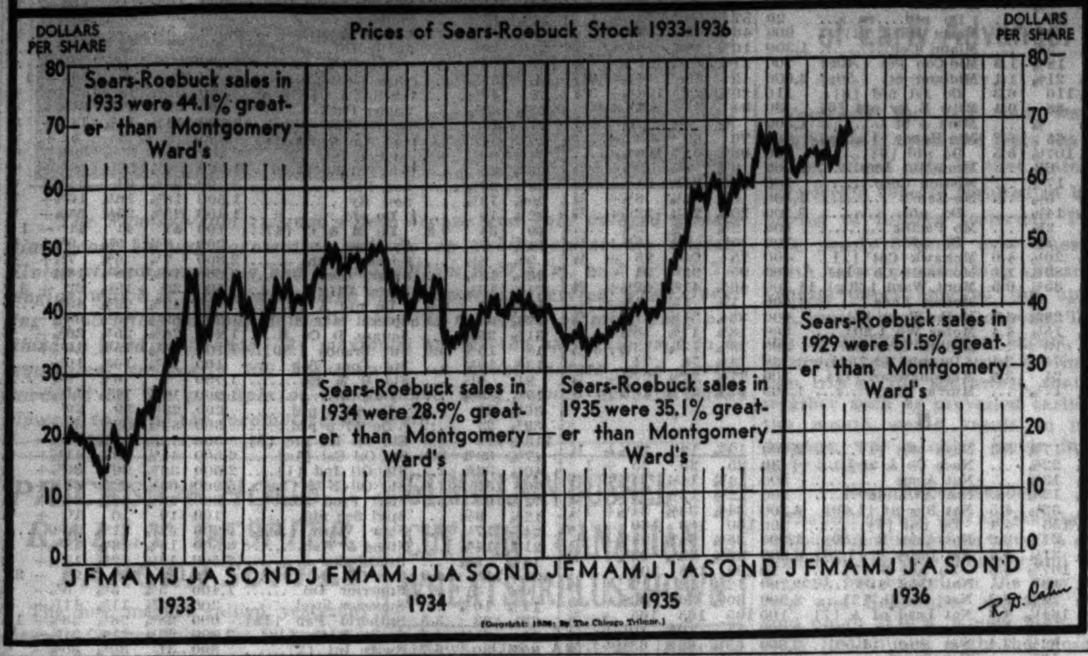
Strawn condemned efforts being made in congress to liimt the jurisdiction of federal courts and to provide for "packing" the Supreme court.

"All of these bills are aimed at the very foundation of our government because they would eliminate the courts and vest in the congress the power to pass upon the constitutionality of their own acts," he said.

Morgan Fails to Appear.

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority, who was scheduled to speak on "The Nation's Power Supply; Its Economic Development Under Government Participation," telegraphed he was unable to be present and forwarded a paper on "The Unified Development of the Tennessee River System," which was read by George Hamilton, consulting hydraulic engineer of Chicago. The paper was confined to a description of TVA and its purposes.

How the Price of Sears-Roebuck Stock Has Fluctuated During the Past Four Years



[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

County Gets Record Price on New Loan

Obtaining the highest price ever received for securities in its history, the Cook county board yesterday sold an issue of $11,510,910 of 4 per cent refunding bonds at par plus a premium of $415,000 to an investment house syndicate headed by Stifel, Nicolaus & Co., and A. C. Allyn & Co.

Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to retire a like amount of bonds now in default. Disposition of the bonds was a vital part of the country's 47 million dollar refunding program which was declared effective last Thursday.

Park District Gets Par.

The Chicago Park district received par for $14,795,212 of 4 per cent bonds which it sold to Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in connection with its refunding plan. Of this amount $4,291,546 consists of series D 4 per cent bonds, due 1955, with redemption optionable in 1946. Proceeds from the sale of this block will be used to pay past due interest. Proceeds from the sale of $10,503,666 4 per cent bonds, due 1953 and optionable in 1946, will be used to pay off past due bonds. It was said that reoffering of these bonds will not be made for some time.

"This is the highest price ever received in the history of the county for its bonds," Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, said. "It shows the soundness of our county finances."

It was pointed out in La Salle street, however, that the present easy money situation in which huge sums of idle funds are piled up in banks, insurance companies and in the hands of other big investors seeking investment was partly responsible for the favorable terms obtained by the county.

Most of Issue Quickly Sold.

The two investment houses, which acted as refunding agents for the county, immediately reoffered the bonds, which are due in 1951, at 104.90 to yield 3.40 per cent. Late yesterday few were available.

Two other syndicates offered bids for the county bonds. One headed by Brown, Harriman & Co., Inc. offered par, plus a premium of $238,275. The other, which included the leading Chicago banks headed by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, offered par plus a premium of $206,975. All bidders agreed to pay accrued interest on the bonds which are dated as of Jan. 1, 1936.

The bid of Stifel Nicolaus and A. C. Allyn was $176,724 larger than the next highest bid. The investment houses will receive 1 per cent of the principal, or $115,109, which will be paid out of the premium, and the county will receive all the premium over that amount. Certain other expenses will leave about $100,000 in the hands of the county.

Maximum Fee Is $256,000.

For carrying out the refunding program the refunding agents will receive a maximum of $256,000 including the $115,109, the exact amount depending upon the number of bonds they are able to exchange. It is reported that more than 90 per cent of the $35,781,000 of outstanding county bonds that have not yet been matured have been placed on deposit awaiting exchange.

Completion of the refunding program will enable the county to abate $3,000,000 to $3,500,000 of its 1935 tax levy for bond and interest purposes, William J. Touhy, assistant states attorney, said. The refunding program was made necessary by poor tax collections during the depression years.

COAL MAY BE CARRIED IN PIPE LINES, I. C. C. TOLD AT RATE HEARING

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—The possibility that coal-carrying railroads might be confronted with competition from coal transportation by pipe line was presented today at an interstate commerce commission freight rate hearing.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal association, opposing a plea by class one railroads for indefinite extension of emergency freight surcharges scheduled to expire July 1, pictured "piped coal" as a possible shipping medium unless rail rates are whittled down. Battle explained after the hearing that the coal would be propelled through an 8 to 10 inch pipe line by water under pressure.

The coal first would be "ground as fine as talcum powder," he added, and dried at its destination. It would be used in powdered form in furnaces designed for the purpose.

As to the surcharges, Battle told the commission they had cost some railroads more in added transportation expenses on coal for their own use than they had provided in revenue.

Railroads have contended the charges are necessary to aid them in meeting operating expenses.

SLOAN PREDICTS RECORD SALES OF CARS THIS MONTH

Saginaw, Mich., April 22.—(AP)—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors corporation, said at a luncheon here today it seems likely that the corporation's sales to consumers during the current month will establish a new high record.

"We see now that there is a good likelihood of 2,000,000 cars being produced by General Motors in this country, Canada and overseas in 1936, and that is a lot of automobiles," Sloan said.

Earlier introduction of cars in November of 1935, instead of January of this year, made for heavy buying in November and December, Sloan pointed out. It was thought that as a result the increase in spring buying would not be as sharp as in former years, he said, and continued:

"This did not work out this way, as was seen in our March report showing sales approaching a new record and the probability of April being even better."

Newspaper Advertising Rises 10 Pct., Index Shows

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Newspaper advertising in March totaled 10.1 per cent above February, according to the index of Printers' Ink. For March the index stood at 83.1 compared with 75.5 for the preceding month and 77.0 in March a year ago. The indicated gain over March, 1935, was 7.9 per cent.

Food Index Declines on Drop in Butter Prices

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Due mainly to a sharp decline in butter prices, the Dun & Bradstreet weekly food index dropped 5 cents to $2.59 for the period ended April 21.

Fear of More Drouth Scares Wallace, Aids

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Apprehension that the disastrous drouth of 1934 might recur this year and an official report of sharply increased cash farm income during the first quarter this year resulted in conflicting reactions in political and economic circles within the federal government today.

Secretary Wallace reported that already a large part of the agricultural area of the United States was in the grip of a severe "spring drouth," the total afflicted area embracing an estimated 30,000,000 acres. He said that in a number of localities, 1934 drouth records, the most severe in the country's history, had been broken.

Farm Income Higher.

From the bureau of agricultural economics came a statement that cash farm income during the first quarter of 1935 totaled $1,538,000,000, compared with $1,281,000,000 for the corresponding year, an increase of 20 per cent without the aid of AAA benefit payments. With these payments added, the total increase this year was only 7 per cent because of the much smaller disbursements this year than last.

So concerned over drouth prospects were AAA officials that Howard R. Tolley, acting administrator, said modifications in the new soil conservation program were being studied in order that it could be made most adaptable to the affiliated areas. He indicated the new program would be designed so as to bring financial aid to the localities most in need, if the drouth continued.

Cite Political Benefits.

At the same time, politically minded officials pointed out that should the drouth continue the new soil conservation program migh have much better chances of success from the control standpoint, higher farm prices would result and the administration would be much better off politically.

The chief concern of the AAA over the present moisture deficiency, the secretary said, was in connection with the winter wheat crop, the latest official forecast for which was 493,000,000 bushels.

He referred to the present situation as "a baby drouth," and explained that it could be brought promptly to an end by normal rains in May and June.

Having crept gradually out of the "dust bowl" section of the Texas Panhandle since the first of the year, drouth conditions are now most severe in the seven southwestern states of Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma. Not all sections of these states are affected.

NEW 57½ M.P.H. TRAIN WILL RUN TO WEST COAST

World's Fastest Long Distance Service.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The streamline Diesel electric powered train, the City of Los Angeles, will be placed on a 39 hour 45 minute schedule between Chicago and Los Angeles on May 15 by the Union Pacific and Chicago and North Western railroads, according to a joint announcement made yesterday by Carl R. Gray and Fred W. Sargent, presidents, respectively, of the two railroads.

Because the distance, 2,299 miles, is 74 miles longer than that which the Santa Fe's Super-Chief will travel, the City of Los Angeles will become the world's fastest long distance train. Its average speed will be a little more than 57½ miles an hour as compared with approximately 56 miles for the Super-Chief.

Saves 19 to 21¼ Hours.

The present fastest time via the North Western-Union Pacific is 61 hours westbound to Los Angeles and 58 hours 45 minutes eastbound, so the savings will be 21 hours 15 minutes westbound and 19 hours eastbound.

Just completed at the Chicago plant of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, the train will be turned over to the railroads in a few days, will then be taken for test runs and exhibition and will leave Los Angeles on its initial journey at 3:45 p. m., Pacific time, May 15. It will arrive at Chicago at 10:30 a. m., Chicago time, on the second morning. It will make the trip six times a month in each direction.

Motive power will be provided in two power units, one having a 1,200 horsepower engine and the other a 900 horsepower unit.

Has Nine Revenue Cars.

In addition to the two power units there will be nine revenue cars, with a total capacity of 170 passengers, 84 in the Pullman sleeping cars and 86 in the coaches. The train is 714 feet long and weighs 480 tons, or about half the weight of a conventional passenger train of similar size. The two power units account for approximately one-third of the train's weight. Four Pullmans, two coaches, a dining lounge car, a kitchen-dormitory-baggage car, and a mail-baggage-express car make up the train.

Three of the Pullmans are of the 11 section type, with one section in each car built to provide for extra tall persons, and the fourth contains seven bedrooms and two compartments. An excess fare of $10 dollars will be charged between the two terminals for travel in Pullman cars and $5 in the coaches, with proportionately smaller amounts to and from intermediate points.

All cars will be air conditioned and all upper berths in the Pullmans will have outside windows. A telephone system will keep engine and train crews in touch with each other at all times. All vestibules are enclosed so as to be impervious to outside atmospheric conditions. Insulation will keep out outside noises.

The City of Los Angeles will leave Chicago on the 2d, 7th, 12th, 17th, 22d, and 27th of each month and it will leave Los Angeles on the 5th, 10th, 15th, 20th, 25th, and the last day of each month.

New Cudahy Plant in South Shows Swing in Meat Output

BY HOWARD WOOD.

E. A. CUDAHY JR.

Announcement yesterday of the completion of negotiations for the construction of a new $400,000 meat packing plant in East Albany, Ga., by the Cudahy Packing company again focused the attention on the growing importance of live stock and corn production in the south.

The Cudahy move follows a similar expansion in the south by Armour & Co., another of the "big four" packing concerns, which last year established a plant at Tifton, Ga., and bought the packing facilities in Memphis formerly owned by the Memphis Packing corporation.

South Grows More Meat.

Establishment of new processing plants in the south by leading packers is attributed to the fact that the southern states are producing a steadily increasing proportion of the nation's total production of live stock and feed grains as land formerly devoted to cotton is released, for the production of other crops, under the New Deal program of reduced cotton acreage. Southerners, taking advantage of the increased prices for live stock, corn and meat resulting from decreased production in the middle west, are going in for corn and hogs.

The new Cudahy plant, to be built in the stockyards district of East Albany, will employ several hundred workers. It will process cattle, hogs, and sheep in the preparation of fresh, cured, and smoked meats, lards, shortenings, and other packing house products. Supplies of live stock will be drawn chiefly from southern Georgia and products will be shipped to distributing branches throughout the south.

E. A. Cudahy Jr., president of the company, said yesterday that the growing importance of the south as a live stock producing area invites the development of the packing industry in that part of the country "on a more extensive scale than heretofore."

How the South Atlantic states have been edging in on the live stock business formerly enjoyed by middle west farmers is shown by government figures on hog production. During the four years from Jan. 1, 1932, to Jan. 1, 1936, the estimated number of hogs on farms in the north central states dropped from 42,351,000 to 27,802,000, a decline of 14,549,000.

Part of this reduction was due to the drouth, but much of it was the result of the hog killing and crop reduction schemes of the AAA. During this same period the hog population in the South Atlantic states declined only 263,000, the number of hogs on farms in those states on Jan. 1, 1936, being 4,146,000, compared with 4,409,000 four years ago.

Corn Grown Shows Trend.

Live stock feeding follows grain production, particularly corn. Government figures disclose a marked decrease in corn production in the middle west and a simultaneous increase in southern states during the last eight years.

Estimated acreage of corn for 1936 on March 1, 1936, indicated plantings this year 4 per cent below the 1928-1932 average in the east north central states and 11 per cent below that average in the west north central states. Similar figures for the south indicated 1936 corn acreage in the south Atlantic states 10 per cent above the 1928-1932 average and an increase of 2 per cent in the south central states.

SPEED SOUTHWEST TRAINS

Faster passenger train service from St. Louis to the southwest, which will benefit Chicago travelers, was announced yesterday by the Missouri Pacific railroad. J. J. McQueen, assistant general trafic agent at Chicago, said that the Sunshine Limited will leave St. Louis at 5:30 p. m. central standard time instead of 6:30 p. m., effective May 17, and will arrive at Dallas at 9:30 a. m. The new schedule is 3 hours faster. Arrival at Houston will be at 12:20 p. m. instead of 3:45 p. m. and at San Antonio at 4:30 p. m. instead of 7:50 p. m.

A whole night will be taken from the trip to Mexico City. Under the new schedule arrival at Mexico City will be at 9 p. m. on the third day out of St. Louis instead of at 8:45 a. m. the morning of the fourth day, a reduction of 11 hours and 45 minutes.

Schedules for Chicago-St. Louis connecting trains have not yet been worked out.

U. S. EXPORT GAIN BEHIND OTHER NATIONS IN 1935

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—The United States lagged behind 19 other leading nations on a percentage basis in the volume of export trade increase in 1935 over 1934, according to statistics released today by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber said, however, that export increases chalked up by nearly three-fourths of 38 leading nations and import increases in more than three-fourths of the countries indicated "returning confidence and activity on the part of foreign countries throughout the world."

Export increases during 1935 follow:

Belgian Congo, 65 per cent; Greece, 28 per cent; Bulgaria, 28 per cent; South Africa, 26 per cent; Rumania, 21 per cent; Brazil, 18 per cent; Belgium, 17 per cent; Estonia, 17 per cent; Mexico, 16 per cent.

Soviet Russia reported a decline of 12 per cent in exports and France 13 per cent.

The United States registered the fourth largest import gain among the 38 countries with an increase of 25 per cent. Brazil was first with an upturn of 54 per cent, followed by Jukoslavia with 49 per cent and Bulgaria with 35 per cent.

COURT BARS SECRET LETTER OF ROOSEVELT

Utilities Claim PWA Batters Rates.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Secret correspondence between President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes was barred from court today by Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat of the District of Columbia Supreme court in the public utilities companies fight against the New Deal's 200 million dollar power program.

Attorneys declared that the administration had embarked on a program of subsidizing municipally owned power plants through loans and grants of the Public Works administration in order to batter down utility rates.

Ickes, as PWA administrator, sent a letter to President Roosevelt on the power question to his Hyde Park, N. Y., estate last summer, it was said. Back came a reply, initialed in pencil with "F. D. R.," according to the plaintiff's contention.

Request Surprise Move.

The request was a surprise move on the part of the attorneys for the utilities, Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the Wilson administration, and Dean Acheson, who resigned as assistant secretary of the treasury in the Roosevelt administration because he could not stomach New Deal policies.

Strenuous protest was made by Jerome Frank, special assistant to the attorney general. He insisted the utilities were on a fishing expedition and had no proof of the existence of such a note but were hopeful of turning up some correspondence which might be useful to them.

Chief Justice Wheat ruled that the power companies could not present testimony relating to "inter-administration" affairs. Baker said the ruling shut off that phase of the case unless the facts could be put before the court in some other way.

Testimony that the government was using the power program as a bludgeon was introduced by Baker and Acheson in their efforts to obtain an injunction to restrain the administration from continuing its plans.

Testifies on Rate Cut Demand.

George H. Carter, utility executive of Marlin, Tex., said that Henry T. Hunt, PWA official, had telegraphed him on Aug. 22, 1934, that PWA would finance a municipal plant in his home town "unless your firm reduces its rates."

"Hunter said the city proposed to furnish electricity service 15 per cent lower than the Texas Utility company," declared Carter, "and unless the company lowers its rates to equal or below that figure, the application for a loan will be granted."

The case involves ten cities in the south and southwest and also Iowa City, Ia.

STOCKS STAGE RALLY; TRADERS DISPLAY CAUTION

All Sections of List Share Improvement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 22. — Uniform strength was displayed by the stock market today for the first time in several weeks. All sections of the list recorded advances ranging from fractions to 2 points or more.

Activity, however, was extremely quiet. The customary buying enthusiasm which accompanies a performance of this kind was lacking, which resulted in a sharp curtailment of trading volume. Transactions for the session amounted to 1,337,240 shares.

Trade reports were colorless and the upturn was attributed to a more optimistic feeling among speculators rather than to any special news development.

Tax Bill Curbs Activity.

Financial circles were interested chiefly in discussing the new tax bill introduced in the house. In view of the importance of this legislation speculators were inclined to approach the market with caution.

Continued thinness of the market for many stocks was reflected in gains of 2 and 3 points in about a dozen issues. Included in this group were Allied Chemical, Amerada, American Can, American Safety Razor, Columbian Carbon, Gypsum, and Thatcher.

Farm implement shares were among the most volatile issues in the list. Case Threshing gained 5 points on a few sales, Deere moved ahead for a gain of 3, International Harvester was up a point and Oliver Farm 4¼ points.

Steel shares were strong. United States Steel, Bethlehem, Midland Steel Products, Youngstown, and Continental gained a point or more.

Chrysler Features Motor Group.

Chrysler set the pace in the automobile division with a gain of 2⅝ points. General Motors and Mack were other motor shares to record substantial gains.

Carrier issues rose fractions to a point. Atchison at one time was up 2 points, but late profit taking reduced its gain to a major fraction. Silver mining shares climbed fractions to more than a point despite a halt in the price for the metal.

Sugar shares showed good gains. Holly advanced 1⅞ points on reports that oil had been discovered on a tract of land in California in which it had a 50 per cent interest. Improvement of fractions was the rule for oils, equipments, mail orders and amusements.

Airplane issues gained fractionally. Homestake mining dropped 11½ points on a single sale.

COTTON DECLINES 2 TO 5 POINTS ON RAIN REPORTS

Rain reports from parts of Texas had a depressing effect on cotton futures yesterday with the new crop months declining 2 to 5 points in Chicago and 2 to 7 points in other markets. The old crop deliveries were firmer on trade buying and closed slightly higher. [A point is equal to 1-100 cent.] Spot cotton closed 5 to 10 points higher with New Orleans, 11.70 cents; Houston, 11.65 cents; Galveston, 11.60 cents, and New York at 11.85 cents per pound. Prices follow:

SPREADING OPERATIONS LIFT LARD PRICES 5 TO 12½ CENTS

Spreading operations between lard and wheat futures lifted lard 5 to 12½ cents yesterday. Strength in hogs also had some effect. Trade was fair with no material pressure on the markets. Clear bellies closed unchanged to 10 cents lower. Cash lard was quoted at $11.02; loose, $10.45; leaf, $10.37 and clear bellies at $14.50 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

FIRST QUARTER PROFIT REPORTS MIXED IN TREND

Some Leading Firms Show Declines from 1935.

Earnings reports covering 1935 operations and the first quarter of 1936 were issued yesterday by a number of corporations. While notable improvement was reported by some firms in their first quarter results, several concerns showed a slight falling off in profits compared with the first three months of 1935.

Westinghouse Air Brake company reported net profit of $514,000 for the three months ended March 31, equal to 13 cents a share on the common stock. A loss of $174,250 was incurred in the first quarter last year. March quarter results represent the best showing since the last three months of 1931 and reflect the revived demand for railroad equipment of which the company is a leading supplier in this country and abroad.

Profit Sharply Higher.

Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company, manufacturer of air conditioning appliances, reported a first quarter profit of $195,000, equal to 27 cents a share on the common stock. This contrasts with $34,000 in the first three months last year.

Procter & Gamble company, manufacturers of soap and soap products, reported profit of $4,011,000 for the March quarter, equal to 59 cents a share on common stock after preferred dividends. This was a small decline from the $4,050,000 or 60 cents a share earned in the same period last year.

Another concern reporting smaller first quarter earnings was Timken Roller Bearing company, which had a profit of $2,069,000 for the period, compared with $2,362,000 last year

Slight Decline Shown.

Noblitt Sparks Industries, Inc., earned $107,899 in the March quarter, equal to 72 cents a common share, compared with $108,630 in the first three months of 1934.

A moderate expansion in first quarter profits was shown by the New England Telephone and Telegraph company. March quarter net income was $1,752,000, against $1,698,000 last year.

Marion Steam Shovel company reported a loss of $54,000, against a loss of $119,500 in the first three months of 1934.

Gulf Oil corporation announced 1935 net earnings of $10,552,000, equal to $2.32 a share, compared with $2,811,000 or 62 cents a share in 1934.

Bristol-Myers company, producers of drug specialties, reported first quarter profits of $659,885, compared with $551,000 last year.

Sterling Brewers, Inc., yesterday declared a dividend of 10 cents a share on the common stock. The last payment, 7½ cents a share, was made Nov. 14. Net earnings for the first quarter after all charges but federal taxes were $66,200.

The usual extra dividend of 10 cents a share of Bristol-Myers company stock was declared yesterday by the directors. The company reported earnings in the March quarter equal to 96 cents a share, against 79 cents a share a year ago.

MOVE LAUNCHED TO PUT COTTON IN COMMODITY BILL

Threaten to Block Passage Unless Included.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—Fate of the administration's commodity exchange bill was thrown into new uncertainty today when Senator Norris [Rep., Neb.] announced at a senate agriculture committee hearing that several senators and house members had told him it could not pass this session unless cotton was included within its scope.

The bill, passed last session by the house, was amended by the senate agriculture committee to strike out cotton exchanges from among the new exchanges which the bill would bring under jurisdiction of the secretary of agriculture. New ones included rice, mill feeds, butter, and eggs.

The bill also would revise drastically regulations governing the grain exchanges, principally applicable to the Chicago Board of Trade. Under its provisions all commission merchants operating under the board would be required to register with the secretary. New privileges would be extended to formers' coöperatives holding membership in the exchange.

Grain Men Tell Stand.

It was the latter which brought opposition today from spokesmen for the Chicago exchange.

John E. Brennan, Chicago grain merchant and a director of the Board of Trade, declared that under the bill the Farmers' National Grain corporation, coöperative member of the exchange, would be able to borrow government money at low interest rates to crowd out private grain dealers by a system of rebates.

His assertion was challenged later by Irving G. Goldsmith, counsel for the coöperatives, appearing in favor of the bill. He said the coöperatives felt they were entitled to repay to growers whatever savings their system would make.

Ellis Suggests Changes.

Howard Ellis, counsel for the Board of Trade, asked several changes in the bill. One would be to permit expulsion of coöperatives from the exchange in event of insolvency. Such provisions now apply to other members, he said, but under terms of the bill could not apply to coöperatives without a preliminary appeal to the grain futures commission, established under prior act of congress.

He said under present rules the grain exchange would have to close down because the insolvency of any one member can not be permitted while the exchange is in operation.

Michael E. Fox, representing the Chicago Produce exchange, and Courtney L. Pool, representing the New York Mercantile exchange, insisted that butter and eggs should not be included in the list of supervised commodities.

PUBLIC SERVICE FIRST QUARTER PROFIT HIGHER

Net income of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois for the first quarter of this year totaled $1,182,240 compared with $1,084,427 in the corersponding 1935 period, the company reported yesterday. Gross revenues for the first quarter were $9,919,240, compared with $9,064,505 a year ago.

Net income for March was $344,211, compared with $258,318 in March 1935. March gross revenues totaled $3,206,185, compared with $2,908,337.

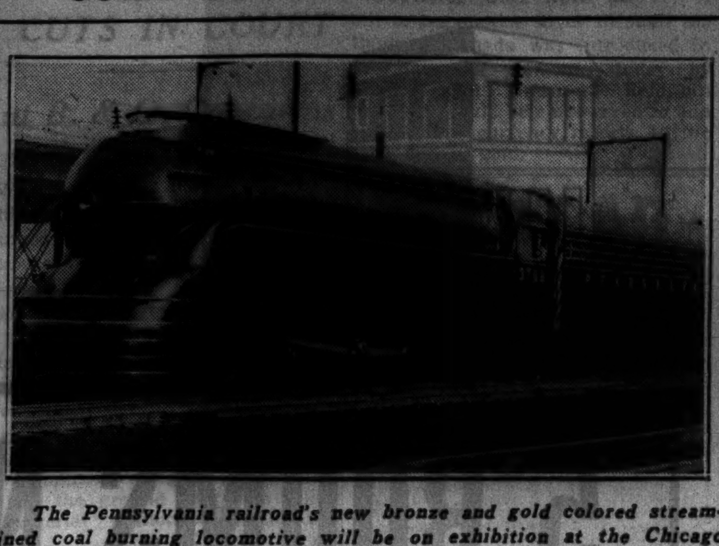
HIDE FUTURES.

NEW YORK, April 22.—[Special.]—Hide futures declined 2@5 points despite reports of the sale of 40,000 spot hides in Chicago at steady prices and 5,000 Argentine at a moderate advance. Sales of futures were 22 lots, or 880,000 lbs. Closing bids in cents per pound: June, 11.55c; September, 11.90c; December, 12.18c; March, 12.48c.

COAL BURNING SPEEDSTER



The Pennsylvania railroad's new bronze and gold colored streamlined coal burning locomotive will be on exhibition at the Chicago Union station tomorrow and Saturday from 9:30 a. m. to 8 p. m. The engine, which is intended for high speed passenger service, when traveling at 60 miles an hour or faster shows a reduction of more than one-third in wind resistance. At maximum speeds the saving is said to be equivalent to nearly 300 horsepower. A novel feature is a device, modeled on the principle of the airplane wing, which deflects smoke upward to clear the locomotive and train.

PRICES OF HOGS RALLY DESPITE LARGER SUPPLY

The hog market rallied yesterday despite further increases in receipts, prices for most classes recovering 5 to 10 cents of the Tuesday losses. Top sales rose 10 cents to the $11 line, equaling the highest mark in the trade since middle of February and the average also gained 10 cents at $10.70 equal to the nine weeks' high established two weeks ago. Current receipts largest in three months.

Fresh pork markets in Chicago retained the gains marked up earlier in the week, top light loins selling up to $23.50 again.

A strong to $1 higher market for lamb meat bolstered the market for live lambs yesterday. Prices were steady to strong with spots 10 to 15 cents higher. Approximately 1,100 wool lambs sold to packers and shippers at the $11.25 top, showing 10 cents advance, while the bulk of the rest brought $10.75 to $11.15.

Steers and yearlings predominated in cattle receipts, but commission men managed to raise prices 10 to 15 cents on the bulk of offerings after a decidedly slow start. Quality was improved, the bulk moving over the scales within a range of $7.75 to $9.25. The top reached $10.15.

NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL SALES RISE 8.1 PER CENT

Milwaukee, Wis., April 22.—[Special.]—The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company showed an increase of 8.1 per cent in the amount of new life insurance written during the quarter ended March 31, compared with the first three months of last year, M. J. Cleary, president, reported today at the quarterly board meeting here.

The paid for insurance totaled $68,269,845 for the first quarter, compared to $63,176,484 a year ago. Total new business, including annuities, amounted to $70,846,753, an increase of $4,981,329, or 7.6 per cent.

On March 31, 1936, the total insurance in force was $3,722,845,890, and the number of policies 990,582. This was an increase of $17,826,755 for the first quarter of this year, and was $25,709,681 higher than at the end of the first quarter last year.

Wieboldt Stockholders Approve Share Issue

Stockholders of Wieboldt Stores at a special meeting yesterday approved an amendment to the articles of incorporation to permit the issuance of 17,500 shares of $5 cumulative prior-preference stock, which will be sold to reimburse the company for the cost of the site of its new store in Oak Park. The stock will be sold in whole or in part to Field, Glore & Co. and A. G. Becker & Co. After the meeting directors reëlected all officers.

61 MILLION BUSHEL CUT IN CANADIAN WHEATSURPLUSSHOWN

Ottawa, Ont., April 22.—[Special.]—Evidence given Chairman J. R. Murray of the Canadian wheat board at today's opening of a parliamentary inquiry into its operations indicated that between Dec. 7, 1935, and Jan. 31 of this year it had reduced Canada's wheat surplus by 855,000 bushels sold at an average price of 88.603 cents.

The wheat committee allowed Murray to conceal his operations since Jan. 31 on the ground that it was better to keep the speculative world guessing.

In a statement of the new wheat board's attitude, however, he said there was no intention either of relying blindly on "the statistical world wheat position" or of gambling on crop failures.

"How big a gamble it would have been," exclaimed Murray, "if the board had based its selling policy on the hope that the United States winter wheat crop would again be a failure."

The board's policy would be to reduce Canada's present stocks of 237,501,098 bushels by the end of the crop year to 125,000,000 or as near it as possible.

CHICAGO STOCKS RECOVER PART OF RECENT LOSS

Chicago stocks recovered part of their recent loss yesterday, although trading was not heavy. Fifty-eight issues advanced, 15 declined, and 28 remained steady.

New 1936 highs were registered by Gardner Denver at 47, General Candy at 15, Goldblatt at 25⅝, G. Helleman Brewing at 13¾, and Southwestern Light and Power preferred at 70. All closed at gains for the day.

Bendix Aviation was the most active issue, with a turnover of 5,800 shares, closing at 30½, up 1. Cities Service accounted for 4,950 shares and closed at 5⅛, a gain of ⅛ point.

WHEAT CLIMBS; FEAR DAMAGE TO CROP IN KANSAS

Profit Taking Cuts Part of Early Advance.

Forecasts for fair and warmer weather in Kansas and fears that the winter wheat crop in that state will deteriorate rapidly resulted in heavy buying of futures yesterday. Prices rose nearly 2 cents over Tuesday's finish before profit taking and selling against offers checked the upturn.

A report by H. C. Donovan, Thomson & McKinnon crop expert, who returned yesterday from an inspection trip of the southwest, that hot weather such as prevailed earlier in the month would result in heavy damage, was a chief factor in the early bulge.

Best Prices Shaded.

The full upturn was not maintained, although closing prices were 1⅝ cents higher on the May delivery and ⅝ to ¾ cent per bushel on the new crop July and September months. May sold up to $1.01⅞, a new high since early in January, with the close ½ cent under the top.

The upturn in American markets yesterday was accelerated by reports of export sales of 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian cash wheat and uneasiness over the foreign political situation. Winnipeg reacted from an advance of nearly 1 cent and closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher.

Kansas City gained ⅝ to ¾ cent and Minneapolis ¼ to ½ cent. The latter was up over 2 cents at one time, but weakened quickly on commission house pressure. Liverpool advanced a cent per bushel.

The outcome of the winter wheat crop in the southwest will depend largely on whether rain is received in the next week, according to Donovan.

Abandonment Heavy.

Probably 9,000,000 acres of the 14,100,000 seeded in Kansas this year are without subsoil moisture of consequence, he said. Fields are bare in the dust bowl area, while the Oklahoma panhandle crop, which matures ahead of that in Kansas, is in very bad condition, he added. Only cool weather which prevailed last week prevented heavier damage.

Closing prices on the July delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$ .92⅛	$ .91⅝	$ .90⅛
Corn	.62⅝	.62	.61
Oats	.27⅝	.27¼	.27¼
Rye	.53⅝	.53⅝	.54¼

The corn market developed independent strength as the result of continued commercial demand for cash grain, coupled with limited country offerings. The May delivery sold up to 65 cents per bushel, a new high since Aug. 1, 1935, and closed at 64⅝ cents, a gain of 1⅛ cents. Distant deliveries were up ⅛ to ⅝ cent.

STEEL OPERATING RATE UNCHANGED AT 68 PER CENT

Production of the nation's steel mills last week remained unchanged at 68 per cent of capacity, bringing to a halt the recent sharp rise in steel output following the period of floods a month ago, the magazine Iron Age reported yesterday.

Chicago was the only city to report slightly lower production. Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit and Birmingham held steady while slight gains were noticeable in the valleys, at Buffalo, in the south Ohio river and Wheeling districts, the magazine reported.

Tin Plate Output at Year's High.

Tin plate production is at 90 per cent of capacity, the highest rate of the year, rolling of strip is at a 74 per cent rate, and sheet mills are at 75 per cent.

Finishing mill operations continued to rise, despite the fact that stocks of raw steel have been built up sufficiently since the floods to accommodate current mill schedules.

The Iron Age composite price of scrap at $14.63 a gross ton is more than $1 a ton higher than it was in June, 1930, when steel production was last at a comparable level. The pig iron composite is unchanged at $18.84 a gross ton, while the finished steel index is holding at 2.097 cents a pound.

Week's Awards Doubled.

The week's structural steel awards totaled 20,000 tons, or almost twice the 10,575 tons reported in the preceding week. Included in the new work is the Marine Parkway in Brooklyn, N. Y., which will take 12,000 tons of shapes, 5,000 tons of piling and 1,000 tons of bars. New bids will soon be asked for the outer drive development in Chicago, requiring 15,000 tons of structural steel.

"A healthy feature of current demand is the satisfactory balance between users of light and heavy materials," Iron Age said.

WEEK'S POWER OUTPUT DECREASES, BUT RUNS ABOVE THAT YEAR AGO

Power production in Chicago and the country for the week ended April 18 continued to show a gain over the corresponding week of 1935, but fell below the figures for the preceding week of this year, according to figures released yesterday by the Commonwealth Edison company and the Edison Electric institute.

In Chicago kilowatt hour production was 108,073,000, an increase of 5.2 per cent over the 102,716,000 kilowatt hour production a year ago. The total for the preceding week of this year was 113,525,000 kilowatt hours. This week's decline as compared with the preceding week was due to brighter and warmer weather.

The total for the country was 1,914,710,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of 12.5 per cent over the 1,701,945,000 kilowatt hours in the corresponding 1935 week. The total for the preceding week of this year was 1,933,610,000 kilowatt hours. Four of the seven geographical divisions of the country improved their percentage gains over a year ago, but the other three showed declines.

PHONE PROBERS TO CUT STAF AS FUND DWINDLES

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—Drawing its purse strings tighter as a $750,000 fund for investigating the American Telephone and Telegraph company dwindles, the communications commission is reducing its staf of investigators. More than a score of the staf of 200 will quit May 1, an authoritative source revealed, and a much larger force will be eliminated June 1.

As hearings in the investigation continued today, officials said the inquiry was being pointed to a conclusion by July 1.

CLOSED BANKS REPAY LESS, BUT CASH INCREASES

Further Deposit Return Indicated, However.

Repayments to depositors of 142 Cook county closed state banks were lower during the quarter ended March 31, than they were during the previous quarter, although an increase was shown in the cash held by the receivers. It was indicated that with improved real estate conditions prevailing and collateral held by the closed banks gaining in value, further repayments may be expected from several of the banks this year.

According to figures released yesterday by Edward J. Barrett, state auditor, only about 29 per cent of the $3,975,785 received during the last quarter by the closed banks was repaid to depositors. This totaled $1,101,720. In the quarter ended Dec. 31, depositors received $2,321,778.

Cash Total Increases.

Funds in the hands of receivers were increased from $4,990,994 at the close of last year to $5,351,932 on March 31. It was pointed out that several banks permitted heavy cash balances to accumulate to support requests for Reconstruction Finance corporation loans. Negotiations have been under way for five months to obtain RFC loans for five of the former Bain banks.

Only $378,776 in RFC aid was received by the banks during the quarter, while $797,997 in principal and interest were repaid to the RFC, surpassing the payment of $751,806 made the previous quarter.

Attorneys' fees fell to $115,571 from $215,675 paid in the preceding quarter.

Of the $117,225,500 received to date by the 152 closed banks $94,784,414 came from assets, $8,407,607 in RFC loans and the remainder from advances to protect assets. To date $3,518,576 principal and $1,331,171 interest have been repaid on RFC loans.

Figures for Two Quarters.

The following table shows the amounts expended for all purposes during the last two quarters:

DOLLAR RISES; FRANCE FEARS NEW GOLD LOSS

Silver Price Reduced in New York and London.

Improvement in the dollar against most foreign currencies, the possibility of another outward flow from France, and a reaction in silver prices, enlivened trade in foreign exchange markets yesterday.

Despite denials the franc has been declining on persistent rumors of devaluation after the national elections Sunday.

The decline in the franc yesterday amounted to ⅝ point, with the close at 6.58⅜ cents, raising the value of the dollar against francs to 100.75 cents from 100.66 cents Tuesday.

The price of imported bar silver in New York was reduced ¼ cent by Handy & Harman, silver brokers, to 45¼ cents a fine ounce, following a reduction of 5-16 penny in London to 20¼ pence an ounce, equivalent to 45.06 cents.

China, India Sell.

Increased offerings of the metal by China and India was said to have caused the reduction abroad. These offerings were believed to be the result of a scare when Handy & Harman reduced their price ¼ cent Tuesday.

The British pound was weaker at $4.93⅞, off ⅝ cent. Other leading currencies eased in sympathy with the pound and franc.

Ordinarily the price at which gold can profitably be shipped from Paris to New York is slightly under 6.59 cents, but recently the Bank of France announced informally that it would not release gold for export here unless the rate went down to 15.19 francs to the dollar or about 6.58⅜ cents. Yesterday was the first occasion since this policy went into effect that the franc has fallen so low. Dealings were comparatively light and no engagements of gold in Paris were reported.

More Gold Engaged.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced the engagement of $686,000 gold of which $376,000 is coming from India and $310,000 from England. The bank reported the arrival here of $404,500 gold, also nominally from England, and the release from earmarking of $200,500 gold.

Today's price of bar gold in London, 40 shillings 11 pence, was equal to $35.0279 an ounce, after adding the costs of shipping, insurance, interest and handling charges. This indicated that there was as yet no profit in direct shipments of gold from London, but that the profit level was not far off.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today at 3.75c per lb for spots, the last basis at which nearby sugars were sold, although there was nothing firmly offered in any position below 3.85c. Refiners appeared to be less interested, but holders continued firm in their ideas. The only sales reported were additional cargoes concluded on the previous day. These included 30,100 bags of Porto Ricos and 21,000 Cubas for June shipment at 3.85c and 23,800 Cubas for July shipment at 3.87c. Futures advanced 2 points early on further trade covering and commission house buying, but reacted under increased liquidation and hedge selling. Final prices were unchanged to 3 points net lower, with the new crop positions showing the maximum declines. Sales were 9,200 tons.

ONE WEEK TO MAY 1st! There is still time to find the apartment you want, for rental agents and landlords offer hundreds of them every day in the Tribune want ad section. The apartments described above were offered in the Tribune during the past few days.

Apartments advertised in the Tribune are grouped for quick comparison by sections of the city and by number of rooms. You waste no time looking at places which are wholly unsuited to your ideas. From the detailed facts in Tribune want ads you can make up a list of those which you know in advance are in line with your requirements. As a result, you are far more likely to find the apartment you really want, with a minimum of walking and stairs-climbing.

NEW DEAL LAWS RESTRICT PLANS, SAYS SARGENT

Tells of Reorganization Difficulties.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Completion of a reorganization plan for the Chicago & North Western railway is being obstructed by the new railroad pension law, social security legislation and the pending tax bill, Fred W. Sargent, president of the road, said here today.

The pension law and social security legislation together will cost the road about $3,000,000 annually by 1938, the first year the latter takes effect, Sargent said.

"We now must consider in addition the effect of the new tax bill on the plan of reorganization we will present. Under the plan we have been working on we had hoped to set up a sinking fund to take care of certain contingencies. But with a 15 per cent tax on earnings not distributed, we may have to revise our calculations in that connection."

June 27 Deadline.

Under the four months' extension of time recently granted by the court, June 27 is the final day on which the road can file a reorganization plan within the allotted time.

March revenues of the road ran about half a million dollars above the comparable month last year, Sargent said, but net railway operating revenues did not show much change. In March, 1935, gross was $5,794,000 and net operating income was $289,000.

Gross revenues for April of the Northern Pacific railway are running slightly ahead of the same 1935 month, according to Charles Donnelly, president.

Pere Marquette railway in its March report shows net income of $481,192, equal after preferred dividends to 41 cents a share on common stock. In the same quarter last year net income was $361,252, or 14 cents a common share.

Car Loadings Gain.

Total freight car loadings for the week ended April 18 were slightly higher than the previous week, it was shown today in a compilation by the Associated Press, but the advance was less than the seasonal average.

The week's total, based on the announced results of the first seventeen reporting roads, was estimated at 627,000 cars, compared with 622,138 the week before and 610,905 a year ago.

BUTTER FUTURES ADVANCE; EGGS DECLINE ⅛ TO ⅛ CENT

Purchases of 70,000 pounds of butter in the cash market by the government for relief purposes and a continued slow into storage movement resulted in buying of the November delivery on the Mercantile exchange yesterday. November closed ⅛ cent higher at 26⅝ cents per pound in the face of a decline of ¼ to ¾ cents in the spot market. Sales of futures aggregated 33 cars.

In the last week the price of spot butter has declined 5¼ cents per pound in the local market.

Egg futures declined ⅛ cent, with the October future closing at 22⅛ cents per dozen. Selling was induced by heavy receipts and a decline of ¼ to ½ cent in the spot market. Local receipts of 32,550 cases were about 14,000 cases in excess of a year ago. Sales of futures were 75 cars. Prices follow:

EASTERN ROADS WILL FIGHT FARE CUTS IN COURT

But B. & O. Conforms to I. C. C. Ruling.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(AP)—While other major eastern railroads planned a court attack on an interstate commerce commission order slashing passenger fares, the Baltimore and Ohio late today filed rates in conformity with the ruling.

Informed rail sources here said a group of eastern railroads' representatives would meet in New York tomorrow to complete details of their court action, which is expected to question the commission's right to order the cut on the ground that this takes "managerial" authority over the carrier.

Rates Effective June 2.

Unless delayed in the courts the commission ruling will become effective June 2. This also is the effective date of the New B. & O. tarifs, which fix the rates of 2 cents a mile in coaches and 3 cents a mile in Pullmans prescribed by the commission.

The eastern roads originally asked the commission to delay the order for eighteen months to permit them to experiment with rates of 2.5 cents in coaches and 3 cents in Pullmans. The commission denied this by a 6 to 5 vote last week.

Challenge Order's Legality.

Officials here said the eastern carriers could make no such proposal in court, but merely could challenge the legality of the commission's order and ask a return to the present basic fare of 3.6 cents for both coaches and Pullmans, plus the Pullman surcharge, averaging .4 of a cent.

The roads probably will argue that the interstate commerce commission order is confiscatory, it was said, and will bulwark this allegation with contentions that the reductions would cost them millions of dollars annually in passenger revenues.

Officials said that, although the point had not been definitely determined, the suit probably would be filed in federal court at Philadelphia Friday.

$379,561 CLAIM AGAINST AMES ESTATE UPHELD

The Illinois Appellate court yesterday sustained a $379,561 claim of Farnum, Winter & Co., stock brokerage firm, against the estate of the late Knowlton L. Ames Sr., former owner and publisher of the Chicago Journal of Commerce and head of the Booth Fisheries corporation. In upholding the claim the court affirmed an earlier decision of Judge Daniel P. Trude of the Circuit court.

Attorneys for the estate had acknowledged the claim but attempted to have it set aside on the ground that it was the outgrowth of gambling operations in the stock market in violation of Illinois statutes.

Evidence had been presented by the defense to show that part of the transactions involved the stock of the Murray Body corporation in which an illegal pool operation was alleged to have been conducted for the purpose of boosting the market price.

On this point the court said. "While the records show that Ames was a party to such a pool which was organized for the purpose mentioned, there is no evidence to indicate that the claimant firm had any connection with this pool."

The firm of Farnum, Winter & Co., formerly a leading Chicago brokerage house, is now being liquidated.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 22.—(AP)—Flour remained unchanged today. Carload lots of family patents were quoted at $6.80@7.00 a barrel in 98 pound cotton sacks. Shipments were 22,157 brls. Pure bran was $17.75@18.00 and standard middlings $18.00@18.25 per ton.

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—RUBBER—Crude: Futures closed dull, 5 to 8 points lower. May, 15.90c per lb; July, *16.00c; September, *16.10c. Smoked ribbed spot, †15.93c.

APPLICATIONS

for financing and building new homes can now be made in Harlem Heights, the new, high type, strictly American community of low cost homes [$2,500 to $5,000] in the beautiful rolling, wooded Palos Park region. Drive out, bring your wife, see the homes under construction on large parcels of rich, black soil planted by expert gardeners for families moving into this ideal community. You, too, may want to apply. If acceptable, your home can be built under a special financing arrangement of 20% cash and 80% long term payments, offered by Private Capital to the first 25 American families who qualify here. Inquire at Community Office. HARLEM-AV. AND 123D-ST.

Expert gardeners and building engineers will show you complete home building plans and garden layouts, explain details of financing your home, and the scientific plan of property maintenance to enhance values. See Harlem Heights today, close enough to reach after business hours by daylight. Drive south on Harlem-av. to 123d-st. ROBT. BARTLETT REALTY CO., Not Inc.
